PADLOCKED SCHOOL GATE

Students who showed up today at Central Commercial High School in Manhattan were thwarted from entering by a padlocked gate as the New York City teachers' strike went into its fifth day. A school board member, Rev. Milton A. Galamison, tried to open the gate for some teachers and students who wanted to enter, but the key could not be found. (See story, page 2.) (UPI Telephoto)

Low Rent Housing Is Voted

San Rafael City Council last night approved a leased housing program for 50 units for low-income families in the city carrying a two-year residency requirement. (See leased housing story, and another council story, page 3.)

The vote was 3-1 with Councilman John A. Miskimen, who favored a one-year residency requirement, dissenting.

Marin County and the cities of Mill Valley, Sausalito, Tiburon and Novato previously approved the program with the one-year requirement.

Council action came after an hour-and-a-half hearing attended by about 60 persons who favored the program. There were no speakers in opposition.

Under the program the Marin County Housing Authority leases existing privately owned apartments and houses and subleases them to low-income tenants.

Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., chairman of the housing authority, explained that under the program the tenant pays up to 22 per cent of his income toward the rent and the federal government subsidizes the portion over that amount.

Councilmen previously had sought a five-year residency requirement and a priority for elderly residents.

Ehrlich explained that senior citizens and nonsenior citizens wouldn't be competing for the same vacancies.

As adopted, all things being equal, priority will be given to long term residents, senior citizens or not.

Ehrlich said so far 37 units have been leased in Marin County, 22 houses and 15 apartments.

There are not many vacancies in Marin which come within the rental limits of the program, which range from $80 for studio to $175 a month for a four-bedroom home, he explained.

Ehrlich argued against the council consideration of a five-year residency requirement noting that the federal government "is concerned that communities not use the lease plan as a tool for discrimination which precludes any of the minority coming into the community."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the council consideration of a five-people who have been long-term residents, and "I don't think the minority problem has any bearing whatsoever."

The mayor continued, "We've had a minority problem since I was a boy, and I like to consider myself in that class at one time."

Councilman Fred E. Jensen

Senate Panel Approves Nomination Of Fortas

Chief Justice Job Floor Fight Looms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The controversial nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice was approved 10 to 6, today by the Senate Judiciary Committee and sent to the floor. But its fate was uncertain because of a threatened filibuster.

After nearly three months of wrangling, the committee cleared the nomination of Fortas, now an associate justice of the Supreme Court and the first Jew ever proposed for the nation's top judicial post.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats teamed to raise objections to the nomination ranging from legal philosophy to presidential chronyism. These senators vowed to keep the Senate form voting on the nomination through the parliamentary device of "extended debate" or filibuster.

SEN. JAMES EASTLAND
Announces results

FILIBUSTER SEEN

The opposition to the Fortas nomination could lock the Senate in a drawn-out talkathon in the waning days of the 90th Congress and the Johnson Administration.

Among those opposing confirmation of Fortas is Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the judiciary committee. In announcing the the committee reported the nomination favorably to the floor, Eastland at the same time predicted the Senate would not approve it.

Fortas has been a personal friend and adviser to Johnson since the New Deal days. Fortas admittedly kept up the relationship after Johnson named him to the Supreme Court in 1965. Critics contend this was in violation of the Constitution's doctrine of separation of powers.

OTHER OBJECTIONS

Other objections leveled against the nomination include Fortas' opinions as an associate justice in obscenity, civil liberties, and Communist subversion cases; his extra-judicial activities, such as accepting fees from funds raised by former legal clients to conduct a law school seminar, and the method by which Johnson arranged for Chief Justice Earl

SAMPLE BALLOT

Gun Pro, Cons Opinions Offered

One argument in favor and four against a county ordinance requiring registration of firearms, to be put to a popular vote Nov. 5, were submitted by yesterday's deadline to the county elections office.

County Clerk George H. Gnoss will select one of the opposition arguments to be printed with the only pro argument on sample ballots to be mailed to all registered voters.

ADOPTED LAW

The ordinance was adopted in June by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, but suspended when its opponents successfully petitioned for a referendum on the November ballot. All voters in the county will be eligible to vote on it, but the ordinance would apply only to gun owners in unincorporated areas.

The ballot question is: "Shall the ordinance requiring the registration of all firearms in the unincorporated area of Marin County be adopted?"

Passage requires a majority vote.

REGISTRATION COST

Registration with the sheriff's office would cost $1 per firearm, or up to $10 for collections of 10 or more firearms.

The sole argument for the ordinance was submitted by Marin Citizens for Responsible Firearms Policy, and signed by John L. Weber of 21 Crescent Avenue, Sausalito. He is an insurance executive in San Francisco, and a member of the group's executive committee.

The ordinance would be "a vital tool for law enforcement officers," according to the group's argument, and "will make your country safer and influence your city, state and federal legislators."

MOST LIKELY

The opposing argument most likely to be selected, because it was drawn by a group, was by Marin Citizens Against Gun Registration, and was signed by James M. Marisco Jr. of 57 Pico Vista, Novato. He is president of the group opposing the ordinance.

The ordinance will not control the use of firearms, according to his group's argument, and the supervisors have not given "reasonable evidence which demonstrates how the ordinance will achieve such control." If such a law "is to be imposed on the people," it states, "it should be done with statewide uniformity."

Individuals submitting arguments against the ordinance were Robert L. Miller, no address given; Donald R. Hanks of Woodacre, manager of a service station in San Rafael; and W. W.

Ammunition Battle Won; Gun War On

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate advocates of strong gun controls took some encouragement today from an initial victory on banning mail order ammunition sales but prospects remained dim for gun licensing and registration proposals.

Their hopes for a strong bill were boosted yesterday with the 41-36 defeat of an amendment that would have exempted rifle bullets, shotguns shells and .22-caliber ammunition from a ban on mail order ammunition sales.

THE EFFECT

The effect of the amendment would have been to leave in the basic gun control bill a prohibition on mail order sales of larger caliber handgun ammunition only. Both rifles and handguns come in .22-caliber sizes.

As reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee, the basic bill would extend to rifles and shotguns the same regulations imposed on handguns on the omnibus crime law already on the books. It would prohibit sale of such long guns by mail order and over the counter to out-of-state residents and persons under 18.

STRENGTH TEST

Backers of stronger controls will test their strength tomorrow when amendments to require the registration of all guns and licensing of their owners come to a vote.

Despite yesterday's victory, it appeared doubtful they would win.

The ammunition control provision left standing by the amendment's defeat specifies that only licensed dealers could get bullets and shells through the mail. But gun owners could purchase the ammunition within the state where they lived.

Commuter Tax Leads To Luncheon Boycott

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County supervisors today voted 3-to-2 to boycott a scheduled luncheon with Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco on Sept. 25 because of the pending suit on the commuter tax.

The discussion sparked an angry exchange between Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis on one side and Peter H. Behr and Thomas T. Storer on the other.

McInnis declared he would not sit down to lunch with Mayor Alioto, at least until a court hearing on the commuter tax in Santa Rosa on Sept. 30.

Storer charged that the luncheon boycott would be a "cow county" move on the part of Marin. "He's a dynamic mayor with national status," said Storer. He said the Marin supervisors would look "sort of ridiculous" not to honor the scheduled luncheon just because a suit is pending. He suggested that the commuter tax not be discussed and moved to ask the county administrator to contact Alioto's office and set up another agenda for Sept. 25.

Behr agreed with him, but they were voted down by Ket-

Cooling Trend May Be On Way

A heat wave hit Marin yesterday as temperatures soared as high as 101 in usually cool Sausalito as well as Terra Linda and ranged in the 90s elsewhere in the county.

San Rafael's reading at noon today was 82, compared to 89 at noon yesterday.

The weather bureau said that a cooling trend may develop tomorrow.

Marin beaches were reported moderately full despite school being in session. The ban on all types of outdoor burning except barbecues remains until further notice, according to county Fire chief Louis . Bloom.

Other high temperatures in the county yesterday were Woodacre, 97; Novato, 95; Mill Valley, 94; San Rafael, 98; Tiburon, 92; Tamalpais Valley, 94; San Anselmo, 99; Corte Madera, 97, and Larkspur, 97.

Truck Driver Gets Heart And Kidney

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 52-year-old truck driver has received a heart and a kidney in a dual transplant operation at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

Relatives identified the recipient as John W. Lanning of Portland, Ore. They said the donor was a 20-year-old Colorado youth who died Sunday after an auto accident. State Patrol records indicate the youth was Cleve M. Budge of Glenwood Springs, Colo.

The medical center would say only that the surgery had been performed. Officials would not identify either donor or recipient or give other details.

The heart transplant was the first for the Colorado medical center where surgeons have given more than 200 patients new kidneys and have transplanted about two dozen livers since 1962.

In another development Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh announced today that the liver of a 14-month-old girl who died of a brain tumor has been transplanted into the body of a 14-month-old boy.

The hospital said Robert McCune of Beaver Falls, Pa., recevied the new liver in a 6-and-one-half hour operation yesterday.

Doctors said he was doing as well as could be expected, but said his condition was critical.

Sausalito's Fire Chief Put Under Citizen Arrest

Sausalito Fire Chief Charles E. Masten was placed under citizen's arrest following an incident in Sausalito yesterday afternoon.

Horace White of Marin City said he was driving behind Chief Masten in the 2000 block of Bridgeway when he waved hello to a friend driving by in a bus. The friend had honked a hello, he said.

White said Chief Masten made an obscene gesture and the fire department jeep in which the chief was a passenger stopped.

Chief Masten came to the White car and "verbally abused" White, another man and two women passengers, White said.

White, a College of Marin graduate and former football player there, said Chief Masten threatened to beat him.

Sausalito police, who withheld the report until questioned by the Independent-Journal, said Chief Masten told them White honked and made obscene gestures at him.

Masten told officers White followed the jeep to the corporation yard and everyone got out of the vehicles. There were verbal accusations and foul language on both sides, the chief said.

Police were called and White performed a citizens arrest. Officers took the fire chief into custody and issued a misdemeanor citation for disturbing the peace.

White said he asked the chief be given a sobriety test Police reported no test was given.

Sausalito police referred the matter to the district attorney's office.

President Strong For Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson strongly urged the Texas Democratic party convention today to support presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey and "work as hard for him as he has worked for America."

In a telegram to the convention in Austin, Johnson declared that he had picked Humphrey as his vice president because "he had earned my confidence and admiration as the man best qualified to serve a heartbeat away from the Presidency."

He added: "I feel even more strongly about his qualifications today."

It was Johnson's strongest en-

Khe Sanh Marines Killed By Mortars

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops caught a column of U.S. Marines as the Leathernecks were digging in for the night yesterday, killed 25 and wounded 126 with more than 200 mortar rounds and a hail of small arms fire.

The Americans struck back with mortars, artillery and helicopter gunships. The Marines reported 27 of the enemy killed in the 10-hour fight four miles south of the central part of the demilitarized zone.

26TH REGIMENT

The Marines were from the 26th Regiment, the defenders of Khe Sanh who held out against a 77-day Communist siege last winter, and then abandoned that outpost. The casualties yesterday were comparable to those on the worst days at Khe Sanh.

The attack didn't end until 1:30 a.m. today.

"The mortars apparently caused most of the Marine casualties," said a U.S. spokesman.

The action took place five miles northwest of the Rock Pile, the large rock mass that was fought over in late 1966 and is now a Marine artillery base and observation post.

A mile away from the 26th Marines' battleground, Marines from the 9th Regiment clashed with a North Vietnamese platoon of perhaps 40 to 50 men in fortified positions. Jet fighter-bombers and artillery pounded the positions until the enemy soldiers withdrew as darkness was approaching.

U.S. headquarters said 27 North Vietnamese also were killed in this fight. The Marines had no dead and seven men wounded.

A spokesman said that troops from the two Marine regiments are conducting sweep operations in close proximity to each other, trying to clear the area of North Vietnamese troops pressing along the central DMZ.

On the Siagon front, meanwhile, the Viet Cong ambushed a U.S. convoy 35 miles northwest of the capital, killed seven Americans and wounded 10.

AUTOMATIC WEAPONS

The attackers raked the convoy with automatic weapons and antitank rockets before Army gunships and artillery were called in to drive the enemy off. A military spokesman said 26 of the enemy were killed. The convoy was carrying ammunition and supplies to a base camp at Dau Tieng.

Earlier monday, at least 42 Viet Cong were killed when they tried to overrun a small U.S. armor and infantry base not far from the ambush site. Two American soldiers were killed and five wounded, a spokesman said.

CHEROKEE STRIP STAMP

The Post Office Department made public today the design of the Cherokee Strip 6-cent commemorative stamp which will be issued Oct. 15. The stamp marks the 75th anniversary of the land run into the northern portion of Oklahoma where 40,000 homesteads of 160 acres each awaited claimants. The race began Sept. 16, 1893 at the Kansas border. (UPI Telephoto)

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Town Shelled

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab gunners shelled the Israeli town of Bet She'an with 130 mm rockets last night, and several hours later the Israelis retaliated by hammering the Jordanian town of Irbid with artillery.

It was the first time the Arabs have used such heavy rockets and the first time since June 4 that populated areas in the troubled Beisan Valley have come under attack.

The rocket launcher, mounted on a truck, hurled eight projectiles at Bet She'an at 7 p.m., injuring eight civilians.

There was no word of casualties from the retaliatory Israeli attack.

Exports Jump

LONDON (AP) — British exports jumped to a record peak last month and imports declined giving a dramatic improvement in the nation's foreign trade deficit.

The Board of Trade announced that the visible trade deficit fell to 30 million pounds, or $72 million, in August, 51 million pounds less than in July.

Exports were 537 million pounds—$1,288.8 million, an increase of 27 million pounds over July. Re-exports were unchanged at 19 million pounds ($45.6 million).

Imports fell by 13 million pounds ($31.2 million) to 652 million pounds ($1,564.8 million).

Weathermen Hit

LONDON (AP) — Britons denounced their weathermen today for failing to warn them of the three-day downpour that flooded huge areas of southeast England, caused three deaths and did millions of pounds worth of damage.

The floods covered hundreds of square miles, marooning families, isolating towns and villages and disrupting road and rail services.

Members of the House of Commons said that the meteorologists on Saturday gave no indication of the dangers ahead and said they would raise the matter in Commons.

The Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials say two economic indicators have failed to show a hoped-for response to enactment of the income tax surcharge.

The Federal Reserve Board announced yesterday that industrial production dropped in August, but that the decline was attributable more to the after-effects of a steel labor settlement than to government efforts to cool off the economy.

At the same time, government officials predicted privately that third quarter figures for the Gross National Product (GNP) would not show anywhere near the dip that had been hoped for.

The administration reportedly had been hoping the income tax surcharge and other anti-inflation moves would cut the third quarter increase to just over $10 billion in the value of all goods and services produced in the nation.

Shooting Spree

NEW YORK (AP) — Police said a young college student armed with three rifles and a shotgun holed up in his family's Brooklyn apartment early today and blazed away for 20 minutes, firing more than 100 shots at police.

No one was injured during the siege although police said one patrol car was a "mess" with bullet holes in it and that the rear window of another car was shot out.

Police said they seized Michael Rudy, 22, a night student at the City College of New York, after he threw three rifles out the window and came downstairs carrying the shotgun.

No Violations

TOKYO (AP) — Two flights of Soviet bombers flew near Japan's southernmost main island, Kyushu, in separate incidents today but veered away without violating Japanese air space, the Japan Self Defense Agency reported.

In the first incident, at 8:30 a.m., the agency said two fighters took off to intercept two Soviet Bear bombers after they were spotted on radar. But the bombers flew away on a course that took them between the Japanese offshore islands of Tsushima and Iki, in the Japan Sea.

The second incident occurred at noon. Two Soviet Bear planes were spotted again on radar, approaching northern Kyushu on a flight pattern virtually identical with that of the earlier planes.

Notary License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Gail A. Edinger, 30 Porto Bello Road, San Rafael.

A colony can be defined as "any politically dependent territory," says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Russ Ring Prague With Guns

PRAGUE (AP) — Thousands of Soviet troops ring Prague with their big guns aimed at the city to keep pressure on Czechoslovakia's leaders.

The steel ring of Soviet artillery is evident to anyone traveling outside the now tranquil but sad city. Heavy cannon, rockets and missiles point at Czechoslovakia's capital from north, south, east and west.

One military expert says there is enough artillery not only to destroy the 600-year-old city but to "overkill" if shelling is ordered.

SHORT RIDE

A short ride on the main highway east of Prague, a left turn toward the village of Dubec and there are 24 big guns set up in the alfalfa fields, their barrels pointed toward the capital. Twelve are lined up in a row to the right of the road; there are two groups of six on the left.

The guns appear to be 122mm cannon with a range of more than nine miles. Downtown Prague is less than eight miles away so these weapons could hit the presidential palace on the opposite bank of the Vltava River.

A miles or so farther are five batteries of multiple rocket launchers pointing at the city.

A few hundred yards beyond the end of Prague's Strasnice streetcar line, two score Soviet T55 medium tanks are parked, their guns directed toward the city.

BIG GUNS

Northwest of Prague, near the village of Horomerice, more than fifty big guns are concentrated within half a mile. They include at least 18 122mm howitzers, six huge 152mm cannon plus 85mm guns and 57mm automatic antiaircraft batteries. Some travelers have also seen missiles mounted on tanks aimed at Prague from the east and several tank regiments.

The artillerymen live in tents near their weapons with ammunition and supplies stockpiled nearby. Estimates of the total number of occupation troops ringing Prague range up to 90,000.

Very little is camouflaged, and the site of artillery aimed at the big city is clearly visible to Czechs picking apples in nearby orchards or passing on their motorcycles.

To View Election

Roger Boas, new chairman of the California Democratic Central Committee and a San Francisco supervisor, will discuss the November election before the Marin County Democratic Central Committee 8 p.m. today at the Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur.

Settlement Near For School Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Schools Supt. Bernard E. Donovan said today both sides in the city teachers' strike were close to a settlement but the walkout that has kept 1.1 million public school pupils out of their classrooms continued.

Donovan met last night with Albert Shanker, president of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, who earlier rejected a peace formula proposed by the board of education saying, "The strike will go on."

After their meeting broke up early today both sides agreed no further progress had been made."

The strike by the 55,000-member UFT, which has kept schools closed for four of the first six days of the fall term, began over the ouster of 10 teachers by the local board in Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

The underlying conflict is between the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican forces who seek community control of schools and the largely white teachers' union and central school administration.

To Study Budget

The Reed School District's Citizens Advisory Committee on Finances and Programs will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Granada School to review the district budget, the kindergarten-sixth grade program and the seventh and eighth grade program.

Japan Tests Rocket After Protest Delay

TANEGASHIMA, Japan (AP) — Japanese scientists test fired an SB-2A rocket today, the first from the national space center on this southern island after the second delay in a week caused by protesting fishermen sailing into the target area.

Experts declared the launching of the one-stage rocket a success.

The test firing was delayed nearly six hours when fishermen sailed four boats into the restricted area. They claim the rocket tests are depriving them of a rich fishing ground. Last Thursday 12 fishing boats also disrupted a launching.

The first drive-in bank was opened in 1946.

State Cabinet Level Posts Now Operable

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has completed a comprehensive reorganization of the executive branch, putting major functions under four cabinet secretaries.

In announcing the new setup yesterday, Reagan said it has "proven to be highly successful in practice over the past 20 months," although it became official only last Saturday.

The four cabinet secretaries represent the fields of business and transportation, resources, human relations and agriculture and services.

To fill the cabinet-level positions Reagan made the following appointments:

Earl Coke, director of the Department of Agriculture, as secretary of the Agriculture and Services Agency.

J. Bryan Sullivan Jr., commissioner of the State Economic Development Agency, as director of the new Department of Commerce.

Lucian Vandergrift, assistant secretary of the Human Relations Agency, as acting director of the new Dertment of Human Resources Development.

Carel E. H. Mulder becomes director of the Department of Health Care Services, the new name for the Office of Health Care Services which he headed.

Reagan also said Spencer Williams, Norman B. Livermore and Gordon C. Luce will continue to head their departments.

BART Aid Talk Despite Reagan Stand

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislators planned to go ahead today with hearings on San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge toll hikes even though Gov. Ronald Reagan says he won't accept that plan for helping finish the San Francisco area's rapid transit system.

"We're going to start hearings tomorrow or Wednesday, whether it's on call or not," Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, said yesterday.

So far, Reagan has refused to open the special session agenda to financing of the $144 million Bay Area Rapid Transit District deficit. He said legislators had failed to meet his stipulation that they reach basic agreement on a financing plan before he adds the item to the special agenda.

Council Acts Against Damaged Buildings

An apartment house, partially burned in the disastrous Northwestern Pacific Railroad tunnel fire at Puerto Suello hill in July, 1961, was slated for abatement by the San Rafael City council last night. (See also San Rafael council story, page 1.)

The apartment building at 1867 Lincoln Avenue, also damaged in the cave-in during the fire, was among five buildings on the council's abatement list.

The council authorized Building Inspector Jack Coates to start abatement proceedings against buildings listed.

The list included buildings at 1550 Lincoln Avenue and 118 Reservoir Road, damaged by fire, an old carriage house on F Street, between Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, and a new unoccupied home at 33 Maywood Way, reportedly in danger of sliding.

Coates said the Maywood Way home could be a hazard in rainy weather and has been an "attractive nuisance."

The San Rafael City Council Also:

BRET HARTE DRAINAGE — Awarded Soiland Co. Inc. of Ignacio, lowest of four bidders, a contract to construct the second phase of Bret Harte drainage project at $54,226.

SEWER WORK — Awarded Soiland Co. Inc. of Ignacio, lowest of four bidders, a $43,273 contract to reconstruct sanitary sewers in the vicinity of Fifth Avenue, K Street and Center Street.

TRANSIENT TAX —Adopted an ordinance increasing the transient occupancy tax (hotel-motel tax) from 4 per cent to 5 per cent by a 3-1 vote with Harry A. Barbier dissenting.

WAIVER — Adopted an ordinance permitting the council to waive the $500 cleanup deposit for carnivals and circuses when they are sponsored by charitable or civic organizations.

ZONING —Passed a zoning ordinance amendment setting forth procedures for issuing permits and variances and removing the fee schedule from the ordinance so fees can be set by council resolution.

PLUMBING CODE — Adopted a new plumbing ordinance which eliminates the use of plastic pipe for drains and vents but permits it for sprinkler systems and "around swimming pools." The vote was 3-1 with John A. Miskimen dissenting.

PLANNED DEVELOPMENT — Approved the rezoning of 820-850 Las Gallinas Avenue from planned community to planned unit development-administration professional district to permit owner Rawson Kelham to further develop the Del Prado building complex with an 11,000 square foot building and 101 parking spaces.

BICYCLE PATHS — Referred to the parks and recreation department a letter from Miriam Schwartz, suggesting creation of a network of bicycle paths in San Rafael.

TENNIS COURTS — Approved plans and called for bids for resurfacing the four tennis courts at Albert Park.

ROAD EXPENSE — Approved a change order for the South San Pedro Road widening project at a cost of $28,125 to the city, half the total since it is a joint city-county project. Materials from excavations cannot be used as a sub-base because the materials don't meet minimum standards; material must be imported.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim by William Raffaelli of 1762 Bay Street, San Rafael, for $16 for tearing of his pants which he claimed occurred when he fell near 711 D Street due to defective sidewalk. The claim was referred to the city's insurance carrier.

New Variety Of Asian Influenza Could Hit State

A new variety of Asian influenza virus recently identified in Hong Kong may make an unwelcome appearance in California this fall and winter, the state Department of Public Health has announced.

Dr. Louis F. Saylor, director of the department, said that there is no specific vaccine for the virus available and no prospect that such a vaccine can be produced in time for public use this year.

He added that immunization with the currently available influenza vaccines is recommended only for persons over 65 and chronically ill individuals.

Relativity Talk

The Star Observers of Marin will hear a lecture on relativity by Charles Levine, assistant professor of physical science at San Francisco State College, at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 in the Marin County Civic Center.

Sonoma State Plans Hidden Talent Project

A project to develop hidden talent among the disadvantaged will begin at Sonoma State College this fall with admission of 70 students who may have had academic or disciplinary problems at the high school level, which would otherwise disqualify them.

Greene Farmer, project coordinator, said yesterday at a campus press conference that many of the students come from minority groups and include Negroes, Indians and Mexican-Americans. Recommended by school counselors, clergymen and social workers, the students must show potential for taking on the responsibility of college level work.

OTHER PHASES

All in need of financial assistance, the students will also receive counseling and tutoring to improve their chances of success. The college will seek $50,000 from private sources and special federal and state grants for support the first year.

Looking at the project as a financial investment, President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. said: "We're promoting potential degree recipients rather than potential welfare recipients."

Reporting on plans for the 1968-69 school year, Nichols noted 20 to 25 per cent of the student body will be from Marin County, second only to Sonoma County in enrollment. He also reported that Marin County led enrollments in extension programs with 1,112 students during the 1967-68 year.

BUILDING PLANS

Building plans at the college include a new speech and drama building and an arts building. Nichols noted both projects will be financed through Proposition 3, the $250 million bond issue, on the November ballot.

"Passage of this proposition is very important to Sonoma State," he said, adding that $25 million is earmarked for his school.

Girl's Neck Sprained In Crash On Span

Carolyn Ruth Corn, 17, of Alameda, was treated at Marin General Hospital Sunday for a neck sprain after a three-car collision on Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said a car driven by Oscar Dewitt De Priest, 43, of Ukiah, hit Miss Corn's car from the rear, knocking it into a car driven by Richard Olive Ward, 22, of San Francisco. All three cars were northbound near the south end of the bridge at 2:20 p.m. De Priest was cited for making an unsafe lane change.

Subsidized Rent Plan May Help Landlords

Marin's leased housing program can be of great benefit to property owners as well as subsidized tenants, Neil B. Little manager of the housing authority program, told the Marin County Real Estate Board today. (See also story, page 1.)

Under the program the housing authority leases houses and apartment from private owners for rents ranging from $80 to $175 a month and then subleases them to low income families for less, Little explained.

The difference is made up by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, which has authorized a total of 200 such units in the county. There is no cost to the county or to any of the five cities thus far participating — Mill Valley, Sausalito, Novato, Tiburon, and San Rafael, which joined the program last night.

Many of the 37 units now rented under the program were being lived in by the families before the housing authority stepped into the picture, Little said.

In these cases Little said, the property owner benefits by being assured of the rent being paid under a one-to-five-year contract. The authority also guarantees the owner that he will be reimbursed for "excessive damage," Little said.

Little described instances where the housing authority negotiated with property owners so that the rents were raised in order that needed repairs and maintenance could be paid for.

"If you would let us know immediately when your clients' tenants are behind on the rent, we could then see if they qualify for the leased housing program," Little said.

Those who are on the program now are about equally divided between elderly persons and families on welfare, Little said.

He described a family which had been living in a leased housing apartment where the father has recently found a good job. The family now plans to move to the apartment manager's apartment in the same building, with the mother taking the role of manager.

This family will now be off the program, he said, a goal which the housing authority always hopes to attain.

"However," Little said, "many of these people are limited as to possibility of improving their situation. The best we can hope is that their children will not fall into the same bottomless pit of despair. Maybe by having a better place to wake up in the morning, they will avoid this," he added.

In answer to a question of how the housing authority computes the amount of rent the tenant pays, Little said this is based generally on 18 per cent of the gross income of young families and 22 per cent for elderly people.

The answer to another question about whether leases are cancelable was that they are not unless the tenant goes over the income level. In this case, Little said, the property owner has the option of either keeping the same tenant, who must pay all the rent, or accepting another tenant recommended by the housing authority.

Pioneer Park Grading Done

Grading has been completed on Pioneer Memorial Park, and it is hoped that drainage can be installed before the rainy season starts, Director Edward W. Adams reported last night to the Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission, according to commission secretary Shirley Lane.

Because of continued vandalism at Lions Park at Stafford Dam, the commission decided the gates to the park will remain locked and only be opened at special request for large groups, she said. Families who want to picnic there will have to hike, she reported.

Adams reported that there was a total attendance of 49,249 at all recreation functions in August, a decrease of 725 from the 48,524 of last year.

Fair-Marin Nominates Directors

Eleven candidates, including Supervisor Peter H. Behr, were nominated last night to the seven-man board of directors of Fair-Marin Inc., which will operate the Veterans Memorial Auditorium and fairgrounds.

The nominations came at a general meeting of Fair-Marin delegates at the Civic Center. About 50 delegates met, with Harold Stockstad as chairman.

The 11 are Stockstad of Marin City, a structural engineer; Mrs. T. J. (Lotte) McWatters Jr. of Mill Valley, representing Marin Museum Association; W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, former veterans service officer; Thomas Foris, Mill Valley architect; Supervisor Behr; Clifford S. Lund, past foreman of the Marin County Grand Jury; Mrs. John Miskimen of San Rafael; Harry Moore of Novato, assistant principal at the new San Marin High School; William H. Baker of San Rafael, partner in a San Francisco advertising agency; Jiri A. Herrmann of Kentfield, representing Marin Festival Theater; and Mrs. Phyllis Thelen of San Rafael, representing Marin Civic Ballet.

From this list, the Marin County Board of Supervisors will appoint seven to serve on the board of directors.

Stockstad, Mrs. McWatters, Duhamel and Foris are present members of the board.

Nigerian Army Takes Rebel Town

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The Nigerian army reported capture of the Biafran town of Owerri today, shrinking the rebel territory to 10 per cent of its original size.

The seizure of Owerri left Biafra with only one major town, Umuahia, the headquarters of the rebel chief of state Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu. Federal troops, pressing from the north and the south, were reported only 30 miles away in either direction.

Mayor Lindsay Named To McCarthy Ticket

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Californians for an Alternative in November, the statewide group petitioning to put Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's name on the November presidential ballot, today selected New York Mayor John Lindsay for the vice presidential slot on the ticket.

Andrew Winnick of San Francisco, chairman of the group, said that the ticket could attract enough Democrats, independents and liberal Republicans to "carry other liberal candidates to victory."

Neither Democrat McCarthy nor Republican Lindsay have endorsed the group, which also is at work in several other states, and McCarthy has insisted he will campaign for local candidates rather than for himself.

Friday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for the California group to submit petitions to county clerks, with 330,000 signatures of registered voters required to put the group's slate of 40 presidential electors on the ballot.

Winnick said his group hopes to carry enough states at least to defeat both George C. Wallace and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Cycle Accident Injures Girl

Micca Doody, 18, of 259 Richardson Drive, Mill Valley, was treated for a cut left knee at Marin General Hospital Sunday after the motorcycle upon which she was riding hit a pick-up truck, Mill Valley police reported.

Frederick Raymond Wolf, 22, of 357 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley, driver of the motorcycle, told police he was turning left at 1:52 p.m. from Park Avenue onto Sycamore Avenue when he collided with the pickup truck driven by Florence Marie Helson, 56, of 744 Alta Vista Avenue, Mill Valley.

Neither Wolf nor Mrs. Nelson was injured, police said.

Wallet Theft

Cariline Regis Sikes of 2079 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, reported Saturday that her wallet, containing $90 in cash, had been taken from her unlocked car while it was parked in the 1000 block of Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Juvenile Panel Sets Session

The Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Room 400-B of the Civic Center, instead of the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital as regularly scheduled.

The commission invites related agencies and members of the community to its meetings and has outgrown the Coral Room, according to James D. Adams, former chairman of the commission.

He said it is not yet known if the new meeting place will be permanent.

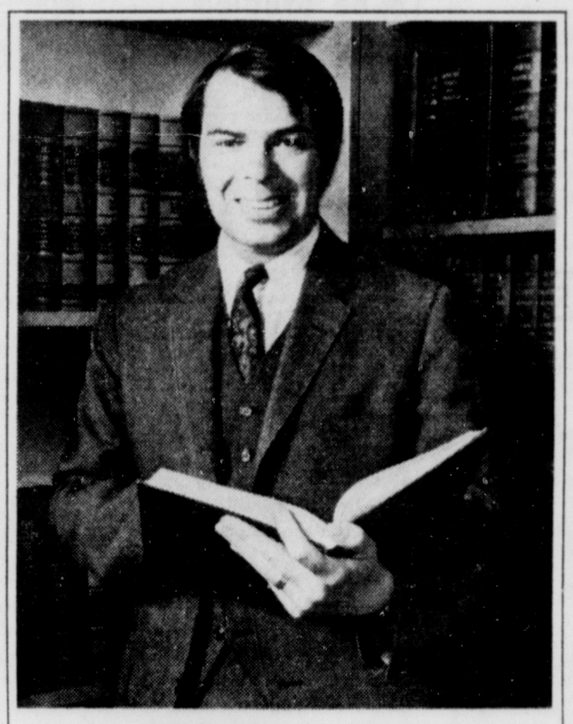
Come to a free Reading Dynamics Mini-Lesson



Law student, George Ford, did. Now—ipso facto—he reads a book an hour.

📖 "Studying for the bar takes a lot of reading," says George. "And my slow reading was a terrible trial."

📖 "To allay my guilt, I gave myself an easy sentence: one hour at a free Reading Dynamics Mini-Lesson."

📖 There George found that besides guaranteeing to at least triple his reading speed, Reading Dynamics would also heighten his ability to understand, remember, enjoy and concentrate on practically any type of reading material.

📖 George discovered that the Mini-Lesson is a real lesson where you actually sample the techniques taught in a Reading Dynamics course. He learned to use his hand as a pacer and to read like a person thinks—thought-by-thought instead of word-by-word.

📖 "Reading Dynamics is a lot more than just reading fast," adds George. "I'm really impressed with the fact that dynamic study methods have earned better grades for thousands of high school and college students."

📖 Now George Ford is a Reading Dynamics graduate. He's able to read everything from THE HARVARD LAW REVIEW to whodunits almost as rapidly as he can turn the pages.

📖 For bona fide evidence of how Reading Dynamics can teach you to read textbooks, magazines, newspapers, novels—even fact-packed business and professional publications—4-10 times faster, take a free Mini-Lesson. Cost? Absolutely nothing and you'll probably be a speedier reader when you exit. Incidentally, should you decide to return for the entire Reading Dynamics course, registrations are accepted at the close of all Mini-Lessons.

Nuclear Weapons Control Treaty Moves To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons and sent it to the floor for action.

The vote was 13-3, with three abstentions.

The majority overrode objections of members who urged delay because of the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Acting Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., said he hoped the Senate would act during the current session of Congress on the nonproliferation treaty. No date has been set for a Senate vote.

A two-thirds vote will be needed to give Senate consent to the treaty under terms of the Constitution.

The heavy endorsement in the committee came after weeks of uncertainty over whether the treaty would reach the floor in view of the Czech crisis and concern about other Soviet intentions.

Russia has signed the treaty and Senate critics had argued immediate U.S. participation would be a gesture of cooperation with that country at the same time it was being accused of aggression.

Backers urged that the treaty be considered a step toward heading off a nuclear war and not connected to the Soviet actions.

The treaty would pledge nuclear nations signing it not to give nuclear weapons or the know-how to make them to countries not now possessing them.

Non-nuclear countries would pledge they will not seek or acquire such weapons.

Education Sex Films To Be Shown

A showing of "three or four" films of "Time of Your Life," the controversial KQED television sex education program for students, will be sponsored by the Marin County Superintendent of School's office at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the San Rafael High School auditorium.

Stanley Friese, assistant superintendent for educational services with the county office, said the program is the first of a series scheduled by his office this year and is designed to give new teachers or other instructors who haven't witnessed the television program a chance to become familiar with the project.

Friese said decision on whether to show the films is up to the individual school districts.

The public may attend tomorrow's screening, he said.

Friese said the creator, the television teacher for the "Time of Your Life" series, and Betty Ann Berkman, director of educational services for KQED attend the screening and following discussion. The KQED program resumes next Monday, he said.

"Only the law abiding citizen" will register, said Miller, and this same citizen will "lose his only means of self-protection." Gun registration could lead to a ban on guns, "the objective of the Communist element," he argued.

"Only the criminals, pacifists and Communists will stand to gain from the registration of firearms," said Miller.

Hanks also argued that only law-abiding citizens would register their firearms, and said the law would create "another government bureaucracy."

Teacher Firing Hearing Set

A hearing in the suit of former Redwood High School teacher Elizabeth Blodgett against Tamalpais Union High School District was continued yesterday in Marin Superior Court to 2 p.m. Oct. 14.

Attorneys for both sides yesterday discussed procedures to be followed and timing for filing of written arguments in the case.

Miss Blodgett was let go at Redwood last spring as a physical education teacher because she was overweight. A state hearing officer from the state Department of Education upheld her release after a hearing.

Miss Blodgett is asking the court to overturn the hearing decision and order the district to rehire her.

Warren to announce his retirement and for Fortas to succeed him.

The President also nominated another personal friend, U.S. Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry, to replace Fortas as an associate justice on the high court. The judiciary committee will not act on the Thornberry nomination unless the Senate confirms Fortas.

It has been a virtual certainty for weeks that a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats would filibuster against letting the nomination come to a floor vote.

Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., originally garnered 19 signatures among his fellow Republicans against Fortas, and claimed to count 20 or 21 Democrats opposed to cutting off debate (invoking cloture) to bring the nomination to a vote.

He now estimates 45 senators are opposed to confirmation itself.

Many senators oppose cloture because they favor the Senate tradition of unlimited debate, but would vote to confirm Fortas if a vote could be arranged.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., has announced in favor of the nomination. But he now says there might actually be a majority of the Senate—51 or more senators—against confirmation.

He declared it "can also mean the difference between world order and world chaos."

"Unless we Democrats unite to heal and lead America," Johnson said, "America will never have the vision to heal and lead the world."

Johnson recalled that eight years ago when he ran for vice president with John F. Kennedy, he asked his fellow Texans to give undivided support to the Democratic ticket.

He said that what he called the magnificent response he received spelled the difference between victory and defeat then.

Rail Abandonment To Be Studied

The Sausalito City Council will discuss its position on the proposed abandonment of the Sausalito branch of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad today at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Also, it will receive a statement, approved by the planning commission, of the policies and objectives for the proposed central waterfront plan.

A public hearing will be held on Sausalito Boulevard Assessment District No. 2, which involves putting in streets, curbs and gutters, and sewers on the unimproved portion of the boulevard.

A public hearing will be continued on the protest of Sam Zakessian to Edgewater Yacht Club's request to convert part of its building into a restaurant.

Sleepy Hollow Bridge Pledge Brings Flap

Supervisor Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen this morning lit into Public Works Director Donald R. Frost for delays on a new bridge at Sleepy Hollow and in turn took a dressing down from Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

Kettenhofen complained that a new bridge was promised on Butterfield Road to be completed this year and asked Frost for an explanation.

"Just couldn't get around to it," replied Frost, explaining that other priority projects such as signals on Lucas Valley Road and the Corte Madera Creek project had forced him to delay the Sleepy Hollow bridge. But he promised the bridge would be built next spring.

"I definitely feel we acted in bad faith," said Kettenhofen. He said the commitment was made to the Sleepy Hollow Homeowners Association last year that the bridge would be completed this year.

Behr agreed that Frost should have informed Sleepy Hollow and the supervisor of the district before delaying the bridge project. He added that Kettenhofen was overplaying the importance of the project.

Mrs. June Weden, representing the Sleepy Hollow Homeowners Association, pointed out that the bridge had been discussed for three years or more and Frost had made a promise to her group. "I hope Mr. Frost will write to the Sleepy Hollow Homeowners Association explaining what happened."

Behr disagreed. He said the supervisors are responsible in the end, and the supervisors should contact the homeowners, not Frost.

"The supervisors did not delay the bridge," said Kettenhofen. "It was Mr. Frost."

"You're flogging a dead horse," flared Behr.

Chairman Kettenhofen then dropped the matter when Frost informed the supervisors that it is too late in the year to complete the plans for the bridge and advertise for bids before the tenhofen, McInnis and William A. Gnoss.

"He (Alioto) may have national status on a partisan basis, but otherwise he is just the mayor of San Francisco," said Kettenhofen. When San Francisco acts arbitrarily on the commuter tax, and Marin sues, the parties to the suit should not sit together for lunch, said Kettenhofen.

"Until the status of the suit is clarified, I for one am not going to sit down as one principal of this suit with the other side," said McInnis. "If that's cow county, I'm cow county."

Behr agreed that Marin is incensed over the commuter tax, but relations between people, counties or countries can never improve by breaking off communications. "It seems more sensible to me in the spirit of normal amity and comity that we simply attend the luncheon and leave out the subject of the commuter tax," he added. "We should rise above politics."

Both Kettenhofen and McInnis denied that any politics are involved.

"You know damn well there are," replied Behr.

"I don't think you should resent it and say it's political," said Kettenhofen.

"Resentment is not the word," Behr bristled. "I say it's stupid."

Gnoss sided with McInnis and Kettenhofen, saying he preferred not to meet with Alioto until after the suit is settled. "No reason we can't be friends later."

The supervisors voted not to meet with Alioto at least until the court hearing on Sept. 30, with Behr and Storer dissenting.

Pleads Guilty

Donald Lee Johnson of Tiburon pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of cashing bad checks from July 8 through 22 in Tiburon. He was ordered to appear at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 14 for sentencing.

HOUSING

said he felt that senior citizens who have lived in San Rafael for many years should be given priority.

Councilman John A. Miskimen said since there is need for the housing by both senior citizens and nonsenior citizens, he didn't think the council was "in a position to select one of these groups for favored treatment."

Miskimen, noting that other governmental agencies, have approved the one-year residency requirement, asked: "Why are we coming up with a different requirement? Are we in a different position from the County of Marin or Novato?"

Councilman Harry A. Barbier said on the residency requirement, "a good compromise would be two years."

Charles H. Clifford of 200 Forbes Avenue, representing the Marin Committee for Fair Play, presented a petition with 232 signatures, urging the council to authorize the program and noting that there is a need in San Rafael and there are rental units available in the city.

Rejecting the program would give San Rafael the appearance of being "a closed town . . . and not wanting anyone different from ourselves."

Rev. Hugh Hardin of 50 Balboa Court, said the people needing the units are already here and he didn't "envision importing people."

Austin J. Thompson, executive Human Rights Commission, urged councilmen to recognize the need in San Rafael. The bulk of people on welfare live in San Rafael, he said.

Ed Ryker, executive director of the Marin Senior Citizen Coordinating Council, told of senior citizens who are paying more than 50 per cent of their income for rent.

William Mackey of 4 Birch Way, Santa Venetia, told of the low income family need for housing.

Neil B. Little, manager of the program, said the program has 133 applicants. Of the 37 units now leased, 11 are to elderly and 26 to non-elderly, he reported.

Twenty three leases were for residents in the place where they were living, eight units were located by tenants and six were located by the authority, Ehrlich reported.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that the council received many letters favoring the program, which he thought perhaps were instituted by a joint movement. The council also received a letter from Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, urging adoption of the program.

The mayor asked for a show of hands from those who were residents of San Rafael, and almost all hands went up.

The two-year residency requirement was adopted after Miskimen's motion for a one-year requirement failed for lack of a second.

Councilman Louis H. Baar was absent due to illness.

Tape Player Taken

Johnson Decries Car Price Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson condemned Chrysler Corp.'s boost in 1969 model car prices today, saying it would take $750 million from pockets of American families buying new cars if it spreads throughout the industry.

"This," Johnson said in a statement, "is an onerous and unfair burden on the consumer. The Cabinet Committee on Price Stability has informed me that there is absolutely no excuse for the Chrysler action and that this price increase should not stand."

Chrysler announced yesterday it is raising prices on new models an average of $89 a car, or 2.9 per cent.

She has no survivors.

NO EASY TASK

Self-Support Goal For Welfare Mothers

A 32-member group began last night the job of finding ways for Marin County welfare mothers to become self-supporting.

Members said the job would not be easy.

The welfare "task force" was established this summer by the board of supervisors and must submit its first report by Dec. 1. The group is composed of 13 mothers receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children or members of such families, with the rest of the group from the business, professional and civic community.

Meeting in the Civic Center last night, the group heard Ernest N. Kettenhofen, chairman of the board of supervisors, describe the board's wish to place more welfare recipients in jobs, and heard Miss Betty L. Presley, director of the county public social services department, sound the need for the state to take over a larger share of the local welfare burden.

Miss Presley said the base payment for AFDC recipients had increased only once in the past decade while the cost of living had risen steadily.

Mrs. Lynne Bishop, an AFDC mother, said welfare mothers experience a "loss of self value" because of poor treatment by landlords and merchants. She said "adequate and dependable" child care was needed to enable mothers to work.

Miss Presley said the picture of welfare mothers as lazy and as bearers of illegitimate children was "wild and distorted."

Asked about the relationship of welfare mothers with the public social services department, Mrs. Gracie Stover of Marin City complained she had made 11 telephone calls to the Civic Center to try to get questions on income earned by her children answered. She said she still did not have an answer.

Other mothers said social workers were helpful with problems at home.

Mrs. Bishop suggested establishing ways in which mothers could swap tips about food and clothing purchases.

The group said it would deal with these topics in future sessions: housing, child care (small, co-operative nurseries throughout the county were proposed), employment and job training, improving communications with the welfare department, financial support by absent fathers, plight of children in welfare families, and program changes.

Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Lottie Reed of Marin City were named co-chairmen of the group and the next meeting was set for Oct. 2.

Cost, Financing Are Projected For Airliner

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Boeing Co. study suggests the 1,800-mile-an-hour Supersonic Transport (SST) jetliners might cost about $41.2 million each and that airlines might have to make a 50 per cent payment in advance.

The progress report on the SST development program's prospective financing also indicated a government guarantee close to $2 billion may be required.

The study was made before the current slow-down pending redesign of the plane was ordered, said the Federal Aviation Administration which opened the study to public inspection yesterday.

The deadline for completion of the financing program has been deferred to Dec. 31, 1969.

The Boeing study was submitted to the FAA July 1 but was not publicized until American Aviation magazine gained access to it and published it in Aviation Daily yesterday.

The FAA said it had not generally distributed the report because of its interim nature.

Mill Valley Asks Interim Dog Patrol

City and county officials are working toward a permanent solution to the wandering dog problems of Mill Valley and other Marin areas, the Mill Valley City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer told the council that the city managers of the 11 Marin cities and county representatives have been conferring on the best way to solve the county-wide problems of nuisance dogs.

The most popular proposal, presently under consideration, is one which calls for a dog patrol assigned to each area for a specific number of hours a week, Balmer said.

Cost of such a solution is still being determined, Balmer noted, but a recommendation should be ready by the end of October, he said.

Under the existing agreement between the county and the Marin County Humane Society, the patrol comes into a town only when someone complains about the dogs, Balmer said. The cities contract with the county for the dog control service.

(Novato has recently underwritten an approximately $12,000-a-year program for its own dogcatcher.)

The council, reassured that some action will be taken in the near future, asked Balmer to request the humane society to assign someone to Mill Valley on a specific hour basis as an interim measure.

"If we do this, we ought to be prepared to pay for it," Councilman George Wickham said. "I think it would be worth $1,000 to get a regular patrol."

The rest of the council declined to discuss paying for the additional patrols until the initial inquiry is answered by the humane society.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

ABATEMENT Declared an abandoned house at 329 Vista Linda Avenue, damaged by slides during the winter of 1967, a public nuisance and ordered abatement.

DENSITY — Delayed a decision on a density increase for 73 acres of undeveloped lands in Enchanted Knolls to give developers time to discuss the development with residents there.

GARBAGE — Adopted an ordinance establishing the city as the collection agent for unpaid garbage bills.

LIBRARY — Asked the planning commission to set a public hearing to rezone the old library site on Lovell Avenue from a public use zone to a multiple zone with a density of 1,500 square feet per dwelling unit prior to sale of the property by the city.

TERMS — Introduced an ordinance establishing terms of the planning commissioners and architectural advisory committeemen at three years.

REGULATIONS — Agreed to assure the state that the city's building regulations are equal to or more stringent than those required by the state.

PLANS — Approved plans and called for bids for construction of a bulkhead at 397 Rose Avenue.

APPRECIATION — Adopted a resolution expressing appreciation to T. Fred Bagshaw, former mayor of Mill Valley, for his long years of public service.

Swimming, Music Registrations Set

Grammar school youngsters who live in the Tamalpais High School District may register Saturday from 9 to 12 a.m. for swimming and instrumental music classes at Sir Francis Drake High School, according to Robert Ftizhenry, recreation director.

The program is designed so that students may take three classes on Saturday mornings, he said.

Project 17, School Rec Planning Hit

The Mill Valley School District board was blistered last night by the Mill Valley City Council for not consulting the city on proposed recreational development for the joint Project 17-Middle School site prior to presentation of plans scheduled for Monday night.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen said he was "appalled" by the action of the school board in inviting the city to join the general public Monday in viewing the first presentation of the Middle School plans by architects Campbell and Wong of San Francisco.

Andresen, noting he hated to say "I told you so," said that prior to his election to the council in April he had warned the council that the school district might ignore the city once the agreement for a joint school-recreational development on the Project 17 area was signed.

Councilman Rodric L. Robinson joined in, saying he was disappointed by the school board's action.

Any pretense of mutual cooperation "was lost" when the city signed the agreement in April, Robinson added.

Councilman George Wickham offered the only ray of hope. The plans might "turn out to be good, just what we want," he said.

The council's outburst was prompted by a letter from Joseph E. Bodovitz, school board chairman, inviting the council to the Monday presentation and noting: "Naturally, until bids are received there can be no certainty about construction or installation of (recreation) facilities but careful cost estimates will be submitted by the architects . . ."

Repeatedly since April the council has asked the school board for a joint meeting to discuss the recreation facilities, but had received no answer until last night's letter.

After it had unanimously dressed down the school district board, the council indicated it might not approve the land transfer agreement which makes the whole project possible, unless the school board gives "written assurances" that a minimum of $200,000 will be spent on the development of joint recreational uses.

A GAME FOR HARD THINKERS

Two players in the liars dice tournament being held through Sept. 30 at Gatsby's in Sausalito, Richard Blacow (left) and Byron Haviside, concentrate on the dice as referee Charles L. Peet, part owner of Gatsby's, watches them intently. Entry fees from the tournament, played under obscure and complicated regulations, will benefit the Boy's Club of Southern Marin in Marin City. The tournament is held from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. daily at the 39 Caledonia Street pub. (Independent-Journal photo)

Theater Variance Is Denied

Corte Madera town Councilmen at a public hearing last night heard strong protest against letting Blumenfeld Theaters have less parking space than required for a proposed theater, then unanimously denied the theater request.

The 5-0 vote upheld an earlier deniel of the same request by the planning commission. Joseph Blumenfeld, who sought permission for a ratio of one parking space for each six seats in a theater to be built at 41 Tamal Vista Boulevard, had appealed the commission decision to the council. Requirement is one space for each four seats.

Opposition to the variance request appeal was launched last night with filing of a petition bearing 85 signatures, mostly of persons living on Tamal Vista Boulevard, Chickasaw Court, or Council Crest Drive.

Several residents also appeared at the meeting. Spokesman Alice V. Higgins of 14 Council Crest Drive, said reduced parking requirements would result in theater-going cars being parked in driveways, and would disrupt "a way of living" for about 55 families residing in the vicinity.

Blumenfeld declared that reduced parking requirements for his proposed 700-seat theater would not be bothersome because he anticipates only one-third of maximum attendance on normal nights. He suggested a compromise of five seats for each parking space. The 4 to 1 ratio will force reducing seating to 500, he added.

Novato, Districts Tell Of Merger Intentions

Lines of difference in interest and intent were clearly drawn with no conclusions reached at a meeting last night on possible merger of the Novato Sanitary District with the City of Novato or the North Marin County Water District.

The Novato Sanitary District board and the Novato City Council want a merger of the district and city. The North Marin County Water District wants to absorb the Novato Sanitary District.

Although no vote was taken, this was evident from the discussion of members of the boards of the two districts and the council when the three met last night at the North Marin County Water District office.

The resolution that passed unanimously at the last meeting of the sanitary district board, favoring an eventual merger with the City of Novato was read. Also read was the council resolution which passed by a 3-2 vote last week favoring waiting until such time as the city and sanitary district had 80 per cent contiguous boundaries and could merge.

Arnold Heise, president of the water district board, said that it had not passed any resolution, but hs felt that the merger of the sanitary district and the water district should be placed before the electorate.

Mayor Harley McAskill reminded members that they were all part of the community of Novato and should think of the ultimate benefit to the people. "If the water district has nothing to gain from the merger, why is it working so hard for it?" McAskill asked.

Heise replied, "The long range sanitary solution for Marin County makes it mandatory for larger entities to do it; it cannot be done on a piecemeal basis."

"The city needs the sanitary district. I'm not sold that the water district would be more efficient than the City of Novato," said sanitary district Board Member Carlos Rivamonte.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva said he voted against the resolution to merge with the sanitary district because he did not believe in forcing people to annex to the city, as has been the policy of the Local Agency Formation Commission on approving such mergers. Councilman Joseph Gargiulo agreed.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said that the most efficient city government was one that contained all that a city should — police, planning, recreation, sanitation and the other normal city functions.

Jerome B. Gilbert, water district manager, said that sewage disposal must be planned on a regional basis. North Marin and southern Sonoma counties should all be one sewage disposal system, according to studies by the Kaiser engineers, he said.

On a question from the floor, it was pointed out that if the water district asked and got a vote of the people, the merger of the two districts could be obtained by a majority of voters in each district. This would include the portions of the North Marin County Water District that lie in West Marin and Sonoma County.

Court Hearing

David Forbes Allen, 20, of San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Superior Court on a charge of possessing heroin July 27. He was ordered to appear Monday to enter a plea.

Marijuana Charge

David Clark Knowlton, 19, of Sonoma, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Superior Court for possession of marijuana April 19. A hearing was set for Monday on a defense motion to dismiss the charge.

Fremont High Remains Closed

OAKLAND (UPI) — Racially troubled Fremont High School will remain closed until the safety of teachers and pupils can be ensured, according to Oakland School Superintedent Stuart S. Phillips.

He made the announcement yesterday following a closed meeting of the school's 92 teachers.

Fremont, with an enrollment of about 2,000 students, was closed early Friday because of a series of fights and vandalism. One teacher was assaulted, and nine persons were arrested.

Phillips said he was hopeful that students and teachers, working with parents, could deal frankly with the problems and find a solution by the end of the week.

Corte Madera Schedules Street District Hearing

A public hearing on possible formation of a Sausalito street assessment district was scheduled last night by the Corte Madera Town Council for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 21.

The council also accepted a preliminary engineering report that widening and improvement of the street — from Buena Vista Avenue to the southern town limits — will cost approximately $30,610. It called for construction bids, to be opened at 2 p.m. Oct. 11, but awarding of any contract will depend on whether the district is formed after the public hearing.

The go-ahead to form the district was given by the council April 16. The district would involve 120 parcels and cost to the property owner will be about $266 for those living away from Sausalito Street frontage and about $266 plus 72 cents per frontage foot for those living along the street, town officials have estimated.

Width of the street would vary from 16 feet to 24 feet, according to plans.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

SYNANON — Scheduled a public hearing for 8 p.m. Oct. 21 on making permanent the existing emergency ordinance which prevents Synanon Foundation from moving into Corte Madera without seeking a use permit. The council on March 4 passed the interim ordinance.

PUBLIC HEARING — Scheduled 8:30 p.m. Oct. 21 for a public hearing on a resolution to abandon about 140 square feet of town land on Sunnyside Avenue. Warren Bacciocco of 2 Sunnyside Avenue has requested an exchange of property with the town to give him clearance for an existing swimming pool.

AWARDS — Accepted for display in town hall trophies presented to Marin Catholic High School, Village Square Association, and Chapman-Montecito Improvement Association for winning entries in the Fourth of July parade.

RESOLUTION — Named Arthur N. Morrison, director of public works, to be also street superintendent. The appointment involves no increase in salary.

FLOOD CONTROL — Unanimously endorsed the recommendation of the Zone 9 advisory board that the board of supervisors should reject a request for a $100,000 additional Kent Woodlands project in the already planned Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project.

ANNEXATION — Instructed Acting Town Engineer Philip A. Lygren to confer with Corte Madera Sanitary District engineer on improvements planned in the proposed annexation to the sanitary district of 15 homes on Lucky Drive. The council also instructed Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to further consult with the sanitary district on a policy of annexing to Corte Madera all areas which are annexed to the district.

A local Agency Formation Commission decision on whether the district shall be merged with Corte Madera is scheduled for Oct. 3.

GRADING — Denied a request by Sherry Morell to grade and widen a fire trail west of Corte Madera Avenue near First Avenue for a future road for a proposed subdivision there. The council said it first wants more specific plans for the areas.

TRAINING — Approved sending one police officer to Santa Rosa Junior College for a peace officer training program now, and another officer next spring.

LEAGUE — Named Councilman Holmes S. Norville as voting representative to the League of California Cities conference in Los Angeles Oct. 13.

LIBRARY SITE —Set Sept. 28 at 9 a.m. for a tour of proposed sites for the town's projected regional library. Starting point of the tour will be announced.

Fine, Probation For Worthless Check

Manuel Goynenetche, 25, of San Rafael, was fined $150 yesterday in Marin Superior Court and placed on two years probation for passing a worthless check May 16 in San Rafael.

Coyhenetche was also ordered to make restitution of $779 or a lesser amount agreed on in negotiation.

Salary Hikes Due Study By Trustees

Proposed salary increases of $3,278 and budget cuts of $11,610 will be reviewed by the Reed School District board at 8 p.m. today in the Bel Aire School.

The model of Reedland Woods School will also be presented to the board for review by architect Ronald D. Young.

BLAZE IN BEL MARIN KEYS

A Novato fireman directs water on the blazing Bel Marin Keys home of Jack H. Weiler at 925 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard. The house suffered severe damage, Fire Chief George Cavallero said, when gasoline leaked from a car in the garage and was ignited by a heater pilot light shortly after 3:30 p.m. yesterday. The car and a pickup truck in the garage were destroyed. Neighbors and firemen saved furniture from the rear of the house. Damage to the house and contents was estimated at $30,000. # Easy Senate Passage Seen On Tax Relief

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A senator told his colleagues today now is the time "to keep faith with the people" and grant them tax relief through a $261 million tax package backed by both Republicans and Democrats.

As he explained the proposal, Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, called the legislative package "one of the most important pieces of legislation in our time."

PASSAGE FORECAST

Easy Senate passage was forecast. Thirty-five senators cosponsored the constitutional amendment and bill — eight more than the 27 votes needed for passage.

The legislative tax proposal, to be designated on the Nov. 5 ballot as Prop. 1-A, is written so that it poses a direct confrontation at the general election with the Watson initiative to rigidly limit the levying of property taxes.

The Senate Finance Committee deliberately inserted language into its proposed constitutional amendment yesterday that declares whichever property tax plan gets more votes in November would win and the other would lose.

IF BOTH PASS

Otherwise, both plans conceivably could be passed and plunge the state — some legislators and experts say — into "fiscal chaos."

The initiative proposal sponsored by Philip Watson, Los Angeles County assessor, would phase out the use of property taxes for education and welfare and limit other uses to 1 per cent of market value of property.

The Legislature's plan would grant each of California's 2.6 million homeowners a $750 tax exemption, figuring out to an average yearly tax bill cut of $70 a year — if tax rates remain constant.

The bipartisan package, worked out in Reagan's office last Wednesday, also would give $40 million in relief to renters; cut business inventory taxes by $43 million a year, and do away with the tax on personal property such as television sets.

Reagan Says Regents To Bar Cleaver Talks

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan predicted today that the University of California regents will act this week to bar Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver from lecturing on the Berkeley campus on America's racial unrest.

Cleaver is an "advocate of racism and violence" and the proposal that he teach on campus "is an affront, an insult to the State of California," Reagan told his weekly news conference.

Reagan repeated earlier statements that he was adamantly against the Negro militant teaching the special course to which he has been invited as a lecturer not paid by state funds.

Referring to those who have invited Cleaver to teach, Reagan said.

"When you delegate authority it goes without saying you then have the responsibility—regents have the responsibility — to take action if those delegates violate their trust and misuse their authority."

Reagan, noting that the subject of Cleaver was on the regents agenda during their meeting Thursday and Friday in Los Angeles, said he didn't think "Cleaver would be retained."

Reagan flared at a question that pointed out Cleaver had been invited on the basis that he would be paid with outside funds, not from the university budget.

"Let's make one thing plain. I don't really care whether they're printing the money (to pay Cleaver) in the basement over there. It is on the university campus. It is a course for which five units of credit will be given. As far as I'm concerned, it is a university program.

"As far as I'm concerned it is an affront, an insult to the State of California. The calls and the mail are making it plain the people of California have reached the end of the line and I don't blame them," Reagan said.

Reagan's office said after the conference that the governor has so far received 3,735 letters against Cleaver teaching the course, and four favoring it.

Deliberate Horse Scare Is Claimed

A ballerina from Sleepy Hollow faces a delicate eye operation and a possible setback in her career following a fall from a horse yesterday which she said was caused by a driver who deliberately tried to frighten her horse into throwing her.

Janina Cywinska, 39, of 300 Hidden Valley Lane said her doctor told her today she suffered a detached retina in the fall and would need surgery. She said she was to go to Germany in November to dance but can't go if she still has a vision problem then.

Horse trainer John B. Shaw of 5 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo, today said motorcyclists and sports car drivers in the area deliberately race their engines when passing horses to frighten them.

Last week, Mrs. Cywinska said, 12-year-old Carolyn Donohoe of Oak Springs Road was thrown when a sports car frightened her horse.

"Next time someone will get killed," Mrs. Cywinska said. She said some persons in Sleepy Hollow may know the names of the young drivers involved in the incidents, but no names have been given to authorities.

Shaw and Mrs. Cywinska talked to a sheriff's deputy in the area last night after her accident, but made no official report.

Sommerhalder Attempts To Shift Some Evidence

By STEPHEN COOK

Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, the motorcycle gang leader accused of a Marin double murder, opened his defense in Marin Superior Court today with an attempt to cast suspicion on a Santa Rosa friend.

Sommerhalder, 24-year-old leader of Santa Rosa's Grim Reapers, is accused of killing barbers Curtis and Shirley Ackley in their Santa Venetia trailer house Jan. 12.

Public Defender Jerome C. Durham, representing Sommerhalder, called on San Rafael pathologist, Dr. Robert B. Schneider, to provide testimony that the blood types of the slain couple were "A" and "O."

On Sept. 6, a state criminologist testified that Thomas Caswell of Santa Rosa, arrested with Sommerhalder but never charged with murder, had blood stains of those types on his clothing when arrested.

Under cross-examination today, Dr. Schneider told Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales that 81 per cent of all people have one of those two blood types.

Roland Ripple of Santa Rosa, neighbor of Sommerhalder's convicted codefendant Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, testified that a gun rack, introduced by Bales as belonging to Curtis Ackley, was very similar to one owned by Preston.

Bales reopened his case briefly today to introduce a pair of gloves found under the driver's seat of Sommerhalder's car two days after the Ackley murders. No fingerprints were found at the murder scene.

Phone Alert Leads To Man's Body

Fairfax police, alerted by the telephone company, broke into a Ridge Road home yesterday to find the body of George Edward Fossey, 61, of 9 Ridge Road.

Coroner's Investigator Keith C. Craig said Fossey, 61, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound from a .32 caliber pistol found by the body. He estimated Fossey had been dead for four to five days.

Fossey left a note saying he was despondent over his ill health and that of his wife Kathryn, a patient at a local convalescent home, Craig said.

Fossey was the proprietor of Kay's of Kentfield, an antique shop. A native of San Francisco, he came to Marin as an infant and had lived here since.

Craig said the telephone company notified police that Fossey's telephone was off the hook. Police entered the home to 2:25 p.m. to find the body.

Fossey is also survived by a daughter, Dian Fossey, who has won fame as an anthropologist studying mountain gorillas in the Congo and Uganda for the National Geographic Society.

Funeral is pending at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Two Airmen Free Man From Auto, Attached Hose

Two Air Force men yesterday balked an apparent attempt by a Larkspur man to take his life, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Henry Benjamin Welch, 34, of 9 Post Street, Larkspur, was taken to Napa State Hospital on an emergency psychiatric commitment after the incident at 12:15 p.m.

The patrol said airmen John W. Lister, 27, of Fort MacArthur, San Pedro, and Dennis L. Caywood, 23, of the 78th Transportation Squadron, Hamilton Air Force Base, stopped when they saw Welch's car parked on the Pacheco Creek overcrossing of Highway 101.

Lister told the patrol Welch had a hose from the exhaust into a window and was sitting with the engine running. He pulled the hose away and told Welch to shut off the engine, then called the highway patrol.

Airmen Say Moves Due To Peace March

Two Hamilton Air Force Base enlisted men who claim they are being transfered to prevent their helping to organize a proposed peace march are not headed overseas, they said today.

A/1C Michael Locks of San Anselmo said that he and A/1c John Bright of San Francisco are being transferred for 45 days to Hill Air Force Base in Utah in time to get them out of the Bay Area before the march.

The march, called a "GI and Vets March of Peace," is scheduled for Oct. 12, not Oct. 2, as incorrectly reported yesterday, and marchers will walk from the Panhandle of Golden Gate Park to the Civic Center in San Francisco.

A reserve officer from the same wing, the 349th Military Air Wing, who joined Locks and Bright in a press conference protesting the transfers, has been ordered to Formosa Sept. 30. Lt. Hugh Smith has filed a writ of habeas corpus in federal Ninth District Court in San Francisco to prevent his being shipped overseas.

The case is scheduled to be heard tomorrow.

Locks and Bright, who are represented by Kentfield attorney Richard Werthimer, said today that their transfer was scheduled for yesterday but that Werthimer succeeded in getting it postponed.

The reservists claim that orders from high-ranking Air Force officers in the Pentagon to Hamilton officers were to stop the march. Since there are currently no regulations covering such activities, Locks said, the military is transferring men to get them out of the area.

Locks also added that he had earlier applied for Vietnam duty if the Air Force would transfer him to the medical corps, but that his request was delayed and then not acted upon.

Head-On Crash Injures Drivers

Two San Rafael men were reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after their cars collided head-on on Highway 101 in Greenbrae last night.

The California Highway Patrol said William Manning Horan, 49, of 102 Martens Boulevard, was driving his car south in the inside northbound lane on the freeway and collided at 11:43 p.m. with a northbound car driven by Joseph Anthony Moyle, 54, of 211-A Marine Street.

Horan was hospitalized with cuts on the face and both knees, Moyle for cuts on the nose and shoulders.

The highway patrol said the case would be turned over to the district attorney's office for possible prosecution against Horan.

Lot Request

An application by David N. Sederquist to create at 312 Hacienda Drive two lots smaller than the required 40,000-square-foot minimum will be herd by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Intermediate School Plan Is Approved

Start of an intermediate school program was approved last night by Tomales Bay School District trustees, according to Supt. Ralph E. Nixon.

The program will affect approximately 90 students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, he said. The students will go from room-to-room to three different teachers for different subjects, he said.

Then in cooperation with Tomales High School, they will go there for the last hour of the day for electives which include instrumental music, shop, sewing, art, music, journalism and economy and general business, he said.

The Tomales Bay Union School District board also:

TEAM TEACHING — Asked Nixon to get an estimate from architect Richard Lieb of Santa Rosa for knocking out a permanent wall in one of the buildings so that the district could start team teaching.

LEASE — Approved leasing office space to the Shoreline Unified School District at $100 per month from Jan. 1 to June 30.

HANDBOOKS — Approved handbooks for kindergarten and upper students. The kindergarten handbook explains the entire program to the parents. The handbook for students sets up rules of conduct, activities, dress codes and general school procedures, Nixon said.

RELIGION — Approved the students being excused the last hours of each Tuesday for religious instruction, if requested.

Draws 45 Days On Burglary Charges

Donald Edward Smith, 29, of San Rafael, was sentenced yesterday in Marin Superior Court to 45 days in county jail and placed on three years probation for a June 2 burglary in San Geronimo.

Smith was caught at the San Geronimo National Golf Club restaurant when an employee found him wedged in the chimney.

Gets Fellowship

Willard W. Rodgers, 27, of Albany, who teaches anthropology to inmates of San Quentin Prison, has been named of the first 15 national recipients of Martin Luther King Jr. fellowships given by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, it was announced yesterday.

Partly Stripped Stolen Car Found

Sheriff's deputies yesterday recovered a partly stripped stolen car on a fire trail near Bolinad and Ridgecrest roads on Mount Tamalpais.

The car, missing its carburetor and some other parts, was reported stolen Friday from Marshall William Leeds of San Francisco.

$15 Stolen From Purse In Vehicle

A total of $15 was taken from her purse left in her parked car yesterday in Homestead Valley, Bertha B. Clark of 12 Alvarado Street, Mill Valley, told sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Clark said she parked the car near Reed Street and Ethel Avenue to look at real estate, and returned to find her purse missing. She found the purse on the ground nearby but the money missing.

Motors Weak, Stock Market Shuts Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher in moderately heavy trading today.

Motors weakened near the close, with American Motors, Ford and General Motors taking fractional losses while Chrysler was unchanged. Metals, chemicals, and rails were higher.

Among actively traded issues, a number posted advances of more than a point.

Prices near the close included INA up 1⅛ at 40⅞; SCM up 2⅛ at 39¾; U.S. Steel unchanged at 40⅜; Chrysler up ⅛ at 69½; Southern Railway up 1¼ at 55⅛; Boeing off ⅛ at 55½; Jersey Standard off 1⅜ at 76⅞; Glen Alden off ⅝ at 14; Control Data off 2⅜ at 129½ and Raytheon up 2⅛ at 42½.

Brokers said the return of blue chip stocks to popularity was welcomed on the street while a continuing cognizance of inflationary aspects was a contributing factor to strength.

Trading opened briskly and mounted as the session aged.

Big block transactions in the forenoon included 154,500 shares of Witco Chemical; 149,000 of Boeing and 126,000 of SCM. As trading at the last climbed to head the most-active list by midafternoon, SCM was up 1¾ at 39⅛. Other more-than-a-point gainers included Ina Corp., up 1¼, Raytheon up 1⅝ and Dictaphone, up 1¾.

Motors showed little reaction to admonitions by President Lyndon Johnson that the industry restrain pricing increases. American and General Motors took fractional losses while Ford and Chrysler added ¼ each.

Aircrafts were easy. Electronics displayed strength, with utilities mixed and metals strong. Rails were higher and oils mixed.

American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher.

State's Economy Is Brighter: Spending, Employment Up

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — New advances in spending and employment carried California's economy to record high levels in July, Wells Fargo Bank has reported.

The bank's business index, which uses 1957-59 as base years of 100, rose to 206.3, four points higher than the previous month, and 10.6 per cent better than July 1967.

The July index for the U. S. as a whole was 184.5.

Spending in the state increased 3.5 per cent during July while employment climbed to 7.7 million. The unemployment rate stood at 4.7 per cent, marking the 10th consecutive month the jobless rate has been below the year-ago level.

The prospects for aerospace manufacturing and construction, two key segments of the state's economy, are encouraging, the bank reported.

Although defense employment fell in July, as it has generally since December, these job losses appear to be at an end.

Also indicative on an approaching turnabout are the backlog of commercial orders and the growing number of defense contracts awarded to California firms.

Construction activity has been staging a vigorous upswing since April. Residential construction accounts for all of the building gain in California, since nonresidential and heavy construction are below their year-ago levels.

Business activity in the northern half of the state moved upward in July to 205.9, compared to 203.3 the previous month. Despite the advance, the unemployment rate rose slightly from 4.9 per cent to 5.1 per cent.

The usual lull between spring and summer crops caused a drop in agricultural employment. In many areas, however, the cutback was less than previous years since many harvests are running 10 to 14 days earlier because of favorable weather.

Most agriculture related industries picked up in employment during July. Food processing activity boosted nondurable goods manufacturing payrools by 6.3 per cent.

Employment in transportation, communications and utilities was up 3 per cent as agricultural harvesting increased the demand for trucking and warehousing services.

The only major industry group to post a notable gain in jobs during July was durable goods manufacturing, which rose as a result of seasonal, peak labor requirements in sawmilling and lumbering.

There's Two Sides To Margin Buying

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What is meant by "margin" buying? Is it a wise practice and what are its advantages? I'm new to the market and would appreciate an explanation. — B. McP.

A. I'll be glad to give you one. Buying stocks on margin means that you put up part of the purchase price and the broker lends you the balance. The margin rate — or what you put up — is fixed by the Federal Reserve Board and at present is 80 per cent of a stock's cost. One advantage of margin buying is increased purchasing power and another is the resulting profit potential — which is larger than if you put up the entire cost.

The disadvantage — even danger — in the practice is related to a possible drop in the value of your purchase. If your stock declines too far you will be asked for more margin — cash or collateral — and if you can't put this up to support your account, you're sold out. There is also an interest charge on the unpaid balance of the loan which can prove quite costly over a period of time.

Q. May I please have your frank opinion of the Monthly Investment Plan? — N. P.

A. The Monthly Investment Plan is offered by certain brokerage houses which are member firms of the New York Stock Exchange. The plan permits you to buy a stock or stocks listed on that exchange by either monthly or quarterly payments as low as $40.

The advantages of the plan are (1) it encourages systematic saving; and (2) it enables you to acquire shares at an average price over a period of time which is called "dollar averaging."

Its only disadvantage is a relatively high commission charge on purchases of under $100 — plus the odd lot differential since MIP users are generally odd lot buyers. But this factor, in my opinion, is outweighed by the advantage of dollar averaging.

Beverly Hills Firm Announces Three Purchases

New Source

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping new housing act permits savings and loan associations to tap a major new source of business— mortgages on mobile homes. The associations, until now limited generally to a land and buildings diet in their lending, are delighted. Mobile homes already account for about 10 per cent of the housing units purchased each year.

Bank Magazine To Observe 60th Anniversary Soon

Western Banker, a financial and banking magazine in San Francisco serving the western states, will celebrate its 60th anniversary in October.

The magazine is owned, edited and published by Harry Lutgens of San Rafael, who purchased it in 1941. It was founded in 1908 by the late George P. Edwards as the Coast Banker.

Lutgens, former owner and publisher of the San Rafael Independent, now the Independent-Journal, changed the name of the magazine to Western Banker in 1946 and expanded its circulation into other western states besides California. Lutgens is the only living founder of the Redwood Empire Association from Marin County.

Thomas M. Gannon, also of San Rafael, is assistant publisher and advertising manager of Western Banker. His wife Peggy, Lutgens' daughter, is editorial assistant and circulation manager.

Production At New High, Bank Reports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Manufacturing in California reached a record high of $24.49 billion in August, the Bank of California reported today.

All major industries were above July levels. Production of transportation equipment reached a record high of $4.32 billion.

Bank figures indicated a 5 per cent increase in production of durable goods in the year to $16.1 billion. Production of nondurable goods increased 13.3 per cent to $8.39 billion.

Workers' earnings in most industries topped last year's levels, with factory workers earning slightly less than $3.50 an hour and the average work week close to 40 hours.

The bank's September forecast calls for an increase in durable production to $16.2 billion and nondurable production to $8.44 billion.

Personal Income Has Another Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income rose in August for the fourth straight month, the Commerce Department said today, climbing $5 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $694.3.

Wages and salaries make up the principal category, but personal income includes also the net income of self-owned businesses, dividends, interest, net rents collected by landlords and other types of individual income. Almost all share in the increase.

The annual rate for the first eight months of 1968 averaged $675.7 billion. This was up $54 billion, or nearly 9 per cent, from the comparable period of 1967—too large a jump to suit the administration, which is seeking to discourage inflation through the income tax surcharge.

Wage and salary payments in August climbed $3.5 billion to $468.8 billion. The increases in May and June topped $4 billion. The $3 billion July rise, while smaller was still substantial.

A $700 million rise in manufacturing payrolls to $146.7 billion was credited to higher hourly wages, since factory employment hardly changed and the average work week was shorter than in July.

Most of the rise in factory payrolls was centered in nondurable goods. Among durable goods manufacturers the picture was mixed. Hefty increases in the payrolls of machinery and electrical equipment manufacturers were partly offset by a cutback in transportation and primary metals, where heavy steel inventories are depressing production.

Temporary Reprieve From Vietnam Duty

HONOLULU (AP) — More than 250 mainland Army resrvists from throughout the United States have received a temporary reprieve from the possibility of being ordered to combat duty in Vietnam.

Army officials agreed yesterday not to ship out the men, who contend they were called to duty illegally last May and are being kept against their will at Schofield Barracks, until a federal court rules on their claim. No date for a hearing on their suit has been set.

The soldiers say they can't be recalled to active duty except during a national emergency.

Each of the reservists seeks $10,000 damages. The Army's action came in the wake of last Thursday's action by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas halting the pending transfer of 113 reservists from the Cleveland, Ohio, area.

The reservists at Schofield Barracks filed suit last week in Honolulu.

Bank Deposit Theft Reported

The manager of a Mill Valley market reported to sheriff's deputies Thursday that $831.75 he had placed in a bank night depository had been stolen.

Albert Gondolla, manager of the Top Hat Super Market, 383 Miller Avenue, said he deposited the money in a brown paper bag, along with $1,005 in checks, in the night depository of the Sierra National Bank, 101 Tiburon Boulevard, Alto, Sept. 7 at 2:30 p.m.

The bank reported to him on Sept. 10, he said, that the bag had been found torn open and that the checks were inside but there was no cash.

Peace March

The date of the proposed serviceman's peace march from the Panhandle of Golden Gate Park to the San Francisco City Hall is Oct. 12. Through a typographical error, it was listed as Oct. 2 in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Fiscal Panel For Schools Is Proposed

Supt. James G. Bunker last night recommended that the Novato Unified School District board appoint a citizens committee to advise the district on financial matters.

The committee could study school financial problems and the future financing of the building program, Bunker said, thus gaining community participation in school affairs.

The board postponed any action on the proposal until its Oct. 7 meeting.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

CONTRACT—Awarded a $13,363 contract to the American Seating Co. of San Francisco, lower of two bidders, for bleachers at the Sinaloa Junior High School and San Marin High School.

SINALOA — Accepted Sinaloa Junior High School as completed.

ATTENDANCE — Heard a report from Bunker that there were 11,558 students enrolled in the district this year, a 6 per cent increase over last year.

CAMPING — Approved an overnight camping program for grades 4, 5 and 6 in Samuel P. Taylor Park.

WATSON — Went on record as opposing Proposition 9 (Watson amendment) which will be on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. It would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of the true market value of the property.

Car Is Looted

Donald Pettit Wilson of Napa reported Friday that two dresses and a pair of shoes, valued at a total of $65, had been taken from his unlocked car while it was parked on Hubbell Court, San Rafael, police said.

Patients Ousted By Brush Smoke

Smoke from a brush fire caused the evacuation yesterday of 21 patients from the London Convalescent Home in Novato.

The fire burned a half-acre near Warner Creek on Tamalpais Avenue shortly after noon.

Sparks from the blaze fell on lawn furniture at the rest home at 830 Tamalpais Avenue. Fire Chief George Cavallero said the fire did not endanger the rest home.

The patients were evacuated from a wing, but permitted to return later. Match-wielding children were blamed for the brush fire.

Yard Setback Pleas Granted In Tiburon

Four variances, three from front yard setback requirements and one for a sideyard setback, were approved last night by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments, development administrator Phil V. Scott reported.

Front yard setbacks were approved for Arthur Nicolaisen at 130 Geldert Drive from 30 feet to 13.5 feet; George Sugarman's at 1879-1881 Mar West Street from 15 feet to three; The Menlo Construction Co. for the residence of S. M. Shapero at 188 Stewart Drive, from 30 to 14.5 feet.

A sideyard setback variance was granted to Donald MacDonald at 19 Tara Hill Road from 20 feet to 10 and 13 feet.

An application by David N. Sederquist to create two undersized lots on his property at 312 Hacienda Drive was continued pending an investigation into the history of the property's subdivision.

Sederquist wants to divide the 44,344 square foot parcel into two lots of 22,656 and 21,678 square feet, Scott said.

The board's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 21 in city hall.

Three Youths Hurt In Wreck

Three Marin youths were injured late Saturday when their pickup truck slammed into a utility pole and a tree on the Nicasio-San Geronimo Road, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Vincent William Luebbers, 16, of 200 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, was held overnight for observation at Marin General Hospital. James Letsos, 20, and Mathew Letsos, 16, both of 317 Bridgeway, Sausalito, were treated for scrapes at Marin General Hospital.

The patrol said Luebbers and Mathew Letsos were knocked unconscious in the crash and all three were thrown from the truck.

Yoga, Investments Offered Again

Courses in Yoga and investments will be offered again this fall by the Marin Jewish Community Center, according to Bernard Rosner, director.

A six-week course of instructions in Yoga will be given by Magana Baptiste, founder of the Yoga Institute of San Francisco, starting at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

An eight-session seminar in investments will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays beginning Sept. 26. Both classes will be held at the center, 200 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, and registrations may be made there.

Reckless Driving

Richard Paul Derham, 20, of Mill Valley, was given a suspended 90-day jail sentence and placed on three years probation Friday in Marin Municipal Court for reckless driving on Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, June 8.

Hub Planners Grant Art Shop Display

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night granted a conditional use permit to Hank Gauthier to display and sell paintings outside a proposed art shop at 111 Red Hill Avenue.

The permit is for a 90-day trial period, with a review scheduled at that time. It permits no more than four paintings to be displayed at one time.

The commission also granted the request of Cecil B. Norton to rezone property at 1437 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from single-family residence to two-family residence, and an application of Joseph J. Baumann Jr. to construct a carport with no side yard on front yard setback at 26 Vineyard Avenue.

Discussion of a proposed housing code to clean up substandard housing and provide standards necessary for certain federal and state funds was postponed until the next regular 8 p.m. meeting Oct. 7. The city has no housing code.

Guilty Plea On Credit Card Fraud

Barbara Jean Lane, 34, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor charge of fraudulent use of a credit card July 25 in San Rafael.

Felony charges of forgery and possessing stolen property were dismissed. Mrs. Lane was ordered to appear Sept. 27 for sentencing.

Cells Searched For Weapons

A cell-by-cell search to uncover dangerous weapons was completed yesterday at San Quentin Prison as officials investigated the persons responsible for weekend violence among Mexican-American inmates.

"Shaking down" every cell in the institution, no large caches of arms were discovered, prison officials said today. Homemade knives, pieces of metal and a scissor-half were found Sunday after the fatal stabbing of Archie Gallego and the injuring of eight other men.

Several inmate suspects, placed in disciplinary segregation after the incident, will be taken before disciplinary courts in their housing units this week and will appear before the prison's disciplinary board next week when the investigation is completed.

Antiwar Soldier Gets Two Years In Prison

A 20-year-old soldier from Florida — one of nine servicemen who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar demonstration in a Marin City church in July — was sentenced yesterday to two years in a federal penitentiary.

Charles Jones of Fernandina Beach pleaded guilty in a general court-martial at the Presidio of San Francisco to charges of desertion and disobeying a lawful order, according to Army spokesmen.

In addition to the prison sentence, Jones was given a dishonorable discharge.

Army officials said that the maximum sentence for desertion is eight years in prison but that Jones cited "mitigating circumstances," saying that he objected to war. A former Sunday school and high school teacher of his from Florida testified that he had been a conscientious and good student in high school.

Army officials said that Jones, in addition to deserting, refused to obey orders to carry out cleanup chores while a prisoner in the Presidio stockade.

Two other servicemen have been sentenced who were also arrested in Marin City. Marine Pfc. John Robinson of Westport, Conn. was given six months at hard labor and a bad conduct discharge and Air Force Sgt. Oliver V. Hirsch of Allentown, Pa., was given an undesirable discharge from the service.

Two more men, Dale Herrin, 20, of Garland, Tex., and Steve Anderson, 17, of Las Vegas, Nev. were scheduled to be tried today.

Paul Howard, 21, of Roy, Utah, will be tried Thursday, Keith Mather, 21, of San Bruno, Friday; George Dounis, 23, Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 25, and Steve Anderson, 17, Las Vegas, Nev., Sept. 26.

No Ballot Fuss Against $10.9 Million Tam Bonds

No ballot argument was submitted against the $10.9 million bond measure for new high school construction in the Tamalpais Union High School District, the county elections department said yesterday.

The only argument submitted by Friday's deadline was a favorable one by the district's board of trustees. It will be included in sample ballots to be mailed to all registered voters in the district.

The measure would provide $4,495,372 for a new school in San Geronimo; $6,272,888 for a new school in Tiburon; $953,250 at Tamalpais High School; $219,145 at Sir Francis Drake High School, and $109,368 at Redwood High School. The expenditures include furniture, equipment and instructional materials.

These amounts total $12,050,023, and the difference between this total and the $10.9 million bond would be met by district reserves.

Overcrowding at the three existing schools, according to the trustees' argument, "threatens the education of our children." Over 6,000 students "are squeezed into classrooms intended for less than 5,400," it states, adding that "double sessions cannot be avoided much longer."

The classroom shortage will double in three years, it adds.

Each year's delay allows inflating building costs to rise $1 million more for the same classrooms, according to the argument.

The bonds would be paid off over the next 25 years, if approved by the necessary two-thirds majority vote in their favor.

Victim Of Stab Wound Released

Leonard Smith, 40, of 830 B Street, San Rafael, was released from Marin General Hospital Sunday after treatment or a stab wound to the stomach, suffered during a fight over a gambling debt early Saturday, sheriff's deputies said today.

Smith told officers he was stabbed while in the parking lot at the Oak Tree bar, near Sausalito, by a San Francisco man known only as Jim.

Guilty Plea By Preston To Kidnaping

Kenneth Allen Preston, already facing death at San Quentin for the Jan. 12 murders of a Santa Venetia couple, pleaded guilty to kidnaping and was sentenced to 1-25 years in prison in Sonoma County Superior Court yesterday.

In return for the guilty plea, Sonoma County Dist. Atty. Kiernan Hyland dismissed charges of murder and rape lodged against the 20-year-old Santa Rosan.

Preston had been charged in the Oct. 7 slaying of junior college student Charles L. Kaufmann, 19, and the kidnap and rape of Kaufmann's 19-year-old date in Santa Rosa.

Hyland said yesterday he did not believe he could prove charges of murder or rape against Preston, a member of Santa Rosa's Grim Reapers motorcycle gang.

"Mr. Preston was really a spectator to the murder," Hyland said. "The people have no evidence and I believe there is no evidence to implicate him in the murder."

Furthermore, Kaufmann's date was unable to identify any of the men who allegedly raped her, Hyland said.

The district attorney mentioned that, during Preston's penalty trial in Marin, Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court told the jury that, on the basis of evidence presented, Preston could not be conviced of the Kaufmann murder.

Preston, who looked pale and thin and complained yesterday of the lack of sunshine on Death Row, was sentenced to 1-25 years for kidnaping the girl along with other gang members.

The youth was brought to court under heavy guard this morning for what was to be a brief hearing before the beginning of his murder trial, scheduled for tomorrow.

His parents sat in court as Preston, dressed in a blue blazer, red-checked shirt and charcoal gray pants, offered his soft-voiced guilty plea.

He told his attorney, Dennis Keegan of Santa Rosa, that he wanted to return to Death Row right away.

He said they were feeding and treating him well and his only complaint was that he was so pale because he got no sunshine on the row, according to Keegan.

Preston was convicted in Marin of the killings of Curtis and Shirley Ackley in their Santa Venetia house trailer.

Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, president of the Grim Reapers, is on trial for the double murder in Marin Superior Court today. Sommerhalder is also scheduled for trial on the charge that he fired the shots that killed Kaufmann in Santa Rosa Oct. 7.

Another Grim Reaper, Jack Brockman, has been convicted of first degree murder in the shooting of Kaufmann and is awaiting sentencing in Santa Rosa.

DESIGNER FASHIONS for fall and winter include the Nina Ricci wool flannel skirted pantdress for evening, at left. Silver trim highlights pockets and neckline and sliced skirt reveals gray flannel pants. Above, swirling print dramatizes a comfortable naked wool dress by Jeunesse for holiday hostessing or "castle hopping." The modified tent style has a softly draped funnel neckline.

COSTUMED VARIETY FOR RIGHT NOW

Designer Feraud uses a peasant influence for his long sleeved black flannel dress at left and carries it out with yellow rick-rack trim and wide yellow belt. Yellow turtleneck jersey finishes the costume. At right Ungaro follows soft contours in a pastel green coat of wool crepe with regency-styled collar. Free-form button trimmed pocket flaps and cuffs lend softness and a futuristic touch.

Egyptian Women Complain

By AHMED SHAWKI

CAIRO (AP) — Bitter criticism from Egyptian women has blocked least for the time being, passage of a new law on marriage, divorce and Polygamy by the National Assembly.

The proposed legislation provoked sharp conflict between Egyptian feminists and conservative sheikhs of Islam over the past two years since the law was first submitted to the assembly. The parliament was supposed to have the final word, but the assembly, an almost all-male body, thus far evaded a decision.

At odds are two minorities of present-day Egypt. On one hand are the handful of modern-minded, articulate and well-educated women who are waging a determined campaign for "equal rights." On the other are the highly-conservative orthodox sheikhs, the Moslem world's rough equivalent of Biblical fundamentalists, who staunchly resist any change in centuries-old custom.

UNDER PRESSURE of the times, and changes inherent in an expanding urban society where women frequently earn their own living, the sheikhs now seem willing to accept a moderate revision of old customs, but no more. They say they will not accept anything which violates the spirit of the Koran.

The feminists are demanding an end to polygamy and easy divorce. They also demand the right for a wife to seek a divorce, and repeal of a current law on compulsory cohabitation binding on wives.

According to the sharia, a Moslem can marry up to four wives. He can divorce a wife simply by telling her she is through. The traditional ritual is for the husband to proclaim, "I divorce thee," repeating the sentence three times.

The sharia also says that wives cannot demand a divorce unless such a privilege has been written into the marriage contract.

AS THE LEGISLATIVE head of the committee which proposal now stands, a divorce could only be granted if it is proclaimed before two witnesses and before the "ma'zoun," or marriage broker. The draft law would also give wives the right to seek a divorce when they have "reasonable evidence" to support a claim.

Sheikh Farrag Sanhoury, revised the sharia laws, said he has been studying the old laws during the past five years for the sake of revising them to "please women." He reiteriated, "But, of course, without deviation from the spirit of Islam."

COMMENTING ON the demand that divorce should only be granted by a judge in a court, Sanhoury said, "this is not practical . . . most of the Egyptian villages have no courts . . . you want them to travel 100 miles to secure a divorce."

A housewife retorted, "why not . . . we want to make it difficult for men."

Women also demanded the abolishment of the laws of "Beit El Taa" or compulsory cohabitation which forces a wife to return to her husband's home by police order.

To this effect the former minister of justice, Essam Hassouna, submitted a law abolishing Beit El Taa to the parliament. Two years has elapsed and the law has not yet been approved.

However, on Hassouna's orders, the police stopped forcing women to go to their husbands. The police only ask the wife to go to her husband peacefully.

IN THE MEANTIME, Egyptian Christians might also be a third party in the existing conflict.

Egyptian Christians, mostly Copts, submit to very strict orthodox laws controlling divorce. According to official records many Copts converted into Islam for the sole purpose of divorcing their wives.

According to the revised sharia laws anyone seeking conversion into Islam will pass a tough religious examination and it sets a two year limit before the convert could exercise Moslem civil laws.

UNGARO AND CARDIN

The Modern School Of Paris Fashion

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—Emanual Ungaro's ittybitty bikini dress is not so much hard to wear as just plain hardware.

The two-piece evening dress Ungaro showed was made of silver metal worked in a scroll pattern that curved across the bosom, curling up to cover only the essentials.

Its metal skirt encased the wearer like a modern chastity belt, framing the model's well-tanned abdomen in more scrollwork.

The outfit, invulnerable to everything except laughter and snide comments, was part of the increasing trend towards symbols of violence and feminine aggression which were the latest shock tactics of the avant-garde fashion world.

Pierre Cardin, who showed one of the most dramatically pretty collections in Paris Friday, accessorized his curvy, thigh-high mini-dresses with over-the-elbow gloves and leg-covering boots in black patent leather.

The gloves, which widened out at the biceps, had particularly sinister connotations.

Both Cardin and Ungaro are in what could be called the "modern school" of Paris fashion but fortunately both also believe in the pretty softness espoused by the rest of French couture.

Neither expects their customers to go around looking like Amazons all or even most of the time.

Ungaro was serious about his metal work bra and fabric bermudas hung from a low curving metal hip yoke, even though his metal skirt seemed more than a little bit tongue-in-cheek.

But he also shows a charming white minidress with big white plastic flowers appliqued on silver-beaded organdy and an adorable one-piece bloomer shorts suit in red and white under a white mini-mink belted with red-appliqued flowers.

His daytime clothes please rather than shock with their simplicity, melting colors and some of the newest fabrics in Paris.

Cardin's line was so pretty generally that one almost forgot by the end of the collection that he had ever shown anything aggressive.

It introduced, among other things, the use of an exciting new yarn which allows fabric to be molded into three-dimensional patterns.

The yarn, made from dynel and produced by Union Carbide, allows dresses to be stamped out rather than sewn and mass produced in large quantities. The dresses are expected to be on the market within months at prices beginning at about $20.

Kooky Mail Comes To Light As Helen Tells In Reader Response

DEAR HELEN:

I know you get some kooky mail, as I've read it in your column. But I bet you get even kookier questions you don't print. How about sharing some with — YOUR EVER LOVIN' READERS

DEAR E. L. READERS:

How about these:

Dear Helen: If you grow your fingernails to an inch long, will a cosmetic company pay you $100 for it?

I called the cosmetic company and the man said "No!" He sounded pretty skeptical when I told him I was a columnist.

Dear Helen: Will group health insurance pay for an unwed pregnancy in the family?

Usually not unless the pregnant one is the "head of the household" who pays the premiums, but you'd better check with your agent. (Again, the company I called didn't believe I was a columnist.)

Dear Helen: I heard you can tell which sex your unborn baby is by holding a plumb bob over your stomach. If it swings in a circle, it's a girl; back and forth, it's a boy. True?

False.

Dear Helen: My ouija board is different. It asks us the questions, and some of them are hilarious, some just too too personal. What should we do?

Take the fifth, and I don't mean from a bottle.

Dear Helen: Do highly spiced foods make a girl more easy to persuade?

Not unless she washes them down with highly spiked drinks.

Dear Helen: Will standing on your head cure hiccoughs?

Surely there must be an easier way.

Dear Helen: Is it true that if you fight a lot before marriage, your marriage will be peaceful?

Not so's you could notice it!

Dear Helen: Do you believe in premarital interdigitation?

What's wrong with holding hands?

Dear Helen: My grandmother won't let me sweep dust out the back door. She says it "sweeps your riches away." Please explain.

It's an ancient superstition, probably originated by a husband who didn't like to clean up a messy back yard.

Dear Helen: Should you marry an opposite so you won't be bored by sameness?

Sexwise, yes. Otherwise, not too "opposite."

Dear Helen: Is it true that if a married couple sleeps under pine trees they're more apt to have a big family?

Nope, but it does sound romantic, doesn't it?

Dear Helen: If you have a childhood romance and then marry, will the marriage flop because you know each other too well?

Not if you marry for love and not for habit.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Changing Status Of Maid

NEW YORK (AP) — Finding a good maid nowadays is considered by many women to be a harder task than finding a good man. And if home economist Mary Louise Bopp has her way, soon you won't be able to find a "Maid" at all.

"I'd like to abolish the word 'maid' (referring to a household worker, from our vocabulary. It's a low status word and it doesn't even properly describe the duties of a trained household worker. In our company, we call them domestic technicians," says the pert, thirtyish director of training for Household Management, Inc. This New York agency is one of seven federally funded programs under a U. S. Department of Labor pilot project that will invest $1.5 million in an effort to upgrade household employment.

"One of the program's major objectives," explains Mrs. Bopp, "is to change the existing attitudes of both employers and employees — to erase the old master-servant stereotypes. That's why we insist that employers call the women 'Miss' or 'Mrs.', rather than by their first name." This fact and other problems often encountered in household employment are thrashed out in a series of HMI seminars which every prospective employer is required to attend.

IN ORDER TO bolster the students' sense of self-worth, the HMI 10-week training program includes a daily class in self improvement and orientation. In addition to the beauty and physical fitness instruction they receive from outside experts, the students practice public speaking and participate in discussions which aim to acquaint them with the attitudes, perspectives and living patterns they will encounter in various households.

"For example," says Mrs. Bopp, "We teach the students how to prepare at least two basic foods for each nationality. This way they have a general idea of basic national cooking patterns. And if the home where the student is ultimately placed expects only standard American fare, she can surprise the family with an unusual dish they otherwise might never have tasted."

Food preparation, however, is just one skill development subject covered in the 6 hour a day, 5 day a week, 10 week curriculum which will be given four times in the course of a year to approximately 100 students. The 12 weeks remaining under the one year grant will be devoted to evaluation of the program.

A TYPICAL DAY at HMI's brightly decorated training headquarters which contains all the rooms, furniture, fabrics and appliances one could possibly find in a home, starts at 8:30 a.m. The 24 students ranging in age from 17 to 64, are attired in identical yellow uniforms. They listen attentively as health and beauty consultant Elsie Archer demonstrates the proper techniques of lifting and bending. Then follows a half hour orientation period — the subject today is the deductions an employe can expect to have taken out of her pay. After that the class moves into the kitchen-dining area.

"If you were organizing a kitchen, where would you put the glasses?" asks one of the two full-time home economist teachers on the staff of 12. Purchasing food, managing money and making decisions in the home are other topics covered in this broad class titled household management.

The afternoon session begins in the pastel nursery where small groups of students practice bathing "Daisy," a doll. (Instruction is also given on care of the elderly). After a lesson in bed-making, the class moves into the laundry.

"The cleaning and laundering class in particular presents an opportunity to upgrade the students' vocabulary," comments Mrs. Bopp. "We try to teach them everyday words such as "washability" and "permapress" — words they will need to recognize if they are to be competent substitute homemakers."

After the first month, the daily classroom instruction is supplemented by actual work experience in a home, nursing home or child's day care center. This on-the-job training accounts for 90 hours of the 300 hour program. Students are paid for any work in excess of two hours a day. Cooperating employers fill out critiques which aid in planning subsequent classroom training.

"THIS SPIRIT of professionalism is what we are aiming for in the training program," says Edward Blackoff, HMI's president. "But worker professionalism isn't going to raise the status of the new household technician if she's paid only $66 a week, (today's average salary). What HMI and the government would like to establish is a higher basic salary — $80 a week plus an additional $8 a week in benefits, including a two-week paid vacation, hospitalization and unemployment insurance."

To accomplish this, HMI, the only private agency involved in the federally funded project, will itself be the employer and subcontract its trained employes out to homemakers in need of their services. Thus, says Blackoff, who previously directed a national chain of employment agencies that specialized in domestic employment, "all graduates of the program will be put on our payroll and placed in a job. And even if no work is available, the women will continue to receive salaries and other fringe benefits."

But Blackoff is confident that his trained domestic specialists won't lack for employment — not in today's world where so many women are longing to return to work provided they can find competent household help.

This same confidence in the future is echoed by the students, several of whom had found it impossible to find a job just two short months ago.

"I was afraid to look for a job even though I had been a cook around Boston 20 years ago before I got married," said Mrs. Lee O'Brien, 52. "I needed the work, my husband had had a stroke, but I thought I was too old to learn a new field. Then I read the newspaper ad and was interviewed three times before being accepted. This program has taken me out of myself," says the smiling student. "I was in a shell, afraid to go out. Now I know I can do something."

Remove Belts

When packing trousers, remove belts. They'll take less space that way and be neater.

Nehru Jackets

This year when you spot a man on a college campus wearing a tunic, it's a safe bet that he isn't an exchange student from Bombay. And rather than a locker key dangling from a cord around his neck, he is apt to be wearing either love beads or a pendant. That tunic? It's a Nehru jacket.

Paint Your Automobile In Keeping With Mood

This is the fall to let your automobile be a most important fashion accessory, to even reflect your political view and personality! People don't stare anymore when they see an auto beautifully painted in a floral or animal motif (Donkey or elephant or — ?).

Instead of seeing cars in the usual assortment of rainbow hues, you'll view many painted to express individuality — and intellect.

Seen in a metropolitan city: A tweed painted auto; a glen plaid car; a polka dotted one.

A pattern of lips and gleaming teeth all over stethoscopes, capsules and medicine bottles from stem to stern; scales of justice splashed on car.

There's no limit to the possibilities. Why not . . .

Poets with cars decorated in free verse; musicians in autos decorated with whole, half, quarter and other notes.

Fashion, as it must to all things, comes to the auto and its worshippers.

Low Calorie Sauce

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 17, the 261st day of 1968 with 105 remaining.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1787, the U.S. Constitution was completed at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia and signed by a majority of the 55 delegates.

In 1796, President Washington delivered his farewell address and warned the American people to avoid foreign alliances.

In 1939, Russia invaded Poland in World War II.

In 1962, nine new American astronauts were named to train for moon flights.

A thought for the day—British philosopher Bertrand Russell said: "A good society is a means to a good life for those who compose it; not something having an excellence on its own account."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Avoid Displaying Emotion Over Hand; See What Happened Here

My good friend Eddy Kantar, bridge champion, teacher and writer, gets emotional over bridge hands. He mopes over one that he didn't bid or play to perfection, and rejoices over a hand that he got the most out of. Kantar set a new mark for emotion last month at the national tournament in Mimmeapolis.

SUBDUED TONE

Kantar picked up the South hand during the national team championship and bid two clubs in a subdued tone of voice to show a game-forcing hand. When North made the negative response of two diamonds, Kantar jumped to four no trump This was the method he and his partner had agreed upon to show this kind of hand.

The restraint was, however, too much for Kantar's emotional nature. As he bid four no trump his belt burst under the strain. Panic-stricken by this development, Kantar dropped his cards on the table as he reached to steady his trousers.

FINAL CONTRACT

Alas, the cards fell face up on the table, and Kantar's partner saw most of the hand. The tournament director, hastily summoned to give a broken-belt ruling, informed the players that North would have to pass at his next turn. Since nobody felt like bidding against Kantar's 29 points, his bid for four no trump became the final contract.

MAKES 12 TRICKS

Kantar won the first diamond, led the ace of spades and then switched to clubs. After giving up one club trick, Kantar discovered that his nine of diamonds was good. He needed nothing else for 12 tricks.

Oddly enough, the hand was a triumph for Kantar even though he missed the slam. At the other table of the match an opponent bid seven spades with that lovely South hand. Down one. Kantar's team scored 690 for three no trump with three overtricks and an additional 100 points for beating seven spades.

Obviously, Lady Luck has her ways of regarding honest emotion.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠—None
♥—J 10 8 6 3 2
♦—8 6 3 2
♣—Q 6 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. This jump promises strong trump support, with a maximum of 9 points in high cards and a side void or singleton. You have a ghastly hand in high cards, but you must jump to four hearts as much to shut the opponents out as with any hope of making the contract.

ART REVIEW

Black Is The Bag In Sausalito Show

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Artist Bruce Birmelin has a black hang-up. With the exception of one canvas, the paintings and drawings in his show through Sunday at Lowell Colbus, 579 Bridgeway in Sausalito, are never without it.

In fact, some of the larger works are black on black and little more, lending a startling background for the sprinkling of shapes and lines that do emerge.

The whole effect is one of cold disassociation. The vapor-like lines and white or pastel shapes he does use are unlike anything with which you might struggle to relate them. They are disconnected and out of touch with any emotional link with the viewer. So while they are strangely, even curiously different, they are not altogether provocative.

What Birmelin's larger paintings do have is sophistication. What they lack is mystery which seems odd, as he gives you similar smaller works which have it all.

One of his works is a freely worked mixture of gouache, pencil and other things which the artist combines into shapes that are intriguing. Another, a small print, draws equal attention with its two, thin, intricately detailed white shapes in total black.

Birmelin also shows several nudes from a clear, lean-lined drawing to others where their suggested forms emerge from subtle, murky depths. In each of them there is a sense of discovery that is quite satisfying.

It's almost as though something is lost in the translation from drawings, prints and smaller paintings into work on a larger scale. But while Birmelin keeps you at a distance with his strange, dispassionate style, at least he doesn't compromise.

His bag is black and even if most viewers fail to understand or appreciate the why of it, Birmelin paints with a confidence that shows at least he does.

$6.1 Million Tiburon High Plans Reviewed

Tamalpais High School District Board last night gave tentative approval of schematic drawings of a Tiburon high school, estimated to cost $6.1 million for its 800-student first stage.

Architect George Banning reviewed plans for the 50-acre school on the hill. Only half of the school site's acreage may be built upon, he said.

Only entrance and exit to the school at 59 Belveron Gardens will be from Trestle Glen Boulevard, over a road running the length of the site.

The school will be built on three elevations, with two going for athletic fields and one for the buildings, Banning said.

The buildings, mostly two story, will be built close together because of the area's sometimes harsh weather, he said. The central building will be built around a courtyard, something like a square donut, he said.

In the first stage, the courtyard will be bound only on three sides. When the school is expanded for its planned capacity of 1,500 students, the courtyard will be closed with the addition of a fourth wing, he said.

The board approved the plans but said they are subject to further review by the board, administration and the district's educational specifications committee.

The first stage of the high school would be built with some of the funds of the district's $10.9 million bond issue, to be sought at the November general election.

Trustee Mrs. Joseph B. Wallace said last night the Independent-Journal unfairly placed the bond issue in jeopardy by pointing out that the district's budget this year would require a tax rate nine cents above the district's maximum operating fund tax of $1.90, if the district had computed its anticipated tax revenues on the same basis as the county auditor-controller.

County Auditor Michael Mitchell, when he gave the $1.99 figure, was computing the tax on the basis of 90 per cent of the district's assessed valuation, as he is required to do by law, said Business Director Frank A. Cassou.

If taxes are paid on 95 per cent of the district's assessed valuation, as the district administration calculated the budget will be met with a $1.90 tax rate, Cassou said.

Battery Case Hearing Held

One Novato man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court and another was to be arraigned today on charges stemming from a reported attack in a San Rafael restaurant Friday night.

Robert Joseph Mattoos, 36, of 1504 McClay Road, was arraigned on a charge of interfering with an officer and was to appear in court again Monday.

George Kover Jr., 25, of 1040 Sixth Street, was to be arraigned today on a charge of battery against Claudia Elizabeth Gallagher, 33, of 412 Jewell Street, San Rafael.

She told San Rafael police Kover entered the Taberna Restaurant and hit her in the mouth four or more times. She signed a battery complaint against Kover. San Rafael police arrested Mattoos in connection with the same incident.

Meeting Changed

The San Rafael Sanitation District board will meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday in city hall instead of 5 p.m. Thursday as originally scheduled.

HITCHHIKING BY STUDENTS BRINGS ALARM

Perhaps the students of the Tamalpais High School District should be getting some instruction in the dangers of hitchhiking, district trustee Mrs. Joseph B. Wallace suggested last night.

Mrs. Wallace said she has seen several hitchhiking students recently, including some handicapped students who had missed their morning rides to school.

She recalled picking up one girl:

"I told her I was picking her up because I wanted her to stop this hitchhiking. I told her I really cared about her. She said she cares about herself, too, and tries to pick the cars she sticks out her thumb at.

"It just made me heartsick to think that this little girl might pick the wrong car someday," she said.

Sea Ranch Beach Vote Is Ordered

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The California Supreme Court ruled yesterday that the voters should decide whether developers of the vast Sea Ranch property must provide public access to beaches in Sonoma County.

The court order came after the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors refused to place the public access initiative on the Nov. 5 ballot, even though a petition for such action contained enough signatures.

The measure would guarantee access to public beaches along the 10.5-mile coastal frontage and provide that when coastal lands are developed further, the county must designate public access corridors at intervals of no more than a mile.

In rejecting the petition, supervisors said the matter was an improper subject for a ballot initiative. The access involved zoning, the board said, and should go through the county planning commission.

The court order, signed by Chief Justice Roger J. Traynor and Justices Marshall F. McComb, Matthew O. Tobriner and Stanley Mosk, said the access question was a "proper subject for initiative process."

Railroad Pleads Loss Of Money

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Southern Pacific says it is losing $4,800 a day operating Cascade trains between Oakland and Portland, Ore.

The complaint was made today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on an SP application to discontinue the trains.

The loss per year amounts to $1.75 million, said Southern Pacific Traffic Manager Robert M. Jochner.

Trains carrying 35-man crews have about 95 passengers on both northbound and southbound runs, he said.

Quick Park Land Settlement Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Quick settlement of claims for new Redwood National Park lands is necessary if the economies of Humboldt and Del Norte counties are not to be adversely affected, the California Redwood Association said yesterday.

Philip T. Farnsworth, executive director of the industrial trade group, said the recently passed park bill involved "an unnecessarily large area" of commercial forest land.

TEBALDI ON STAGE

Opera Diva Callas Takes Spotlight At Met Opener

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera opened its 84th season last night with an old-fashioned—you could add mildewed—opera, and memories of an old rivalry between prima donnas.

Renata Tebaldi sang the title role in Francesco Cilea's "Adriana Lecouvreur." It's an opera hopelessly complicated and intrigue-filled, with broad romantic melodies like Viennese operetta songs, not very exciting and not very musical in between.

The four principal singers all sang in the opera the last time it was done at the Met, six seasons ago. Franco Corelli looked dashing and ringingly sang the part Enrico Caruso sang the first time the Met did "Adriana Lecouvreur," on opening night in 1907.

Irene Dalis and Anselmo Colzani both sang well and made laudable attempts to act.

Maria Callas attended the performance—her first time inside the Met at Lincoln Center—bringing back memories of her long, celebrated "feud" with Tebaldi.

Echoes of those by-gone days were heard just before the curtain went up, when shouts of "Brava Maria" reverberated against shouts of "Brava Renata."

(Callas, long absent from the American operatic stage, has hinted of a return next year in a San Francisco production and also a return performance in Dallas, Tex.)

But Callas's voice was nearly gone the last time she sang at the Met, in 1964, and Tebaldi, though singing better than she did the last time she did "Adriana Lecouvreur" here, does not have the voice she once had.

At this opening night, her pianissimo was lovely and true. When she sang louder, it was grainy, like a photograph enlarged and showing its imperfections. And some of her high notes were flat, especially in the early part of the evening.

The sets and staging were the same as in 1962-63. Costumes were borrowed from the Rome Opera.

Fausto Cleva conducted.

The audience rather went along with the "return to the past" tone of the evening, being conservatively dressed. Fewer bare shoulders were seen than usual, though the evening was balmy; fewer chandelier earrings, and fewer flamboyant experiments in costume were noted, in favor of more traditional evening garb.

Concert Is Scheduled By Baller, Rejto

Adolph Baller, pianist, and Garbor Rejto, cellist, will play a program of sonatas in their sixth annual scholarship benefit concert at Dominican College at 8 p.m. Sept. 24 in Angelico Hall, San Rafael.

The concert will be played in memory of Maurice Wilk, their late colleague of the Alma Trio. Proceeds will replenish the Wilk Music Scholarship Fund, which is awarded annually by Dominican College to two young musicians.

The program will include Bach's Sonata in G Major; Brahms' Sonata in F Major, Opus 99; Kodaly's Sonata, Opus 4, and Beethoven's Sonata, Opus 5, No. 2 in G Minor.

Baller, a concert artist and former accompanist for Yehudi Menuhin, is a member of the faculty at Dominican College, where he is teaching a class in piano and chamber music in addition to teaching advanced piano students.

Rejto, who heads the string department at the University of Southern California, is a former pupil of Pablo Casals in Spain and France. Both have performed in Budapest and were personal friends of the late Zoltan Kodaly.

To Juvenile Court

James Hardy Jr., 18 of Marin City, was certified to juvenile court yesterday for handling of charges against him of burglary and possessing marijuana July 30 in San Rafael.

Strolling Singer

Juan Gomez, Mexican singer and guitarist who appears nightly at El Bandito in San Francisco, will stroll through the Town and Country Shopping Center at Strawberry Thursday and Friday starting at 3 p.m. He will sing classical Mexican songs.

Ross Joins Planned Suit Over Books

Ross School District trustees voted last night to join antitrust action in the sale of $376,000 in children's library books to Marin schools and the county library.

The suit has been proposed by Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney. He said overcharges by a group of the nation's largest publishers might run as high as 20 per cent.

Trustees also discussed Proposition 9, the property tax initiative sponsored by Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson, but took no action. The measure would place a limit of 1 per cent on the use of property taxes for welfare and education, shifting their support to increased income and sales taxes.

District Supt. Robert D. Gowan said he sought no action on the measure.

Kosher Meals Set For Jewish Soldiers

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army said today Jewish soldiers in South Vietnam will get traditional kosher meals on the Jewish New Year and Day of Atonement Sept. 23 and Oct. 2.

In the northern provinces 600 frozen kosher TV dinners were obtained by the Da Nang chaplain's office and the Jewish Welfare Board. The Army said similar preparations have been made in the rest of Vietnam.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Public's Right To Know And Perversion Of Law

The fight to keep the public's business public never ends.

No jurisdiction is too small to have its potential little dictators, who would like to keep everything nice and quiet so the voters won't know what they're doing.

Virtually without exception, they declare with straight faces that they're only trying to protect the public. And because people have short memories, and too few have really studied history, quite a few actually believe them.

THE LATEST CASE in point involves application of the Bagley Public Records Act.

We applauded in this space the act, written by San Rafael's Assemblyman William T. Bagley with San Francisco Sen. Milton Marks as co-author. We gave Gov. Ronald Reagan a pat on the back for signing it.

The act declares, in plain words: "In enacting this chapter, the Legislature, mindful of the right of individuals to privacy, finds and declares that access to information concerning the conduct of the people's business is a fundamental and necessary right of every citizen of this state."

OVER AT DIXON, in Solano County, the mayor, administrator, city attorney and some of the councilmen apparently didn't read that part. Mayor Roy Elf last week introduced a resolution which would turn the Bagley Public Records Act into a gag law.

The act says: "Public records are open to inspection at all times." But it includes a list of exceptions, designed to cover matters which, under some circumstances, may legitimately be withheld from public view. It does not say any of these must or should be kept closed; it merely does not require they be open.

Whoever wrote the resolution over in Dixon took this list and added some embroidery to broaden it so that it would cover all police matters and all complaints or accidents involving city personnel or equipment. Then it went on to say that any city employee disclosing any of these things would be subject to disciplinary action.

MAYOR ELF AND SOME of his city councilmen claimed this was just spelling out what had been done all along.

We hope not. Dixon is, after all, in the United States of America, where a public employee does not put his job on the line by giving the public information to which it is entitled.

We don't know Mayor Elf, so we'll just assume he didn't know any better.

ASSEMBLYMAN BAGLEY was quite upset when he heard what's going on in Dixon. He enlisted the aid of the League of California Cities to head off such nonsensical interpretation of the law.

We wouldn't rely too heavily on the League of California Cities. It has not been noted as a protector of the public's right to know. Most of the fighting in that line has been done by the newspapers, and by the many public officials who are cognizant of their moral obligations to the citizenry.

THE RESOLUTION will be up for adoption by the Dixon City Council at 5 p.m. Sept. 24. We'll be interested in learning what happens. Maybe by then Mayor Elf and his fellow councilmen will realize they've hornswoggled themselves or been hornswoggled by somebody else who wants to be dictator of Dixon.

Dictators thrive on secrecy. But it kills democracy.

Taylor Park—Still Nice

To our way of thinking, September and October are usually the most pleasant months to visit Taylor Park for an afternoon or evening picnic. Our purpose in going is largely to enjoy the primitive setting and botanic beauty of this redwood park.

For us, this is best enjoyed with a minimum of people, radios, pets and autos. Most days now the park is almost empty, yet there is still some lovely weather ahead.

If you want Taylor Park mostly to yourself, try it now.

If You Want To Cycle On Bridge, Better Try Walking Over First

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A walk on the west side of the Golden Gate Bridge is a walk on the wild side.

This reporter was out on the west sidewalk Thursday — a typically foggy and windy day — and promptly thought of bicyclists' demands that they be allowed to cycle across the bridge on the same sidewalk.

The width of the walkway varies from five to 10 feet, but even the widest sections felt narrow as we tried to find a comfortable middle ground between the fog and wind on one side, and the high-speed traffic on the other.

To add to the general feeling of insecurity, the walkway has a noticeable springiness as vehicles pass.

IF A PEDESTRIAN of moderate surefootedness feels uneasy there, how will it be for a cyclist? Experienced cyclists may have no difficulty, but there are no plans to give each a proficiency test before he pays his dime to cycle across the bridge.

A sign assuring cyclists they cross at their own risk hardly would suffice — they also would be crossing at some risk to motorists if they land in the roadway.

The staff of the bridge and highway district is drawing plans now to accommodate cyclists, and only the cost may kill the proposal. Preliminary estimates before the district directors ordered the plans drawn were $35,000 to $40,000.

The cyclists' champion on the bridge board, John E. Dearman of San Francisco, is itching to win approval of the expenditure — after all, he just bought a 10-speed bicycle.

Its approval, however, still is uncertain. Other bridge district directors fear the expense even more than the possible danger.

IT IS NO coincidence that a one-way toll collection system now will be tried on the Golden Gate Bridge after nine years of discussion.

There's a new general manager, Dale W. Luehring of Mill Valley, and a fresh wind is blowing at the bridge.

An important detail of the 90-day test of the system, to begin Oct. 19, is that commute book sales will start during the last five days of the month during the test, with new tickets valid during those five days, too. Luehring hopes this will reduce delays during the peak sales that occur on the first day of each month.

Another improvement is Luehring's successful juggling of a 10th northbound toll gate in the evening rush hours. It has shaved at least five minutes off travel time, commuters report.

Luehring's crews also are completing widening of a second southbound toll gate to accommodate buses in the morning, so bus commuters soon should move faster through the toll plaza.

Luehring is making changes, and there is a marked improvement in the district employees' morale.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE highest salaried stars in TV and filmdom maintains that in his commodious new home he has a dining room in which he eats breakfast and a breakfast room where he eats dinner. He explains, "I'm darned if I'm going to let any room tell me where to eat what in."

Two middle-aged men opened a fancy retail clothing emporium in Miami Beach this year, but customers the first two weeks were conspicuous by their absence. "I'm getting very worried Morris," admitted one. "Do you still think this location will go?" "It ought to," maintained the other stoutly. "It's 60 per cent wood."

Even Orphan Annie Has Dropped Out

What with all our smug values being tested and judged by the young and serious in our land, the final blow has been struck by none other than our own true blue Orphan Annie.

She is a victim of police brutality, is on the lam with a humanist hippie type who wears a beard and preaches a kindly way of life.

Conventions Prove We Need Change

Now that the Strom Thurmond-Mayor Daley conventions are a thing of the past, I wish to make these observations. As a Republican, one who has voted Republican most of his voting life, I was disgusted with the events at Miami but even more disgusted with the fact that I wasn't given a choice of candidates on last June's primary ballot — it was sink or swim with Reagan. I voted for him in '66 but he does not represent by thinking in '68; therefore, I had no representation at the Miami convention. I wholeheartedly object to this.

Now to the Democrats. Along with millions of Americans who viewed the atrocities via TV, I was appalled at the shocking, almost unbelievable bloody events in Chicago. Mayor Daley's takeover of the convention and his henchmen's takeover of the streets of Cicago will never be forgotten by me. Such vicious "undesireables" as priests, rabbis, ministers, 14-year-old girls, middle-aged women, Jackie Kennedy's half-brother (Jamie Auchincloss), Sir Winston Churchhill's grandson, convention delegates and countless members of the news media (whose job it is to tell it as it is) were clubbed to the pavement or at best shoved against a wall with a bayonet in the stomach or a club posed over the head. In support of Mayor Daley and these goons' actions we have such "desirables" as George Wallace (law and order man who, in defiance of a court order, stood in the doorway of an American university in an effort to prevent an American of darker skin from entering an American school), Strom Thurmond of South Carolina whose thinking parallels that of Wallace, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia (he admits to being a former member of the Ku Klux Klan), and, of course, the American Nazi Party and John Birch Society. Mayor Daley blamed the news media for presenting one-sided news but then he has been blaming the news media for all his ills in recent years. When a politician starts dictating to a free press in a free society and gets away with it, that society is in deep trouble. That's when the dictator takes over as happened in Hitler's Germany of the 1930s. That was, of course, the downfall of Germany.

We need a change as far as national political conventions are concerned. What was workable even 20 years ago is obsolete in today's ever-changing world. Americans need and should demand a more active, vocale role in the selection of the president of the United States.

More Information On Cystic Fibrosis

Thank you for your recent mention of the forthcoming cystic fibrosis drive (Sat., Sept. 14).

Cystic fibrosis is a "masquerade disease." It often goes unrecognized because it is mistaken for asthma, celiac disease, bronchitis, allergy or other conditions. It attacks the lungs and digestion, starving the body, making every breath a challenge.

You also mentioned in your article that it is not widespread. Did you know that one in every 1,000 babies born in the U. S. has cystic fibrosis? It is second only to cancer among diseases causing death in children under 15. There is no cure but it can be treated. Only with early diagnosis is there hope.

Early diagnosis is possible only when there is an awareness on the part of the public. You as a newspaper editor help to promote this awareness.

Who knows — quite possibly the articles that you have already published about cystic fibrosis made a reader realize that he or she is the parent of a CF child. You will then have been responsible for giving a child a "breath of life."

Mailliard Nod Upsets Reader

A huge scandal! The leadership of the once proud and courageous union, the ILWU, have this week demonstrated their moral decay and impotency.

By endorsing the hawkish congressman in the Sixth District, a man who started his congressional career as a red-baiter, the ILWU has shown that "political expediency" fogs the judgment of most of its leadership. Voting against one's conscience out of fear of possible reprisal is the mark of weak and ineffectual men. The rank and file to regain their reputation as a strong and decent union must replace their leadership with men with guts.

Needed By Government: Men Who Will Say 'No'

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

The American Political Science Association heard two analyses of why the United States committed the blunder of the Vietnam war. Hans J. Morgenthau of the University of Chicago blamed it on deficiencies in morality, and Edwin O. Reischauer of Harvard, former ambassador to Japan, blamed it on ignorance.

We tend to agree with Mr. Reischauer. As he says, the war came about through a series of small decisions that added up to general catastrophe, and at no point did the policy-makers face and rationally decide the question whether this war would actually serve our true national interest.

Mr. Reischauer says the experience proves the need for improving decision-making in a government which has become like a dinosaur, its brain too small to govern a huge body. Yet we are not sure that any shuffling of the bureaucratic structure can enlarge its collective brainpower. In the end, decisions have to be made by individual men, each with the customary amount of mental equipment.

What could be done, and should be done by a wise President, is to insure that on critical matters like Vietnam, opposing points of view and the evidence to support them will reach the final decision-maker. We suspect that Mr. Johnson committed the blunder of Vietnam primarily because most of the advice he got tended to reinforce his own so-called "gut reactions." He needed somebody to say "No" on the basis of reasoned judgement rather than a feeling in the lower abdomen — somebody, in fact, like Mr. Reischauer.

Humphrey, Surprisingly Flappable, Gets Off To Poor Start

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey's presidential campaign is off to a bad start.

Richard Nixon's is off to a good one.

Nixon has gained strength and, having the momentum of a united party, has added to it.

Humphrey has lost strength and, not having momentum because of a disunited party, has slowed down.

THIS REVERSES the position which Nixon as the Republican nominee occupied in 1960. In that campaign he got off to a halting and hesitant start. This time it is Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, who is off to a hesitant and halting start.

Humphrey can hardly afford to let it stay this way very long, but in part his present plight is his own making.

I am not suggesting that a Nixon victory is a certainty. There are too many things that could happen. But what is evident, even with the campaign hardly a week old, is that Nixon's already commanding lead looks more formidable than ever and that Humphrey will be hard put to reverse the Nixon tide the way things are now going.

THE THING HURTING Humphrey so badly so soon is that he is proving unexpectedly flappable. Even his best friends have been telling him so. They are worried. They are dismayed. And with reason.

Let me illustrate what has given some Humphrey supporters their greatest concern.

On a single day of campaigning he made four different statements on Vietnam substantially in conflict with each other.

In Denver the vice president said — as quoted by United Press International — that "he could have run for the presidency on a Democratic party platform advocating unconditional cessation of bombing of North Vietnam." Humphrey said he would have had "no difficulty" accepting the end-the-bombing plank had the Democratic convention approved it. The plank which was adopted placed conditions on any total cessation of the bombing, including the point that such cessation must not endanger the lives of U.S. troops.

Then, as his plane was landing in Los Angeles, Humphrey called a news conference in order to "qualify" his Denver statement. "I am not changing my position," he said. His explanation of his earlier statement that he would have had "no difficulty" with the end-the-bombing plank was that he would have accepted it with reservations or, as he put it, he would have felt free to make an "elaboration."

Earlier in Philadelphia the vice president answered a question by predicting that some U.S. troops could be withdrawn from Vietnam late this year or early the next. But later he said that the predictions were not really his, but were drawn from statements of Secretary of Defense Clifford and General Westmoreland and were based on his "hopes."

Then Humphrey re-explained that a long-scheduled small troop withdrawal justified his statements. These conflicting remarks on Vietnam confuse the American people, unintentionally encourage Hanoi, and hurt the Paris peace talks.

ON VIETNAM Humphrey is dealing with a subject in which his convictions should be deeply grounded in judgment and experience and it is difficult to see any adequate extenuation for his conflicting off-the-cuff remarks on such a crucial issue.

Events, not speeches, may change the outlook of this campaign but, if Humphrey himself is going to change it, he's got a hard road ahead.

IN LANDS ABROAD

Ireland Drops Welcome As Foreigners Buy Land

By DONAL O'HIGGINS

DUBLIN (UPI) — Irishmen are becoming increasingly alarmed that too much of their land is being acquired by foreigners, and demands are growing that a halt be called to property sales to aliens.

Already the government has imposed severe duties on the purchase of agricultural land by foreigners. It did so in the wake of widespread protests that ownership of some of the best land of Ireland was passing out of the hands of the Irish.

Now the emphasis has shifted away from the farms to the beautiful beachlands and scenic areas.

For the past decade the land-buying spree by foreigners along the coastal areas has been increasing steadily. Large chunks of unspoiled beach areas have been purchased by wealthy persons from the United States, Britain, Germany, France and the Netherlands in what Irishmen refer to as a "checkbook invasion" of their nation.

The land-buyers have moved into Kerry, into the west of Ireland and into Cork, and as they moved in, the Irish moved out, breaking centuries-old ties with the land.

In many places traditional "failte" (welcome) signs have been removed and harsh "stay out" notices hung in their place, reflecting the temper of the new landlords.

Fishing and hunting rights have been bought up and strictly enforced; time-honored free passage and rights-of-way have been blocked or sealed; old-established freedoms of the Irishman to roam at will in search of mushrooms or blackberrieis hgave been denied.

Nowhere has this been so evident as in County Cork with its bounty of scenic splendor and soft, wild beauty. Undiscovered stretches of compelling grandeur have been surveyed, parceled out and bought up by foreigners.

The new owners appear to experience little difficulty in obtaining planning permission from local authorities to build on the sites they have acquired.

In one area near Bantry in West Cork a non-national has been granted permission to build his house near a bronze age fort, contrary to the national policy of preserving historic sites.

Not far away lies the oldest surviving monument of the Gaelic literary tradition—an old stone ruin which once housed the famed Bardic School of the O'Dalys of Fearnamanugh.

Here, too, foreigners are negotiating to purchase the land for what locals say is "commercial exploitation." So far no planning permission has been granted.

Throughout West Cork where hand-printed "site for sale" notices are more plentiful than people, there has been a steady invasion of "continentals."

The influx of foreigners has done little to revitalize the area, and this is what bothers many.

Little Theaters Might Benefit By Staging Exchange Performances

The Novato Community Players are an ambitious group. They present revues in the spring and fall, melodramas for Western Weekend, plays and Broadway musicals.

In past years, we have attended these and found most of them to be very good.

So it was with more than passing interest that we went to a melodrama put on by the Claypipers in Drytown in the Mother Lode country. This group puts on the same play from the middle of May to the middle of September each year. In 10 years it has never played to less than a full house. Tickets are sold out months in advance.

While enjoying the melodrama of the Mother Lode country during the gold era, we could not help but compare it with some of those in Novato.

Interspersed were skits similar to those presented by the Novato Community Players in their revuew.

We wondered if such clubs might gain a lot from viewing each other'a productions. Most of Drytown's Claypipers live in San Bruno and the Peninsula. There are several little theater groups in Marin County and Sonoma County. Scuh exchange performances might give a stimulus to these groups from which all would benefit.

ONE EXPECTED FUROR did not occur in Novato.

Last spring, the Novato School Board voted to get out of the school guard crossing business. Among reasons given was that it was too dangerous for the pupils to try to manage traffic on Grant Avenue at Seventh Street, and South Novato Boulevard at Sunset Parkway, the two intersections where there were crossing guards. School trustees also said it took too much time from classroom work. The board also maintained that it was not the school district's business to control traffic.

Much concern was voiced by parents at Marin and Lynwood schools where the crossing guards had been.

The City of Novato took the problem in hand temporarily until a new safety committee could come up with a solution. It hired two adult crossing guards and they took charge of getting the children across the streets. In fact, their mature ability at handling the situation seemed to be much better than the children's.

So what looked like a life and death crisis passed without even a ripple on the surface. The guards were hired for two months, but from the look of things, they will be permanent.

SOME BRANCHES of the government want things beautiful. For example, the city and county planning departments and commissions want landscaping around new buildings. This is commendable.

The Novato Fire District applied to the county planning commission for a permit for its drill tower and training room at its new site on Atherton Avenue, which is outside the city. The county planning commission demanded that it be landscaped. Other Novato fire stations are, so there was no argument there.

However, the county also demanded a 20-foot right-of-way dedication from the fire district for future widening of Atherton Avenue. The fire district agreed to this.

This raises a question. Atherton Avenue does not carry much traffic. It will probably be many years before it is widened.

Now, who will landscape and maintain this 20-foot dedication?

Buccaneers Of 20th Century – The Pilots Of High Adventure

The flight of the old DC-3 from the deserted airfield in southern Florida to the hard-caked earthern strip east of Havana had been planned for one hour and 26 minutes.

The timing has to be exact. The men waiting for its arrival had to move fast and with precision teamwork. The pilots, after landing, would remain belted in their seats, their engines running throughout the unloading of the cargo — guns.

A little over three hours after departing Florida the DC-3 would be back, mission complete. The pilots would be paid in cash and on the spot, enough to permit them to live four to six months as an average man spends his money.

Except . . . these were not average men.

IN A WEEK the captain would be looking for another job, his copilot alongside him, for they are aviation's counterparts to soldiers of fortune — a wild, undisciplined, unholy lot, as removed from the commercial airline pilot as an 18th Century buccaneer from an officer of the queen's navy.

This may sound melodramatic, like something out of a Hollywood grade B production, but these pilots do exist and they are for hire and their business is danger with a capital D.

Down through the years I've known many who have worked as flying mercenaries . . . in China for the original Flying Tigers, in the early days of the new nation of Israel, fighting for the French in Vietnam, hauling supplies and refugees in and out of the Congo, flying for the South Vietnam government in recent years and now, running food and guns into Biafra.

Between crises, when business is slow, they're not above a bit of gun-running and gold smuggling. There has been little need for this, however, for crises have strung closely together, one after another since World War II.

THESE PILOTS are a breed apart . . . hedonistic, unruly, savagely individualistic and thoroughly undisciplined. They are, for the most part, exceptional pilots —the poor ones are quickly killed, the good ones last longer, having reduced the business of flying down to its most rudimentary terms: "If it's got wings, throttles and engines that run, I'll fly it!"

Commercial airline pilots, indoctrinated with FAA and company procedures, policies and regulations, are completely nonplussed at the methods of these mercenaries whose attitude toward the niceties of the profession is profoundly contemptuous. The "wild ones" have little respect for the flying ability of the commercial pilots and their "milk runs."

OCCASIONALLY a mercenary, forced by a lull in the business and a flattened bank account, will work for an airline carrier. It almost always is an unhappy relationship. Tethered to routine schedules, he begins to show the effect: the restlessness sets in, the urge to wander ferments, the craving for high, rare excitement becomes overpowering. Then comes the day when word is out: "Pilots are needed to fly supplies into Biafra . . . two days per trip . . . $2.000 per trip!"

It's a tussle between freedom and security and for him, it's no contest. With his contempt for the staid, the commonplace and the safe, he breezily tells his chief pilot to go to hell and he's off.

And this is what makes him different . . . for him the only life to lead, the only one worth the living, is the fast, the hard, the dangerous life . . . the life of no tomorrows!

UNPLANNED MIXTURE — Planning Commissioner Michael Praszker (back to camera) would line up these houseboats to "resemble civilization." Houseboat builder Walter E. Durling (not in picture) said improvements are planned by houseboaters, such as paving, a parking lot, fire hydrants and general beautification.

'BIG MESS' TAG TO HOUSEBOATS

Richardson Bay Tour Brings Heated Talk With Zucker Defending The Architecture

A planning commissioner yesterday described the houseboats on Richardson Bay as "a big mess," but County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker defended the houseboat architecture as "much more appropriate" than Howard Johnson's projected restaurant-motel development beside Richardson Bay Bridge.

The discussion erupted at the Marin County Planning Commission meeting, after commissioners made a field survey of the Waldo area during the noon lunch break.

"Mr. Zucker is always saying Richardson Bay is the show window of the county," declared Commissioner Michael Praszker. "I don't know where sanity lies with all that mess out there . . . There has to be some method to every madness. They should at least line up to resemble civilization."

Zucker acknowledged that without controls, "the bay will soon be filled with houseboats." He reported that he and other officials are engaged in stringent enforcement as directed by county supervisors.

He then took issue with Praszker's charge of "a big mess." "I personally don't think the Nowell plan (Tom E. Nowell's marina-motel plan) and what house boats are doing are inconsistent," said Zucker. "I wish the architecture of the gas station came anywhere near the architecture of the houseboats . . . houseboat architecture is much more appropriate than Howard Johnson's development." Johnson's restaurant-motel is being built across the street from Fireside Motel.

Zucker declared that houseboat builders have captured the natural design that goes with marina development far better than professional architects.

Chairman High Dougherty put houseboat discussion on yesterday's agenda to see if existing ordinances are adequate to crack down on violations.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest said the nest way to approach enforcement is through prosecuting health and sewer violations.

Zucker reported that aerial photographs have been taken of the existing houseboats, and if new piers appear in the next photographs, they will be considered illegal.

In the meantime, existing boats are being checked for sewer and other facilities to remove violations.

Walter E. Durling, a boat builder who lives on a houseboat on George Kappas' pier known as Gate 6½, appeared before the commission in defense of houseboats. Commissioners, who visited Durling's boat, agreed that his was a "nice houseboat."

"You can't generalize on those houseboats," said Chairman Dougherty. "Some are nice, but there are others that are a mess."

Durling assured commissioners that houseboat owners are forming an association to work for fire protection and other improvements. "We plan to pave the road and parking lot and put in laundry facilities. The ladies are planning a beautification committee."

Durling said the houseboat owners plan to install fire hydrants every 150 feet and put in a fire alarm system. He claimed human wastes disintegrate rapidly in salt water and are disposed of by fish, and that chemicals from chemical toilets could bring more pollution than natural wastes.

He agreed that the ideal solution would be to tie in to land sewer connections.

"Dumping raw sewage is prohibited," observed Walter F. Freitas. "It's just a matter of enforcement."

Chairman Dougherty asked Zucker to "keep us advised" on the enforcement of code violations.

POWER SERVICE — Commissioners agreed to check on how much power is used by houseboaters after loaded power pole caught the attention of Trombley.

BOAT OR BUILDING? — Planning Commissioner Trombley points out differences between a vessal (left) and a house (on piers at right) for Commissioner Dougherty. Trombley said an ordinance should distinguish between the two. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax).

OTHERS ARE A MESS — Commissioners agreed that some laws are needed to control the burgeoning houseboat colony and perhaps turn the area into a planned community. Discussing the situation are (from left) Commissioner Azevedo, Planning Director Zucker, Commissioners Trombley and Dr. William F. Upton, Hau of the planning staff and Commissioner Dougherty.

Marin Planner Calls ABAG Goals 'Hollow'

The preliminary regional plan drafted by the Association of Bay Area Governments last November is "absolutely hollow" and "full of empty phraseology," a member of the Marin County Planning Commission charged yesterday.

Commissioner Michael Praszker declared that ABAG is getting far afield of the purposes for which it was originally created.

"This commission should have enough courage to ask ABAG what purpose it was to serve. When created, it was to handle such matters as air pollution and transportation — things which each community could not handle individually. . . I think we are being sucked into a regional government beyond the original intent," asserted Praszker.

Praszker read one of the goals outlined in the ABAG regional plan: "All persons in the Bay Area should have the opportunity of obtaining adequate shelter convenient to other activities and facilities in neighborhoods that are satisfying to them."

Describing this as "empty phraseology, absolutely hollow," Praszker declared: "It reads like Karl Marx!"

Praszker's outburst followed a report by Planning Director Paul C. Zucker that ABAG's regional planning committee is scheduled to submit some of its goals and policies to the ABAG general meeting on Sept. 27.

Zucker observed that the goals are vague and general and should be made more specific and more closely related to local needs and aspirations.

Chairman Hugh Dougherty appointed a three-man committee consisting of Margaret Azevedo, Niels Schultz Jr., and himself to meet as soon as possible to draft some type of statement to send on to ABAG.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

VACATION HOUSES — Approved a master plan for San Francisco architect Bruce W. Beebe, who plans 12 condominium vacation units on 23 acres of land two miles north of Marshall between Clark Road and Blake's Landing. Beebe also plans a swimming pool and boat tie-up dock with pedestrian access from the highway. The approval is conditioned on adequate facilities for access, sewage disposal and water supply.

GARDEN APARTMENTS — Granted developer Harry Johnson an amendment to the master plan for Villa Garden Apartments on Tennessee Valley Road so that the plan will conform with what Johnson actually built. Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, said the master plan granted in 1959 has not been followed, but the total units is less than the 50 approved in the master plan. The commission amended the master plan to show buildings and pool as they now exist, and dropped the parking requirements from two per unit to one and one-half per unit. Villa Garden Apartments is located on 9.5 acres of land south of Tennessee Valley Road, just east of Shoreline Highway.

FEE REVISION — Recommended to the county supervisors that fees for tentative subdivision maps be as follows: $100 for the first five lots; $15 each for the next five lots; $5 each for the next 10 lots, and $2 for each lot thereafter. The planning commission had originally recommended $220 for the first 20 lots, plus $2 for each additional lot. Carl Brown, representing the Associated Homes Builders of Marin, protested that this is too costly for the smaller subdivisions.

TIBURON TRAIL — Asked Zucker to put on the Sept. 30 agenda a report on the bicycle and trail study that is proceeding in Tiburon.

Great Dane Club Matches Scheduled

The fifth annual "fun match" of the Great Dane Club of Central California will start at 10 a.m. Sunday at Rancho Rafael in Ignacio, club officials have announced.

Judge will be Betty Ellis and Joann Collins will act as ring steward.

More Policemen For Berkeley?

BERKELEY (AP) — The Berkeley City Council was asked today to provide 30 new police officers this year and 30 next year to help fight a rising crime rate and ease problems created by activists.

City Manager William C. Hanley, in a report to the council, also sought permission to make use of up to 30 Alameda County sheriff's deputies when needed while new recruits are trained.

Last Friday and Saturday night, Hanley used 30 deputies to help patrol Telegraph Avenue—the first weekend since an emergency ban on loitering and public assemblies had been lifted.

Police said there was a "substantial" drop in criminal activity.

Berkeley has 160 policemen to cover the city of 120,000.

Hanley, said serious crimes in Berkeley were up 47 per cent in the first seven months of the year.

U. S. Olympic Track-Field Team Is Mighty Powerful

Sports

THIRD SECTION Tuesday, Sept. 17, 1968 21

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (AP)— The sun was beginning its descent behind Echo Summit when Payton Jordan, head coach of the U.S. Men's Olympic track and field team, made his way over to the rows of canopied benches serving as a press tent.

For eight days, observers had watched American athletes go about the business of picking the track and field team that will compete in Mexico City next month and now it was time for summing up.

Inevitably, the discussion got around to altitude. What about the report, somebody wanted to know, that the Russiam team had spent far more time training at high altitude than the U.S. team had spent at the Echo Summit camp, 7,377 feet above sea level.

"I think," said Jordan, in perhaps the understatement of the year, "the evidence is rather clear that we've been here long enough."

It is that. In terms of competition and performances, the Olympic trials that ended here yesterday are likely to go down as the best track meet in the history of the sport. And the team the United States will field in Mexico City will surely be its best ever.

It is not merely that four world records were broken during the eight days here. Or that 10 performances here were as good as or better than the recognized world standard in their respective events.

But when the depth of performance, the marks achieved by the second, third and fourth-place finishers in event after event is taken into account, the United States must be counted on as a distinct possibility to sweep several events in Mexico City and to take medal after medal in many of the rest.

It was not bravado alone that led Jim Hines to predict a sweep in the 100 meters or John Carlos to predict one in the 200 or Lee Evans to predict one in the 400. Or Willie Davenport to predict one in the 110-meter hurdles or Geoff Vanderstock to predict one in the 400 hurdles or Dave Maggard to predict one in the shot put.

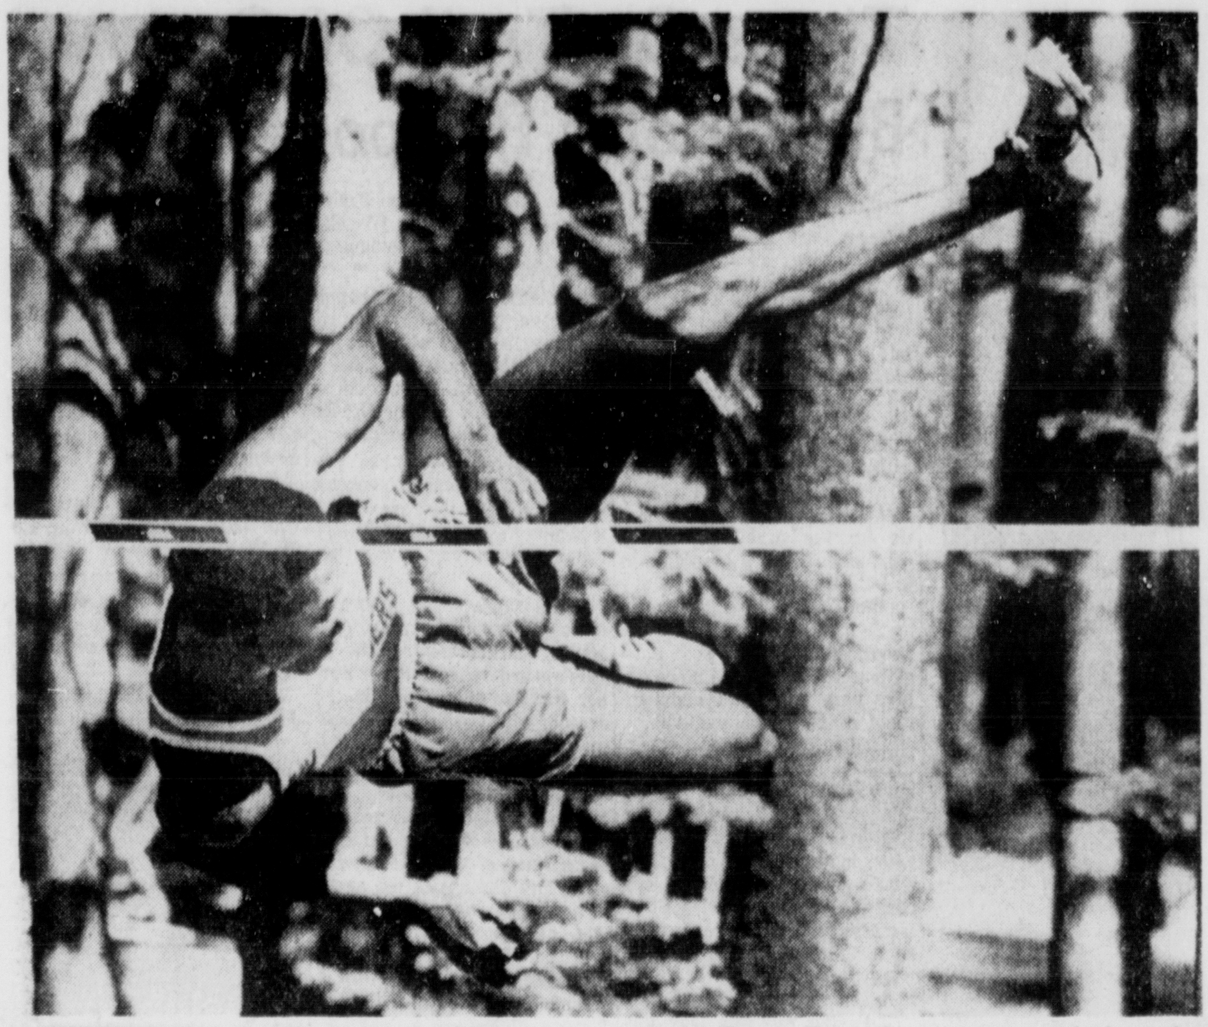
All were winners at their events, except for Maggard, who came in second to George Woods.

Bob Seagren of Southern Cal set the world record with a 17-9 pole vault.

Hines won the 100 in 10.0, routine for him, and if that makes Charlie Greene only the second best sprinter in the country, then it also makes him probably second best in the world.

Woods took the shot at 68-¼ while Maggard was second at 67-4¼ and world record holder Randy Matson had to settle for third at 67-1¼.

Still not convinced? Well, we've gotten this far without even a mention of Jim Ryun, winner of the 1,000 meters yesterday in 3:49.0 and, if healthy, a cinch for a gold medal in Mexico City.



THE BEST AT 7-3 — Ed Caruthers of Santa Ana, representing the Southern California Striders, makes it over the bar at seven feet, three inches to win the U.S. Olympic high jump trials at South Lake Tahoe. Two other jumpers made it at the same height, but Caruthers won on fewer misses. The two other jumpers who qualified for the Olympic team are high schooler Renaldo Brown and Dick Fosbury. ## JIM GILMARTIN

Catching Up With Former Prep Stars

LOCAL BOYS — Keeping track of Marin athletes once they leave high school for institutions of higher learning is an interesting pasttime of mine, especially at this time of year when colleges are getting ready for football season.

Here, then, is a rundown on the whereabouts of some of our better known footballers:

Speedy Dean Lazarini, a flanker, and sure-handed end Honor Jackson of College of Marin's 1967 championship team have moved up to University of Pacific where they are expected to see considerable action for the Tigers this fall. Marin's '67 quarterback Bill Ingram has gone to Univ. of Cal at Davis, hard-running back Dick Otis is at Chico State and the sensational Tim Harr has gone to University of Utah.

University of California at Santa Barbara has a trio of Terra Linda grads in varsity togs including sophomore flanker Paul Lee, tight end Doug Barker and defensive end Stan Pareto. Lee led last year's Santa Barbara frosh team in scoring, punt and kickoff returns and interceptions. Barker and Pareto are seniors.

Trio At San Francisco State

San Francisco State's varsity lists three College of Marin transfers in quarterback Al Simontacchi, guard Ron Grayson and safety Tom Corbett. S. F. State freshman team, incidentally, will make one Marin County appearance this year against the San Quentin Pirates Nov. 16. At. S.Q.U., of course.

Varsity rosters in the Pacific Eight Conference list four Bounty County products, including three at Oregon State and one at Stanford. At OSU are split end Mike Biber from Tamalpais, offensive tackle Lee Jamison of Drake and defensive end Jim Sherbert of Terra Linda.

Tackle Mark Herrero, formerly of Redwood, moves up to the Stanford varsity.

JIM SHORTS:

Besides building championship teams, College of Marin's Cal Riemcke and Dick Read keep quite active in the California Junior College Association. Riemcke is president of the basketball coaches group and Read is vice president of the football coaches.

Belvedere Man Is Commodore

Speaking of officers, Don Bekins of Belvedere, a member of the San Francisco Yacht Club, has been elected commodore of the National Triton Association for 1968-69. Bekins won the 1968 Triton National Regatta at Long Island Sound earlier this month.

There'll be eight Marin drivers in various type cars competing in this weekend's Pacific National "76" Championship Sports Car Road Races at Golden Gate Race Circuit in Cotati. From left to right they are Prudence Baxter, John R. Stapleton and C. G. Blackwood of Sausalito, Harald Kirberg and Bud Harrington of Mill Valley, Bob Lusk of Novato, Emmett C. Wilder of San Rafael, and G. F. D. Pridmore of Tiburon.

Gentlemen, start your engines. You too, Miss Baxter.

Hannum Pleased With His Oaks

HAYWARD (AP) — Coach Alex Hannum of the Oakland Oaks says he is pleased with his American Basketball Association team but is still evaluating their playing style.

Hannum, who coached the National Basketball Association's Philadelphia 76ers last season, said yesterday he was impressed with forward Doug Moe and guard Larry Brown obtained in a trade with New Orleans.

Hannum offered his comments as the Oaks began two-a-day practice sessions.

Oakland star Rick Barry worked out on his own with the team. He will not be permitted to play for the Oaks until Sept. 30 under a court order settling his jump to the ABA team from the San Francisco Warriors of the NBA.

Giants Sign Top Pick

The San Francisco Giants announced yesterday the signing of Gary Matthews, their top pick in the June free agent draft, for a "substantial bonus."

49ers Plan On More Running

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Coach Dick Nolan has indicated that his San Francisco 49ers will run the ball more next Sunday when St. Louis comes to Kezar Stadium.

The 49er boss yesterday commented that his team ran the ball only 21 times in the 27-10 loss to Baltimore. He said he felt that about 35 times was a better frequency and pointed out that the running attack averaged a healthy four yards a pop against the Colts.

NO OFFENSE

San Francisco could not sustain one touchdown drive at Baltimore since the defense scored the lone touchdown.

Nolan explained "We had penalties in key situations."

"John (quarterback) Brodie was trying to get the best play for the various defenses Baltimore used. So he called some audibles and the players didn't always hear him because of the crowd noise."

BAD KICKS

Nolan also said he was depressed by kick coverage, which let Baltimore twice move into striking position.

On the bright side, Nolan said there were no serious injuries in the game. Charlie Krueger was knocked groggy, but will be back in business against the Cards.

Swimming Records Approved

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — The International Swimming Federation announced today approval of 44 world records and one record-tying performance, a majority of them by Americans.

The new marks cover the period from the beginning of the year until Sept. 15 In several events, the records approved included those broken at a later date and also approved. This gives recognition to a swimmer for breaking a record, even if it only holds up for a short time.

DEBBIE

Debbie Meyer, the 16-year-old star from Sacramento, set eight freestyle records in the nine-month period — once in the 200, twice in the 400, four times in the 800 and once in the 1,500. She has the world marks for the four events.

Karen Muir, the 16-year-old backstroker from South Africa who won't be able to compete in the Olympics because of the ban on her country, was credited with five records in her specialty.

The final world records included 26 and one tie, with Americans getting 16 and a tie. The American women held nine and the men seven and a tie.

The non-American women record-holders include Miss Muir with four and Canada's Angela Coughlan with one—for the 1,650 yards freestyle.

'Unusual' Seizure Fatal To Frosh Basketball Player

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A freshman basketball player at the University of Missouri-Columbia collapsed and died of an unusual type of heart seizure while shooting baskets in a gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

He was Sanford Boyd, 6 foot, 2 inches, of St. Louis.

Dr. Richard Johnson, coroner, said an autopsy disclosed that Boyd died of an unusual seizure which sometimes hits young people for no apparent reason.

He said there was no damage to the heart and Boyd was in excellent physical condition.

The corner said the seizure may or may not be brought on by exertion and in this case it apparently was not.

Boyd arrived at the campus Sunday for the new students' orientation program.

He visited Stewart's office about 4 p.m. yesterday, then went to a junior high school gym with a companion to shoot baskets.

The field house was set up for registration of students.

The two youths had a short workout and Boyd complained of feeling a little dizzy, then he collapsed.

Upset Victory For Unranked Roger Rischer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Unranked veteran heavyweight Roger Rischer scored a split decision upset victory over ranking Eduardo Corletti last night at Civic Auditorium.

The 34-year-old Rischer, 197, Oakland, was making his first fight in 13 months and won the eye of two of the three officials to hand the Italian from Argentina his second setback in the United States since coming to campaign here two months ago.

SCORECARDS

Referee Jack Downey and judge Vern Bybee voted 5-4 and 4-3 for Rischer. Judge Johnny Lotsey scored 5-4 for the loser.

The UPI card had it 6-3 for Corletti, 198, who two months ago was knocked out in the second round in Detroit by Alvin "Blue" Lewis.

There were no knockdowns but the sharper hitting Corletti staggered the visibly tiring winner in the last two rounds.

It was Rischer's 27th victory against 11 losses and two draws. For Corletti, it was only his fourth setback. He has won 27 with five draws.

LESTER WINS

In the second of a triple-10 rounder, Jimmy Lester of San Francisco staged a final round comeback to knock down Rocky Hernandez, 160, three times to score a knockout at 1:55 of the 10th round.

Lester, 159 1-2, was trailing on two of the official cards and was even on one when he stormed after the Mexican from San Luis Potosi and the bout was ended with Hernandez virtually flat on his back in his own corner.

COMES BACK

Earlier, in the eighth round, Lester dropped Rocky for the first time but Hernandez came back so strong that he almost won that stanza.

It was Lester's 26th knockout. His record is 34-8-1. Hernandez is now 26-5-2 and he suffered only his second knockout.

Corletti's stablemate from Argentina, Roberto Amaya, 147 1-2, Buenos Aires, knocked out Lester's stablemate, Don Hicks, 144 1-2, San Francisco, at 2:41 of the fourth round of another scheduled 10 rounder.

Marin Sheriffs Softballers Win

Marin County Sheriff's Deputy Chuck Tyson of San Rafael led the Marin County team to a pair of victories in the Sixth Annual Northern California Peace Officers Softball Championship last weekend at Hayward.

Tyson hurled a four-hitter in the opener, blanking defending and three-time champion Hayward, 3-0, and striking out 10 Saturday. The Marin team got only two hits, but one was a homer by Buzz Keaton and the other a triple by Tyson.

He visited Stewart's office about 4 p.m. yesterday, then went to a junior high school gym with a companion to shoot baskets.

Tyson was the whole show Sunday, putting down the Santa Clara Sheriffs, 9-0, on a no-hitter that featured 11 strikeouts. In addition, Tyson went four-for-four at the plate with two doubles spiced in.

The Marin entry plays again Sunday, meeting the winner of the FBI-San Jose game at 10 a.m.

Willie Mays Tries To Get Into Stands At Hecklers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Willie Mays and Ty Cobb, two of the greatest outfielders of all time, had something else in common today.

Both have tried to go into the stands and grab a heckler.

Cobb did it sometime a half-century ago.

Mays tried it yesterday after a pair of servicemen in civilian clothes, had been jockeying him for four innings of the game with the Cincinnati Reds.

Mays expressed regret afterward over the incident and said he hoped his hecklers would be back to enjoy a game.

Willie's temper, which rarely flares, did so just after he had made a great catch of Vada Pinson's drive during the fourth inning of the Giants' 8-4 victory.

"Nice catch, Willie!" one of the men shouted from a front seat beside the Giants dugout as the club came in to bat. "For a $100,000 bum you're finally earning your money."

Mays sought to climb over the railing and confront his hecklers. Manager Herman Franks restrained him, was shaken off by the centerfielder and fell into a concrete wall. Willie made another attempt to climb up the side then was pulled back by Frank Johnson.

Shortstop Hal Lanier also essayed a charge but didn't make it. Catcher-first baseman Jack Hiatt then exchanged remarks with the men who were taken off by the police.

They subsequently were released after identifying themselves as Sgt. Jay D. Eash and T. Sgt. William Muncy of the Air Force. "We're Mets rooters," Eash said afterward. "I've rooted in a lot of ballparks across the country but I've never had the players react like this. Rooting is part of the game. Mays and the Giants don't know that, I guess."

"There's no hard feelings," Mays said afterward. "The guys can come back tomorrow."

Willie said they had been hollering at him and other Giants since the game started.

Giants To Face Gibson And Cardinals Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— What might have been a "dream series" shapes up as only an afterthought tonight when the world champion St. Louis Cardinals face the San Francisco Giants in the opener of a three-game invasion.

The Cards cinched their second straight National League pennant Sunday at Houston while the Giants were being eliminated from contention by the Cincinnati Reds. Now the only crucial aspect of the series from the Giants' viewpoint is finishing second.

GIBSON

Bob Gibson (21-8) is slated to start for St. Louis tonight against the Giants' Gaylord Perry (14-14).

First baseman Willie McCovey drove across four runs yesterday as the Giants defeated Cincinnati, 8-4, before the smallest crowd in Giants' San Francisco history, 2,361. Two of his rbi's broke a seventh inning tie as the Giants erupted for five markers. His spiurge also put him in a first place tie with Billy Williams of Chicago for the league's rbi honors. Each has 97.

ROOKIE WINS

Rookie Rich Robertson of the Giants got his first major league win by hurling two innings of relief. The loser was reliever Clay Carroll (7-8).

Marin Angler Is Runnerup

Osmin Sallaberry of 204 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, was one of the prize winners for the month of August in the Golden Gate Salmon Derby, the sponsoring Golden Gate Sportfishers reported today.

Sallaberry's 32-pound, 8-ounce salmon was good for second place in the month's competition. First prize for a 32-pound, 10-ounce slamon went to Lewis Ahlwardt of Concord. A special ladies' prize went to Jane Tolliver or Oakland for her 24-pound, 8-ounce catch.

We'll Bounce Back, Says A's Skipper

CHICAGO (AP)— What happened to the Athletics in Detroit all but killed Oakland's hope of finishing in the American League's first division.

But Manager Bob Kennedy aserts "It won't be any problem bouncing back."

The Athletics get their chance to rebound in a twi-nighter tonight against the Chicago White Sox. Both clubs were idle yesterday. Oakland licking wounds from three straight losses in Detroit.

The White Sox, who have an 8-5 edge over Oakland this season, sent Jack Fisher, 8-10, and Joe Horlen, 10-13, against the Athletics' Jim Nash, 12-11, and John Odom, 14-9.

Oakland has 11 games left, all with second division clubs, but trails the fifth-place Boston Red Sox by three in the loss column.

Fired A.L. Umps Fighting For Jobs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, claiming success in their efforts to organize the 20 umpires of the American League, say they will fight their firing by Joe Cronin, president of the league.

The 35-year-old Valentine, bristling over the firing Monday, told The Associated Press, "There's no doubt that we were released from our jobs because of our organizing activities." He said the proposed union had the support of a majority of the umpires.

DENIAL

League officials confirmed the firing but denied that union activity was the cause.

"Salerno met with National League umpires Thursday night," Valentine snorted. "Friday, the cards were mailed to every American League umpire. Today (Monday, we were fired."

"... Eighteen years in this profession ... you don't go sour overnight," he said.

Salerno, 37, said he was shocked by the firing.

"It was my turn to work the World Series," he said. "I thought that was what he (Cronin) was calling about.

BY THE WAY ...

"He asked how I was and about my flight out, then he told me my contract was not being renewed for 1969 ... that I was fired."

The two umps said two telephone calls, seven minutes apart, notified Salerno that he would receive 10 days severance pay and Valentine 30 days.

They said National League umpires, who "have been organized for several years," get from $3,000 to $7,750 a year more than A.L. umpires and "are ahead of us in every department."

Salary scales were not disset up a separate organization closed.

The original plan had been to set up a separate organization of AL umpires, they said, but the NL umpires invited them to join them in an organization which would be called the Major League Baseball Umpires Association.

MAJORITY

"We had a majority before I went to Chicago," said Salerno. Valentine said signatures for the larger organization had been received from a majority of the umpires but declined to say how many had signed up.

They declined to speculate on wht course they and their attorneys would take to fight the discharges.

Asked about the possibility of an umpires strike, an attorney said it would be up to members of the proposed umpires association to decide whether they wanted to support Salerno and Valentine that way.

Valentine said that one other A.L. umpire, Ernie Stewart, was fired about 20 years ago for engaging in organizational work. He said a couple of years ago the A.L. umps formed a local organization "among ourselves" and that when they talked to Cronin to ask for a few things "he just completely exploded."

"NEWS TO ME"

Cronin denied knowing anything about an umpire's union and said the two were fired because he was dissatisfied with their work.

"An umpire's union ... it's all news to me," said Cronin. He said personnel changes had been planned for the end of the season—less than weeks away—and "we decided to do it now."

Two rookie umpires from the Southern Association were dispatched to Cleveland to join Emmett Ashford and Jim Honochick in working tonight's Washington-Cleveland game.

The new umpires are former New York Yankee pitcher Bill Kunkel and Jake O'Donnell.

Tigers On Trail Of Quarry, But Orioles Postpone Kill

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Norm Cash gave the Detroit Tigers a quick scent of the quarry they've been tracking for 23 long years. Baltimore's Don Buford postponed the Big Kill ... but the Tigers can afford to wait another 24 short hours.

Cash smacked a two-run single in the first inning and a three-run homer in the second as the Tigers mauled New York 9-1 last night, assuring themselves of no worse than a tie for the American League pennant ... which hasn't flown in Detroit since 1945.

Buford's grand slam homer and bases-empty blasts by Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell powered the second place Orioles past Boston 8-1 and kept them mathematically alive ... but fading fast.

Rookie Rick Renick drilled a ninth-inning homer, giving Minnesota a 4-3 victory over California in the only other game in the A.L. schedule.

"I'm not sending Mayo any congratulations yet," said Baltimore skipper Earl Weaver after his club skirted elimination in its desperate pursuit of Mayo Smith's runaway Tigers. "That's the way you play this game.

"We haven't given up hoping for a tie with them. We also have to think about holding on to second."

The Orioles, 10½ games off the pace, must win their remaining 10 starts while the Tigers lose their last 11 to force a pennant playoff. Detroit entertains New York and the Orioles are at Boston again tonight.

Weaver apparently has one eye on the oncoming Yankees, who moved into third place with a 10-game winning streak before running into a buzz-saw at Detroit.

Cash's single keyed a four-run opening burst against New York starter Joe Verbanic and the Tigers rocked reliever Steve Barber for five more runs in the second, with Cash's 22nd homer the big blow.

The early onslaught helped southpaw John Hiller, 9-5, breeze past the Yanks and extend Detroit's winning string to seven games. Hiller scattered eight hits and struck out seven in hurling the 10th straight complete game for the Tigers' staff.

Brooks Robinson pulled the Orioles even at Boston with a second inning homer and started the decisive fourth inning flurry with a single off loser Jim Lonborg. Elrod Hendricks' single, a walk and pitcher Tom Phoebus' infield hit broke the 1-1 tie before Buford unloaded into the right field bullpen for the second grand slam of his career.

Powell's leadoff homer and doubles by Robinson and Mark Belanger gave Phoebus two more runs in the fifth and he brought his season mark to 15-14 with ninth inning help from Eddie Watt.

Renick's third major league homer, a leadoff shot off Sammy Ellis in the ninth, capped Minnesota's late comeback against the Angels.

Two errors by Jackie Hernandez in the fourth helped the Angels push over three unearned runs, but the Twins rallied for three in the eighth on two walks, Cesar Tovar's double, a wild pitch and Rod Carew's triple.

FAILED TO RUN

Yastrzemski Booed By Red Sox Fans

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, the Boston Red Sox' slugger, bidding for a second straight American League batting crown, was the target of catcalls from some fans.

Yaz received the boos when he failed to run out a dropped third strike in the fifth inning of an 8-1 defeat by the Baltimore Orioles last night at chilly Fenway Park.

Baltimore catcher Eldron Pendricks had trouble finding the ball in the dirt, but he had plenty of time to jog after Yaz and apply the tag as the Boston outfielder walked back to the dugout.

Yaz kept his average at an exen .300 with a single driving in Boston's lone run in the first inning.

He apparently didn't know the ball had been dropped. Critical fans let him know a few seconds later, though, as they let loose boos in the belief that Yaz showed lack of hustle in failing to try to reach first base.

Boston Manager Dick Williams absolved Yastrzemski. Williams said that Yaz has a slight muscle pull in his thigh and hasn't been running well for a week.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said he couldn't blame Yaz because a batter normally doesn't know the ball has been dropped due to the follow-through on the swing.

Kid Gavilan Arrives In U.S. Unnoticed

MIAMI (AP) — Kid Gavilan, whose famed bolo punches made him world welterweight champion in the 1950s, has arrived from his native Cuba to live in exile.

His prize money long spent and hampered by poor vision, Gavilan arrived virtually unnoticed on a refugee airlift flight yesterday. He said he would go to New York, where some of his children live.

Gavilan, 42, had been living quietly on a small farm in Rincon, Cuba. On a number of occasions he was jailed by the Castro government for seeking converts to the Jehovah's Witnesses.

"The communists believe a person should not have religion," he told newsmen at Freedom Gate, the refugee port of entry.

He asid he had been trying to leave Cuba since Fidel Castro came into power in 1959.

It Looks Like Cards Building Dictatorship

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals may be building a National League dynasty but it looks more like a dictatorship.

Not content with having run away with their second straight pennant, the Cards are about to have their say in determining the rest of the standings, as well.

They move into San Francisco tonight for a three-game series with the runner-up Giants, who lead third-place Cincinnati by two games after yesterday's 8-4 victory over the Reds. Chicago is 3½ games behind the Giants and Atlanta is five back.

Then it's on to Los Angeles for three with the Dodgers, who are battling Houston and New York for eighth place. After that it's back home for two games with seventh-place Philadelphia, which is trying to catch Pittsburgh, and three with Houston.

In last night's other action, Los Angeles tripped Atlanta 6-0 and Pittsburgh trounced Philadelphia 6-1. St. Louis, Chicago, Houston and New York were not scheduled.

"The way it's planned, the pitchers will go in their regular rotation for the remaining 11 games—Bob Gibson, Ray Washburn, Nelson Briles and Steve Carlton," Red Schoendienst, manager of the Cardinals, said last night.

That means Gibson will work every fifth day, which will bring him right up to Oct. 2 and the much-awaited confrontation with Detroit's Denny McLain in the World Series opener.

"I'll leave it up to Gibson if he wants to sit out one start," Schoendienst added, "and I may pitch all the relievers in the last game. I'll also get some of the regulars out for a few days. But the last four games I'll play them all."

Bill Singer scattered nine hits and his two-run double capped a five-run uprising in the sixth inning that broke a scoreless tie with Atlanta as the Dodgers won for the 10th time in 13 games. Jim Lefebvre singled in the first run, Len Gabrielson doubled home the second and the third scored on an error by Felix Millan.

Rookie Dock Ellis hurled a three-hitter for his first complete game and Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski drove in two runs apiece as Pittsburgh whipped Philadelphia.

Rams Rough On Cardinal Quarterback

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Quarterback Jim Hart of the St. Louis Cardinals must have felt last night like General Custer at Little Big Horn.

Everywhere he looked there were the enemy—big, brawny Los Angeles Rams defenesmen. They charged into the Card backfield bowling over Hart time after time and batting down his passes.

FRUSTRATION

Although it was not a massacre, the final score, 24-13, in favor of Los Angeles, did not reflect the frustration of Hart trying to get his team off on the right foot in its opening game.

Hart completed only one five-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad in the first period while the Rams knocked down nine attempts.

The beleaguered quarterback came to life in the fourth quarter, making two rapid-fire passes for a touchdown. He completed a 13-yard pass to Conrad, and then the second pass went to Roy Shivers for a 17-yard score.

17 OF 40

Hart completed just 17 of 40 passes, with Ram defenders picking off three errant tosses.

While Hart was having his troubles, Ram Quarterback Roman Gabriel had a slightly easier time.

He hit 9 of 22 for 97 yards with no interceptions.

He put the Rams in front on a first period touchdown, running to the right side of the Cardinal line and going in standing up.

The highlight of the game came at the start of the second half when Ron Smith caught the kickoff on the left side and ran up the side line to about the 45. Turning right up the middle, he then raced into the end zone covering 94 yards in his spectacular dash.

San Rafael Swimmer Wins Five Events At Tam Meet

Jo Hislop of the San Rafael Swim Club won five of the six events she entered to grab the high point trophy in the girls 13-14 division and led Marin entrants in the Tamalpais A Swim Meet at Tamalpais High School last Saturday and Sunday.

Wendy Peterman was the only other San Rafael Swim Club first place winner, taking a first in the girls 15-17 100 fly. Others grabbing place finishes for the San Rafael team were Peter Kamler, Leslie Bryans, Kimi Fox, Joanne Morehouse, Clint McDuffie, Kathy Hislop, Jeff Kamler, Lucia Suttles, Tami McDuffie, Lisa Spindler, Mary Keller, Gordon Hodgson, Moira NcSweeney and Elizabeth Stewart.

Ken and Rick DeMont took first places for the Marin Swim Club, spearheading a list of place winners that was topped by Maura Campion. Other Marin Swim Club placers were Sue Secondo, Mike McGee, John Malvino, Ann Engel, Dennis Glass, Cheryl Cattan, Jim Tufts, Spencer Eldred, Kim Hughes, Diane DeMont and Pete Locati.

Unattached swimmers Linda Locati of Tiburon, Ken James of Tiburon, and Robin Bachrach of Fairfax all grabbed firsts while Diane Johnston of San Rafael placed twice.

Vicki Bitgood and Ginger Massey of the Tamalpais Swim Club were double winners and Bruce Averill added a single win. Other Tamalpais place winners were Pixie Massey, Eileen Palmer and Claude Ansari.

Powerful Arden Hills of Sacramento won the meet with 292 points in a field of 44 teams.

JACK HANLEY

Don't Count Herman Out Until Final Bell

Herman Franks made it quite clear in midseason that he would not be back as manager of the Giants unless they won the 1968 National League pennant. But now that the campaign almost is ended and the Cardinals have won again, friends close to Franks are putting out feelers for him. They are hinting he is available if Horace Stoneham requests Franks to stay on for a fifth year.

"Herman," said one of his close friends, "would never turn down a request from Horace. Notwithstanding what he said in Chicago a few weeks ago, Herman feels a strong sense of loyalty to Horace and the Giants."

IN CHICAGO at the outset of the last road trip of the team, Franks said he didn't have any idea who would succeed him as manager of the Giants but insofar as he personally was concerned he had no intention of reconsidering his decision to call it quits at the end of the season.

"I'm tired of all this chasing around, flying here and there at all hours," said Franks in the Chicago interview. "Furthermore, I've got three youngsters who'll be grown up and gone before I know it. Before that happens I'd like to spend some summers with them boating and fishing."

FRANKS STATED during the Chicago interview that he did not believe Stoneham had yet made up his mind on the new manager. Asked today whether Stoneham, with only seven days remaining in the final home stand of the team, had come to any decision, Franks said: "I have no idea."

If Stoneham follows precedent he will announce his manager for 1969 on the final day of 1968 play in Candlestick Park. That would be next Sunday.

IT WAS ON the final day of play in Candlestick in 1964 that Stoneham announced the firing of Alvin Dark and hiring of Herman Franks who at the time was Dark's chief assistant coach.

On the last day of the season a year ago Franks received his fourth one-year contract. That was the way he wanted it — one-year deals that wouldn't tie him or the Giants together for any protracted periods.

FRANKS, NOW considering an offer from a national firm for his mobile home manufacturing plant in Salt Lake City, would be a wealthy man with time on his hands if the deal goes through.

That's why his friends have sent up the trial balloons, carrying the message that Franks is available for a fifth year if Stoneham really wants him to stay.

Mill Valley Kids Second, Third In Jr. Olympics

Mill Valley can claim the second best high jumper and third best softball thrower following last week's California State Junior Olympics at South Lake Tahoe.

Matt Hanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanley of 14 Magdalena Court, and Jeff Glynn, son of Judy Glynn of 469 Molino Avenue, won those honors in competition against boys from southern and central California.

Hanley a student at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel School, placed second in the age 10 and under high jump with a leap of 3 feet, 11 inches.

Glynn, a student at Alto School, placed third in the 10 and under softball throw with a distance of 152 feet, 11 inches.

San Diego Soccermen In Finals

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The San Diego Toros were in the finals of the North American Soccer League playoffs today but it took 114 minutes before they got there.

Novak Tomic scored on a nine-yard kick to give the Toros a 1-0 overtime victory over the Kansas City Spurs before a Balboa Stadium crowd of 6,271 last night.

San Diego will meet the Atlanta Chiefs in the two-match finals. The teams play here Saturday on national television and Sept. 28 at Atlanta.

The Toros won the Western Conference championship from the Spurs. Atlanta took the Eastern Conference title from the Cleveland Stokers.

Like the conference title series, the final series will be decided on the number of goals scored in the two games.

The only goal Monday night came in the 114th minute on a pass from Edvaldo Neto.

Atsulfo Sanchez of the Toros and Bert Hoogerman of the Spurs, the goalies, each made nine saves with Sanchez recording his ninth shutout of the year.

San Diego had 38 shots to 24 for its rival.

'Iron' Golf Winner

Mrs. Thomas Gibson won the Indian Valley Businesswomen's "iron tourney" with a net 77 last Saturday on the Novato course. She was followed by Mesdames Vern Flinn, Robert Keller and Douglas Milton, 78, and Joseph Mestas, 79.

ON A CREDIT CARD—Kenneth P. Urquhart (right) of Larkspur sails his boat in San Francisco Bay. He lays claim to the title of only man in the world who owns a boat built completely on a credit card.

Larkspur Man Claims Unique Boating Title

Kenneth P. Urquhart of Larkspur hasn't set any speed records yet with his homemade 12-foot sloop, but he still can claim one title.

The 41-year-old truck parts salesman is probably the first man in the world to build a $528 boat with a piece of plastic.

Urquhart used his bank credit card to purchase every last stitch of material, including the glue and fastenings, for his boat. Then he put in 280 hours of work at home guided by a $7.50 set of blueprints from a San Francisco tug boat captain, and came out with a sleek, 325-pound craft. He promptly christened it "The BankAmericard" in honor of the credit card that made it possible, and sailed a maiden voyage on Tomales Bay.

Urquhart might not be the best sailor around but he certainly is the most determined.

He built the boat despite three weighty obstacles: when he decided to take on the project, he knew nothing about sailing or boat construction, and with four children at home the family treasury wasn't exactly overflowing.

He solved the first two problems with Capt. William H. Short's easy-to-follow blueprints and a quick Red Cross sailing course; The credit card got him over the financial hurdle.

Now Urquhart has a boat he once thought he could neither sail nor afford. It is a sturdy little vessel with a ⅜s plywood hull, 6-foot beam, 72 square feet of sail, and a hard-working 33-square-foot jib.

A weekend regular at the quaint harbor of Sausalito, Urquhart sails in the waters of San Francisco Bay, and says the sailboat has been clocked at 6 knots.

The small jib provides plenty of drive to the salty little boat.

He says that someday he will move up to something bigger but right now he's having too much fun with the boat to consider switching. Besides, he probably owns the only boat in the world built completely on a credit card, and that makes him feel kind of unique.

DRAKE NOT DEAD YET

Don't Count The Pirates Out Of Marin Title Race

(Fifth in a series on Marin County Athletic League football prospects)

There has been some loose talk that the end of Drake's grid championship streak may be close at hand.

Talk of a Pirate demise and decline may be a bit premature.

True, the Pirates, who have shared the title with Terra Linda for the past two seasons, do not appear to have super-stars of the caliber that highlighted the past two seasons, such as Jerry Sprout, Bill Hickerson, Don Alvarado, Don Stone and Perry Hedin.

True, coach Bob Franceschini will be going with a couple of relatively inexperienced quarterbacks.

But the makings of a traditionally tough Pirate bunch are there.

"We have as good a chance as anybody in a tight race," Franceschini said. "I think in some ways we're in better shape at this time than we were last year."

In some ways the Pirates are. They are bigger, and deeper, more set and seemingly solid.

Fifteen lettermen are back, seven of them starters and one an all-league performer, defensive halfback Clark Jamison, the only junior on last-year's all-league squad.

The backs are all big as far as backs go, and they're experienced, topped by John Vollenwider, a big one at 185 pounds.

Two tackles, Barry O'neil and Ron Street, the latter a returning starter, come in at 205 pounds, not really awesome, but they add beef to a line that averaged in the high 170s last season.

"Our ground game is very good right now," Franceschini said. "We scrimmaged Encinal, which is considered a powerhouse in the Alemeda league, and we did very well against them. Our defense looked good and so did our backs."

The line will form around a nucleus of experienced veterans headed by Street, returning guard Rich Earnsberger, tackle Greg Trimble, another returning starter, and split end Dave Alvarado, brother of Don Alvarado.

Other veterans returning are backs Rick LaFranchi, and Jim Harris, center Al Sproul, guard Gary Glenn, guard Charles Williams, guard Tom Cole and tackle Dennis Lincks.

Up to help from a squad of 40 varsity candidates are junior defensive backs Tony Cassin and Mark Soberman and a junior halfback candidate Bob Sutherland, who Franceschini is high on. Also getting praise from Franceschini is sophomore tackle Jeff Allen, who scales 6-3, 190. He'll see some action.

Senior Ed Herrington, backup man last year for all-league quartrback Don Stone and junior Kevin Peak are the top two candidates at the crucial quarterback spot.

Herrington, because of his experience, has the inside track, but both are good passers, handle the plays well and will see action alternately prior to the start of loop play.

The questionmark at quarterback, a sometimes shaky pass defense and gaining a balanced attack will be the Pirates' chief problems.

But don't bet that they won't have them solved when the big games roll around.

'Sock It To 'Em,' Says McDonald

WASHINGTON A(AP) — Rep. Jack H. McDonald, D-Mich., has joined the thousands of other Detroit Tigers fans who look forward to the World Series against the St. Louis Cardinals.

"Sock it to 'em, Tigers," was the way McDonald ended a speech inserted in today's Congressional Record.

The short speech praised the Tigers, especially pitcher Denny McLain who has won 30 games this year.

Detroit needs one more victory to clinch its first American League pennant in 34 years. St. Louis already is the National League king.

Indonesian Couple Now Are Citizens

Half of an Indonesian-born Larkspur family became United States citizens last month—and the other half is hoping to join them before the end of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emile Grabner of 201 Madrone Avenue were among 18 Marinites naturalized last month in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

Their two sons, Rory, 14, and Ray, 12, already traditional American boys—complete with paper routes, plan to become citizens soon. The couple also has a daughter, Elesja, 5, who was born after they came to America, and is automatically a citizen.

The Grabners, who lived in Indonesia while it was a Dutch colony, were among thousands of Dutch forced to emigrate after Sukarno came into power, Mrs. Grabner said.

The family moved to the Netherlands in 1958, but soon became discouraged by crowded living conditions and after two years decided to come to America.

"We wanted to have more freedom—like we have here," Mrs. Grabner said happily.

They lived in Abington, Pa., for a year before some friends called and offered Grabner a job with Pacific Molasses Co., in Richmond.

He accepted and Marin became the family home, with Mrs. Grabner operating a day care nursery, her husband pursuing his favorite sport, hunting, and all enjoying the pleasant weather, which they find much like Indonesia's.

Speaking in a light, lilting English with only a trace of accent, Mrs. Grabner recalled her initial fears about the language.

She had attended a school in The Netherlands, set up especially for persons who plan to emigrate to the U.S., but when she arrived she couldn't understand a word.

However, she was encouraged when her two sons, then 4 and 6, were speaking it in two weeks, without any lessons.

Soon, she too, was speaking "American" English.

Other Marinites naturalized last month were:

San Rafael—Mrs. Francine Louise Lynch of 500 Montecillo; Mrs. In Soon Gary of 2 San Pablo Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Gerd Wilfried Zimmermann of 1064 K Los Gamos Road; Roman Antoni Gorecki of 30 Uniionstone Drive; Mrs. Margaretha Scheneck of 1212 Second Street; Mrs. Gisela Anna Elfrieda Jungberg of 11 Blossom Drive;

Novato—Manuel Sousa Dias of 1845 Center Road; Mrs. Nguyet Thi MacKay of Apartment 2, Dusel Court;

Mill Valley — Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Alberto Einfeldt of 97 Shelley Drive; Andreas Stavrou of 32 Strawberry Circle; Tore Harald Johansson of 837 Spring Drive; Ruddy Merino, of 131 California Avenue;

Fairfax—Mrs. Gertrude Anna Koerts of 1591 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard;

Hamilton Air Force Base—Estevan Perez Jimenez of 1 Luke Lane.

Woman Says Purse Taken During Dance

Lynn Marie Means of 31 Drakewood Lane, Novato, reported Saturday to San Rafael police that her purse containing $10 in cash had been taken while she was dancing at the Palms, 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

She said a purse belonging to her companion, Carol Ann Ratcliff of San Francisco, was taken at the same time. It contained $40 in cash, she told police.

THE POLITICAL SCENE

Nixon Pays Visit To Boyhood Home

ANAHEIM (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is making California a top target of his Republican campaign for the White House—for personal as well as political reasons.

The lure of 40 electoral votes, and the prospect of victory in a state which once rejected him at the polls, already have drawn Nixon to California twice within 10 days. At least two more campaign missions to the state are planned before the Nov. 5 election.

If state polls, which now show Nixon leading Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, should give any hint of trouble later, there probably would be additional campaigning in California.

Nixon said last night he feels he must win in his native state if he is to capture the presidency.

"It's top priority," said Herbert G. Klein, his director of campaign communications.

California ranks second only to New York in electoral votes.

"It's also a matter of personal pride," Klein said of Nixon's concentration on California.

He was born in Yorba Linda — and returned here yesterday for a hectic visit to the house in which he was born. Swarms of children surged around the yard, screaming and pushing for a look at the nominee.

California gave Nixon his political start electing him to the House of Representatives and Senate—and also dealt him his gravest setback, a 300,000-vote defeat in his 1962 bid to become governor. It came two years after Nixon had narrowly carried California over the late President John F. Kennedy.

This time, the state poll shows Nixon running nine percentage points ahead of Humphrey.

Nixon will seek to build his backing tonight with an hour-long television show, to be broadcast on a statewide hookup.

He made a similar appearance two months ago, before he won the Republican nomination. He spent the days after that victory in San Diego, planning his presidential campaign, and returned for campaign appearances in San Francisco and Santa Clara on Sept. 5.

A speech tomorrow in Fresno will wind up the current trip.

HUMPHREY

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey deplored lawlessness on college campuses today, but said students should have a greater voice in university government.

"One of the important reasons for confrontations," Humphrey said, "is that students do not get enough of the university action."

Humphrey's comments were made in an appearance at Canisius College as part of a one-day campaign visit to this key state with the largest electoral vote.

The Democratic presidential candidate pledged that if elected he would push for several programs to employ the ideas and talents of America's young.

Included was what he called a National University Forum to seek out ideas and transmit them first to candidate Humphrey and later, hopefully, to President Humphrey.

He also pledged, if elected, to set up under the Civil Service Commission a "Youth Talent Bank."

The talent bank, he said, would be designed "to recruit dynamic young people for public service and to put them in positions where they can affect government action."

WALLACE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — George C. Wallace, plagued by a nagging virus but buoyed by a rousing welcome to Texas, today was to address his third party's state convention whose delegates aim to put 25 electoral votes in his column Nov. 5.

All 92,000 persons who signed petitions to get Wallace's name on the Texas ballot are eligible to attend the convention and state party officials expect a large crowd.

The convention's main business was to certify Wallace as the American Party candidate, a legal requisite, but it also may draft a state platform for Wallace. Wallace said he intends to release his national platform "in a few days."

About 7,000 turned out to welcome Wallace last night at a rally that followed a fund-raising barbecue at which 1,500 paid $25 a plate.

The third-party candidate, who says he plans to win the presidency and not play the role of a spoiler, told his enthusiastic supporters, "the way you will waste your vote is by voting for either the Democratic or Republican candidate. A vote for George Wallace is a vote against both."

He said his candidacy had gathered increasing momentum, as evidenced by recent polls, and that his appeal was not sectional but national.

After today's state convention Wallace's schedule calls for appearances in Wichita Falls, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla.

PRIMARIES

BOSTON (AP) — Voters went to the polls in three states today to decide three Massachusetts congressmen's bids for renomination, renominate eight Washington congressmen and settle a congressional runoff in Oklahoma.

With campaign help from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Democratic Massachusetts Rep. Edward P. Boland sought renomination over challenger Charles V. Ryan Jr., former three-term Springfield mayor.

Democratic Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald seeks renomination over Rev. John D. Elder, assistant dean of Harvard Divinity School, and Democratic Rep. Philip J. Philbin is challenged by three Democrats in his bid for renomination.

In Washington, Democratic Sen. Warren G. Magnuson and seven House members faced either token opposition or in three cases none at all.

Washington voters also faced a three-way Democratic gubernatorial nomination race between state Atty. Gen. John J. O'Connell, state Sen. Martin Durkan and Jack Tanner, a Negro attorney in Tacoma.

In Oklahoma, Pat Malloy, a political veteran, and John B. Jarboe, a newcomer to politics, competed for the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Rep. Page Belcher.

The runoff resulted after Malloy polled only 749 votes more than Jarboe in the regular August primary.

Innocent Plea

Roger Garrison Utter, 22, of Black Point, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana Aug. 13 in Kentfield. Preliminary hearing was set for 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Nine County Dogs Place High In Show

Nine Marin County dogs were among the 100 best-of-breed winners at the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club's annual championship show Sunday at Peacock Gap Country Club, San Rafael.

The Pembroke Welsh corgie Bundock's Jolly New Year, owned by H. Don Fay of 15 Harbor Oak Drive, Tiburon, completed his championship by winning best of breed over dogs already champions.

Stan Goldberg and Robert R. Rudholm of 815 Spring Street, Sausalito, were owners of best of breed Old English sheepdog; Patricia Rice and Margaret Z. Gloe, 639 Sequoia Way, Mill Valley, showed the best of breed Australian terrier; Carol Rover Simonds, 350 Los Ranchitos Way, San Rafael, Skye terrier; Thoms G. King, 626 Oakdale Avenie, Corte Madera, was owner of the top pug; Mrs. Janis E. Hampton, 268 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, showed the breed-winning French bulldog, and the Shi Tzu owned by Eve Jorgensen, 2564 Center Road, Novato, won the miscellaneous breeds competition.

After more than 1,500 dogs were rated by the show's 15 judges, the Kerry blue terrier, Champion Melbee's Chances Are won the best dog in show award. The dog was fresh from setting record of being the first in history to win all five shows in succession on the Cal-Oregon dog show circuit during Labor Day weekend. The Kerry is owned by the Melbee Kennels in Shawnee Mission, Kans.

Highest-scoring dog in the 90-doy obedience competition was a Keeshonden shown by Judith and Robert Brown of Redding, with a perfect 200 score.

The daylong show, which also included whippet racing, attracted an estimated 3,000 spectators to the 20-acre show grounds. Among the competitors were dogs from all over the United States and Canada.

Club president Janis Hampton of Mill Valley served as chairman of the show.

Drunken Driving Sentences Given

Richard Alvin Ward, 48, of 20 Locust Avenue, Kentfield, was placed on six months probation Friday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving Dec. 11 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

James William Helmer, 48, of Sacramento, was fined $250 and placed on six months probation for drunken driving June 16 in Novato.

Robert Hillman Fetterly, 55, of Vallejo, was fined $250 and placed on six months probation for drunken driving Sept. 2 on Highway 37.

Injuries Are Minor In One-Car Crash

Michael J. Locatelli, 17, of 2359 Paradise Drive, Apt. 2, Tiburon, was treated at Marin General Hospital Sunday for a bruised left hand after a one-car accident on Paradise Drive at the entrance to Paradise Beach, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The report said Locatelli was a passenger in a car driven by Dennis L. Jordan, 21, of 2359 Paradise Drive, Apt. 1, which left the road at 7:20 p.m. and plunged down a 15-foot bank.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Irradiation Used In Preserving, Disinfecting, Sterilizing Foods

VAN DELLEN

There are many ways to preserve food through heat, cold, preservatives and emulsifiers. Irradiation, the latest method, is not new. This process is 20 years old and is useful in inhibiting sprout formation, against insect disinfestation, disinfection, pasteurization, and sterilization.

But before any foodstuff undergoes irradiation processing for the commercial market, it must be cleared by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. To date, approval has been given potatoes for sprout inhibition, wheat and wheat products for insect disinfestation. The rays do not remain in the food.

THE ADVERSE publicity associated with irradiation varying from X-ray to the atomic bomb has created considerable fear in the minds of many Americans.

Will irradiated foods increase the risk of cancer or induce genetic aberrations?

Long-term animal studies have not demonstrated these changes. Experiments on certain edibles are still going on, but so far, results confirm their wholesomeness.

WHAT BENEFITS will be gained via the radiation process? The most important is the economic advantages to farmers, shippers, wholesalers, retail outlets, and the consumer.

The rays destroy the Salmonella organisms — a common cause of food poisoning.

The military will appreciate the fact that many of these irradiation-sterilized foodstuffs remain edible for long periods of time without refrigeration.

FRESH SEAFOOD will be available to all; so will Hawaiian papayas and mangoes.

Underdeveloped countries will benefit. In Mali (formerly the Sudanese Republic) 50 per cent of dried fish are lost from infestation.

Insects destroy 40 million kilos of bread in Argentina and 50 per cent of the harvested sorghum in the Congo.

MANY BELIEVE that this technique is useful and valuable. To consumers, this method means more fresh food throughout the year. Irradiation even preserves extracted teeth placed in a "tooth bank" for future transplants.

CIRCULAR BALDNESS

D. C. writes: What causes the disease that makes hair fall out in circular spots? Is it contagious?

REPLY

There are various causes. In alopecia areata, for example, localized patches of baldness occur for no apparent reason. This condition is not contagious in contrast to bald spots due to ringworm of the scalp. The latter is contagious.

BLOOD FLOW

J. D. writes: What is stasis? Our son has this in the right foot and ankel. I would like to know if he will have the condition all his life.

REPLY

Stasis refers to a sluggish flow of blood or lymph. To answer your question it is necessary to know the cause.

SHOULDER FRACTURE

Y. S. writes: Can a broken shoulder heal without a cast?

REPLY

Yes, but since the shoulder is made up of various bones, the answer depends upon which one is fractured.

FRESH OR FROZEN

F. Z. writes: Does frozen orange juice contain as much vitamin C as the freshly squeezed beverage?

REPLY

Both are equally nutritious.

GRAPEFRUIT AND PRESSURE

R. K. writes: Is grapefruit good for older people? I am a woman of 65 with a blood pressure of 180.

REPLY

It is, and the fruit will not influence the blood pressure. Stop eating citrus fruits if you develop rectal itching. We have many excellent remedies for high blood pressure.

FOOD COLORING

B. A. writes: Do the coal tar dyes used in butter, margarine, and oranges encourage cancer?

REPLY

No. Manufacturers are allowed to use only those coal tar dyes certified by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Each batch must be tested and found harmless for use as a preservative or a coloring agent.

KIDNEY STONES

P. S. writes: Can anything be done to prevent kidney stone formation in a person who has had three operations in one year for this disorder?

REPLY

The cause of kidney stone formation is not well understood. If the composition of the rocks is known, the victim can and should avoid foods that contain the culprit. The use of aspirin may stave off an attack for about five years. Beyond this period, however, the results are not good.

SUICIDE

A reader writes: Do only cowards and insane commit suicide?

REPLY

Suicide is most frequent among the mentally depressed, some of whom are not sane. Cowards may lack the nerve to take their own lives unless conditions become unbearable. Many depressed persons commit suicide only under the influence of alcohol.

HYSTERECTOMY

K. K. writes: What effect does a hysterectomy have on a woman?

REPLY

Menstruation ceases when the uterus is removed. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on hysterectomy, which covers the subject more thoroughly.

PULSE RATE

A reader writes: I thought that the normal pulse is 72. Mine usually runs 80. Is this an indication of heart disease?

REPLY

No. Don't be a stickler for details, as the pulse varies from minute to minute. It may increase 20 points after arising from a chair and walking to the next room A pulse is not considered rapid unless it beats over 100 per minute at rest.

FIELD OF VISION

A reader writes: What is gun barrel eyesight?

REPLY

In this condition, thef ield of vision is narrowed to a small area comparable to that seen by a person with normal eyesight when looking through a gun barrel. Loss of peripheral vision may occur in glaucoma and certain types of brain tumors.

BULGE

W. B. writes: What is an aneurysm? I have one in the right temple.

REPLY

A localized dilatation of an artery that resembles the ballooning of a defecstive inner tube. Aneurysm is caused by weakness of the blood vessel wall. Any artery in the body may be affected, including those in the temples.

BEADED HAIR

H. C. writes: What is the cause of beaded hair?

REPLY

Heredity. In this condition, the hair contains many spindly-shaped thickenings that resemble a string of beads. The shape stems from narrowing of the openings through which the hair protrudes.

SEASONAL HAY FEVER

J. M. writes: Every July and August I suffer from hay fever. Could you suggest a remedy to alleviate this condition?

REPLY

Seasonal hay fever usually is caused by inhaling tree, grass, or weed pollen. Skin tests help detect the culprit. From here on, you have two choices: (1) avoid, or (2), be desensitized to, the causative allergen. The symptoms can be controled by taking an antihistamine or a cortisone-like drug.

FEVER AFTER SHOTS

Mrs. F. writes: Do infants become ill after receiving their shots at 6 months of age?

REPLY

Many appear drowsy and some develop a 24-hour fever. But this is only a drop in the bucket compared with how these tots would feel if they developed diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, or smallpox because they were not protected against these diseases.

KNEES CRACK

A reader writes: Can you tell me why my son's knees crack every time he bends? He is 13 years old.

Today's Health Hint — Women who want to breast feed usually can produce enough milk.

Abortion Case Under Consideration

The case of Dr. Gregory Smith, second Marin physician to be tried for performing an allegedly illegal abortion on a woman who contracted German measles, was taken under submission yesterday by a state hearing officer.

Dr. Smith, who lives in San Francisco and has offices in Northgate, defended the therapeutic abortion he performed at St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco in 1965 as "standard medical practice."

He was the seventh of nine doctors to be tried on the same charge by the state Board of Medical Examiners. The first two cases were heard by the board, and the last seven by a state hearing officer, Coleman Stewart, who has announced he will make no recommendation until all seven have been heard.

The last is scheduled for Oct. 17.

Two San Francisco specialists, Dr. John Paul Shively and Dr. Seymour Smith, have been reprimanded by the board. In addition, Dr. Shively's license was suspended for 90 days, a decision overruled in San Francisco Superior Court.

State Deptuy Atty. Gen. Gerald F. Carreras of San Rafael is prosecuting the cases.

Auto Is Found Stripped Of Parts

Professional car thieves stole a car in San Anselmo Saturday, stripped it and left it abandoned in Lagunitas, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Deputies said the 1968 Ford Mustang, belonging to Thomas Blair Thinney of 85 Meerna Avenue, Fairfax, was found without its engine, transmission, driveshaft, battery or spare tire.

The thieves wore gloves or wiped the car clean of all fingerprints, deputies said.

Cameras Taken At Drake High

About a dozen cameras valued at $50 each were taken from a photography classroom at Sir Francis Drake High School sometime during the weekend, according to Francis Shafer, assistant principal.

The thief entered the room by forcing open a window over a doorway, he said. He apparently had reached the window from the roof and lowered himself into the room. Nothing else appeared to be missing, Shafer said.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Press Agentry Type Show Is Questioned

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If you were doing a television documentary about cars, would you let an automobile company produce it?

If you were doing a documentary about doctors, would you let a medical association produce it?

In short, would you be satisfied with inevitable press agentry when you also have the option of a no-conflict news approach that tells the truth in full and without adornment?

All right, let's get specific.

This past Sunday night, CBS-TV presented a one-hour broadcast about professional football's most successful coach, Vince Lombardi, now general manager of the Green Bay Packers.

To put on this program, CBS-TV pre-empted the Ed Sullivan Show, which has a key time slot. The promotion for the documentary was considerable. And if viewers knew that it actually was geared to help kick off CBS-TV's coverage of the National Football League season—well, that was justifiable, too.

I confess I really looked forward to the hour because Lombardi is a fascinating man, and he has helped make pro football the fantastically successful television attraction it is.

Well, it was a mildly interesting hour. But it should have been terrific. And the reason it failed to deliver big was simply astounding.

The broadcast—a one-dimensional tribute rather than a genuine study of a rare man—was produced by the National Football League. And it was straight out press agentry for a man who doesn't need it.

We know, of course, that CBS-TV's association with the league was certainly the prime factor in this hour. But surely somebody along the way must have known that the producing credits at the end of the broadcast were going to cause a lot of raised eyebrows.

It was no surprise, of course, that the hour was going to help the league and the sport. And that's okay. But the impact would have been much more genuine—and the program more substantial—if the study of Mr. Lombardi had been done by a different production organization. Journalism and hero-worship don't mix.

Final Adoption Of Bay Control Plan Set Friday

Final adoption of a plan to control the future use of the bay and its shoreline is scheduled by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission 2 p.m. Friday in the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

The plan, sharply criticized by tideland property owners for its failure to provide compensation if they are not allowed to fill, is to be presented to the Legislature in January. Then it will be up to the Legislature to set up a permanent agency to control the bay.

Also on the commission's agenda is voting on an application by Marin Land Development Co. to dredge and fill in a lagoon for apartments at Harbor Point on the east side of Strawberry Peninsula. Filling and dredging would not change the present water area, according to the application.

100 Marin Jaycees To Attend Seminar

Members of the Mill Valley-Novato and San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters will be among the 100 delegates attending a district mental health seminar Saturday at Mendocino State Hospital near Ukiah.

Representatives from Sonoma, Mendocino and Lake counties will also be present, according to officials.

Committee Of 14 Will Back Bonds

A steering committee of 14 persons has been named to promote passage of the $10.9 million building bond issue on the Nov. 5 general election ballot for the Frances Compton, bond campaign coordinator, announced today.

Tamalpais High School District,

Members in addition to Mrs. Compton are John Cutler of Mill Valley; Mrs. H. F. Harnsberger, San Anselmo, and David D. Ring, Tiburon, all co-chairmen; Robert Greenwood of Tamalpais High School and Edward Wilkinson, Sir Francis Drake High School, both representing the district's teachers' association; Richard Jessup, Mill Valley; Frank L. Miller, Greenbrae; Mrs. John Rakow, Ross; Dr. George Stone, Fairfax; Mrs. H. G. Marchant, Kentfield; and James Reed, San Anselmo; and Bette Wallace representing the district board of trustees and Edward J. Neumeier, district staff representative.

Finance chairman has not yet been named, according to Mrs. Compton. The building fund proposal, twice defeated, would finance the first phases of new schools in San Geronimo Valley and Tiburon and add to existing district campuses.

Bench Warrant

A bench warrant was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the arrest of Kelly Sanford Walter, 19, of Marin City, when Walter failed to appear to plead to a charge of burgling a Sausalito home June 15. Bail on the bench warrant was set at $1,000.

High School Site On Bay Agenda

A $208,946 federal loan sought by San Rafael High School to study construction of a third high school site in Lucas Valley will be reviewed by the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley.

The district also has hired architects to determine the facilities needed to enlarge the existing high schools before deciding whether to enlarge them or build a third.

Also on the committee's agenda is a report on the association's first annual audit since $511,000 of its funds was stolen by its assistant director, and a report on efforts to recover the stolen funds.

It will be the first association meeting for its new executive director, J. Julien Baget, former Novato city manager. He began work at his new post yesterday.

Nude Bathers Don Clothing

Twenty or 30 nude bathers at Muir Beach quickly donned their clothing with the arrival of sheriff's officers Sunday afternoon, deputies reported.

The officers said they were called to the beach by persons protesting the presence of nude bathers on the extreme northern end of the beach.

The bathers were warned that passersby considered their state of undress offensive, officers said.

The Saturday schedule of events begins at 10 a.m. with a free "fish-in" for children, assisted by "Japanese fishermen" who will help them net their own goldfish to take home from the Northgate Mall pool.

Authentic Japanese folk dancing will be performed by the Hanayagi dancers at 2 p.m. At 3 p.m. a former television cooking school personality, Mrs. Kimiko Jonsson, will teach the technique of cooking Japanese style.

Mrs. Jonsson also is an expert on Chinese and French cooking,

Old Tea Ceremony To Be Demonstrated

The authentic art of Chanoyu — the Japanese tea ceremony — will be presented at 7 and 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at Northgate Fashion Mall as the first of a series of events during Japanese Festival Week at Northgate, tomorrow through Saturday.

Complete with traditional Japanese dress and equipment, the ceremony will be performed by Hasae Yanase Soke, an instructor in this ancient pastime, and her students.

Chanoyu is more than a refined form of taking refreshment. Developed under the influence of Zen Buddhism, its aim is to purify one's soul by becoming one with nature. The Chanoyu etiquette, which may seem to be meticulous at first glance, is minutely calculated to achieve the highest possible economy of movement.

Although the tea ceremony may last for as long as four hours, only the main section will be shown at Northgate, in two half-hour performanees. A translator will describe the significance of each step of the ceremony.

According to recorded history, tea was introduced into Japan around 700 A. D. from China. Matcha, the tea used in the ceremony today, was still unknown at the time.

Not until the end of the 12th Century was matcha tea brought into Japan from China. It was precious and used mostly as a medicine rather than a beverage. Tea drinking was practiced almost exclusively by Zen Buddhist priests who used it to prevent drowsiness during long hours of meditation.

In the late 15th Century the fundamentals of ceremonial tea drinking were established and finally perfected in the mid-16th Century by a Zen priest, Sen Rikyu.

teaches classes on conversational Japanese, teaches and choreographs ballet and excells in flower arranging, dress design and sculpture.

She is a perfectionist and has affection for cooking as an art. She composes her meals and serves them with a flawless Japanese falir, using flower arrangements when entertaining.

Free recipes for a variety of Japanese dishes will be offered following the event at Northgate.

Ballet Has Japanese Theme, Costume, Set

"Kisetsu," a class ballet with a Japanese theme, will be presented free by the Pacific Ballet Company for two performances only, Friday evening at 7:45 p.m. outdoors at Northgate Fashion Mall in San Rafael.

One of the featured events of the Japanese festival at Northgate, the Kisetsu ballet is the story of the four seasons of the year in Japan and is set to traditional Japanese folk music. Principal roles in the Pacific Ballet production will be performed by Carolyn Goto, Antonio Mendes and Leila Parello.

Kisetsu (literally translated as "the four seasons") was choreographed by Jene Kimiko Jonsson and will be danced for the first time in Marin County.

Mrs. Jonsson, the daughter of a Japanese diplomat, was one of the leading forces behind the growing popularity of ballet in Hawaii, where Kisetsu was first introducted to enthusiastic response. It received its San Francisco premier during the Pacific Ballet's 1968 spring season. Mrs. Jonsson's extensive background in ballet includes training in Japan, Denmark, Paris and New York.

The romantic ballet, arranged in four distinct segments, interprets Japanese culture with arm movements, costumes and music, but should not be confused with authentic Japanese dancing.

To reach Northgate Mall in San Rafael, take the Terra Linda turnoff from Highway 101. Northgate Mall stores will be open until 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Not Against Love, Marriage

KOHIMA, India (AP) — Who said Chairman Mao is averse to love and marriage?

Two of the Communist Chinese proverbs captured from the rebel Nagas who had just returned after traning in China read thus:

"Marriage has many pains but celibacy has no pleasures."

"It is better for a woman to marry a man who loves her than a man whom she loves."

Captain Kidd Hid Treasure On Island

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gardiners Island, off Long Island, was where pirate Captain Kidd buried some of his ill-gotten treasure some 270 years ago.

On the isle is a marker to discourage any gold seekers: "Capt. Kidd's treasure was buried in this hollow and recovered, 1699."

BALLET—Carolyn Goto and Antonio Mendes dance the Fuyu (winter) sequence of Jene Kimiko Sugano Jonsson's Kisetsu (the seasons) ballet. The ballet is part of Northgate Fashion Mall celebration of its Japanese festival.

Karate Team Will Come To Northgate

A karate team from Goju-Kai Karate Do headquarters will demonstrate one of the Japanese martial arts, karate, at 1 p.m. Saturday at Northgate Mall.

Gosei Yamaguchi, chief instructor, will be accompanied by his school members. Not many years ago, it was thought that the art of karate was simply breaking boards and bricks — self defense was considered its main objective. Today people are recognizing that the art has both a mental approach and an aesthetic quality.

The Goju school is the style which has received the most Chinese influence, and the breathing exercise derived from that of Zen monks is one that distinguishes Goju school from all others, in Tensho, the open-hand form with breathing.

Yamaguchi has been instrumental in introducing karate to the United States. In 1963 he established a club at San Francisco State College.

Rhodesian Drought Causes Famine

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — More than 200 African families in drought-stricken southwest Rhodesia are facing famine. Tswana-speaking tribesmen in the Mpoengs Reserve near the Botswana border are reported worst hit.

Guilds Are Preparing For Grape Festival

The 69th annual Sunny Hills Grape Festival — an old-fashioned country fair with more than 50 booths, pony rides, balloons and games for children — will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5 at Northgate Fashion Mall.

The festival goes back nearly seven decades, with the earliest remaining records dating back to 1901 when it was held in a garden at Fairhills, the San Rafael estate of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster.

This year, as for the past two years, the festival will be held at Northgate Mall, where a wide grassy lawn has been set aside to accommodate the more than 15,000 people expected to attend.

More than 1,500 volunteers working for the 39 guilds of Sunny Hills prepare all year for the fete by making home-made preserves, pickles and baked goods plus straw objects and hand-knitted items and an array of Christmas gifts and decorations. Proceeds go to Sunny Hills Children's Services, a United Bay Area Crusade Agency, which helps boys and girls with social adjustment problems.

Thousands of original items to be sold at the festival, including dried flower arrangements, stuffed animals, hand-knitted sweaters, pinatas, togs and toys for tots, are produced by guild members.

Gourmet foods, such as brandied cherry sauce, brandied peaches, pear butter, picallili, nut and apple breads will be for sale. Baskets of grapes, a traditional harvest product of the festival, will be featured.

Visitors will be able to sample home-made tacos, potato salad, lemonade and apple pie, plus other foods, and put together their own picnic to eat under a shady awning where tables and chairs will be provided.

A special "Gay-Way" for children will feature pony rides, dart-throwing and beanbag tossing and the chance to become a pirate, clown or other character for the day at a makeup booth. More than 20 booths for children are planned by the Junior Auxiliary of Sunny Hills.

Tuberculosis Still A Big Problem

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Tuberculosis remains a "dreadful problem" in South Africa, mainly because of the difficulties in making 12 million Africans conscious of the need to combat it, Health Minister Albert Hertzog told parliament.

Superstition plays a part in neglect of the disease, he said. In the current financial year, Rands 28 million ($39.2 million) out of a total health budget of Rands 49 million ($68.6 million) has been devoted to fighting TB.

JAPANESE FOLK DANCING

A performance of Japanese folk dancing in traditional costume is scheduled at 2 p.m. Saturday at Northgate Mall. Michiya Hanayagi, instructor of the group from the Hayagi studio, has studied traditional and classic dance since childhood.

Ikebana To Be Shown At Northgate Mall

Ikebana, the art of Japanese flower arranging, will be demonstrated at 11 a.m. Saturday by Sachiko Hattori, a professional instructor of the "Kodoryu" school as one of Northgate Mall's special events during Japanese festival week, beginning tomorrow.

Ikebana is a national art in Japan, practiced by many and displayed not only in homes, but in businesses, theaters, restaurants and stores. Branches of trees and bushes are used frequently in Ikebana arrangements, in addition to blossoms and flowers, with the philosophy that there is more beauty in forms and growth of nature than in color alone.

In the Kodoryu school, only living flowers and branches are used in arrangements, with the various stages of life represented. Representing new life might be a tightly wrapped bud; middle life could be shown with a full-blown flower; old age, with a leaf that is turning yellow.

Miss Hattori was educated in Japan and also teaches how to perform the Japanese tea ceremony.

In addition to demonstrating Ikebana flower arranging at Northgate, Miss Hattori will have a show of Ikebana, created by her students, in the mall.

Movie To Show Japanese Life, Landscape, Culture

A free film, "Glimpses of Enchanting Japan," will be shown tomorrow through Saturday at Northgate Fashion Mall as part of Japanese Festival Week there.

The film begins with winter landscapes and the Grand Shrines of Ise, continues through spring festivals — the doll festival, dramatic "water drawing rites" of Nara, the Mibu pantomime of Kyoto and the "Dontaku" festival of Hakata.

Shots of ancient temples and shrines contrast with modern structures, cormorant fishing on the Nagar River and diving for shellfish. Summer matrimonial services and autumn harvesting, Kabuki drama and variety shows are glimpsed in this 30-minute color film depicting the life and culture of the Japanese people.

Northgate Shopping Center store open Wednesday and Friday nights 'til 9:30 p.m.

"East Meets West" is the theme for the show, in keeping with the four-day Japanese festival Northgate Mall is sponsoring.

Is U.S. Violence Being Imitated?

NEW DELHI (AP) — Condemning a recent threat to kill the new chief minister of Mysore State, Veerendra Patil, a disciple of Mohandas Gandhi commented:

"On reading the news, I wondered if our people are imitating America. We are far away from the affluence and other achievements of that country."

Drinking Water Taken From Sea At A Price Users Can Well Afford

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Water so pure it needs a little scientific pollution to make it palatable is being pulled from the Atlantic Ocean by a Florida plant. But local residents are little impressed with their desalting facility because the product tastes just like good well water.

For years the people of Key West perched on their little island 150 miles below Miami and drank water the Navy piped down from the mainland for its huge base.

The giant soda straw pulled well water from Florida City, south of Miami. As the Navy facility grew, its leftover water lessened and forced conservation restrictions on the city residents.

By 1962 the situation was becoming critical. The Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission began seeking a new water source.

The commission decided against a second pipeline and turned to the Atlantic, a 31-million square mile reservoir of salt water that laps at the man-made beaches of Key West, the southernmost city in the continental United States.

The stumbling block was salt removal. The water province department of the Westinghouse Corp. was hired to make potable water from the sea.

After an outlay of $4 million — for land purchase, financing, engineering and construction — the plant opened last year at a ceremony presided over by Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Today, 10 million gallons of ocean water are pumped into the Key West plant every 24 hours and 2.62 million gallons of ultra-pure water flow into local pipelines.

But the purity of the water created problems at first. C. E. Smith, the Aqueduct Commission manager, remembers them well.

"The water was tasteless. We had to run it back through and put chemicals and minerals in it. There wan't anything in it when the refining was done," he said.

Now, the water from the plant is trickled through limestone and other chemicals are added to reduce the softness and change the acidic qualities.

"The pure water we produce is so pure it attacks the pipelines if chemicals are not put back into the product to bring the hardness up," says Reg McIntyre, the plant manager.

Snake Pit Sit-In Craze

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The latest craze in South Africa is to have a solo "sit-in" in a snake pit.

World records have been claimed in different parts of the country but authorities here thought it a bit much when plans were announced for an 11-year-old boy, Syndney Crawford, to spend 10 days with snakes as his only companions.

The family's first two calls on a newly installed telephone were orders from the local magistrate and police sergeant to drop the whole idea.

Hail Fighters From Five Nations Join In Project

TORONTO, Canada (SS) — Hail storms cause between $200 to $300 million in crop losses every year in the United States alone. The costs world wide cannot be estimated, but the economics are sufficiently severe that five other countries are already engaged in giant projects to decrease hail.

They are the Soviet Union, France, Kenya, Canada and Italy, it was reported at the international conference on Cloud Physics at the University of Toronto recently.

Until now American projects on hail suppression have been fragmented. But in response to a request from the Federal Council for Science and Technology the National Science Foundation has come up with a national plan for approaching the problem, Dr. Peter Wykoff of NSF announced.

It calls for $324 million a year during the next five years using various techniques to modify hail formation.

In the pilot project next summer Colorado State scientists will send explosive nose cones into the center of thunderstorm clouds, the hail producing core. Detonation of the cones, containing lead iodine as a seeding agent, will be timed by command from ground radar.

The idea is to cause the formation of many more hail stones then would otherwise occur and to do this at the earlies possible time after radar shows that hail has formed, thus keeping the stones small and therefore less damaging.

Experts Work To Cut Noise Of Jet Engines

By SCIENCE SERVICE

A major effort to reduce noise in the engines powering the tri-jet Lockheed 1011 airbus is being conducted by the engines' builder, Rolls Royce Ltd., in Derby, England.

Some 176 of the 1011s have been ordered so far, all of them to be powered by the RB-21 turbofan, rated at 40,600 pounds of thrust for takeoff. To handle planned future payload and range increases, Rolls Royce is working to uprate the engine to 46,500 pounds of thrust by 1975 and 50,000 pounds later on.

The RB-211 is already a quiet design, but the company's quieting plans are elaborate enough to have inspired the construction of several new facilities.

Hearses Being Restored By Hobbyists

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) — Owning horse-drawn hearses and restoring them to original condition has become an in-style hobby although the "funeral cars" went out of style about 1915.

Dick Clancy, a funeral director, and three other area collectors have restored four models built between 1890 and 1910.

Clancy has yet to enter his 55-year-old model in a parade.

"It's surprising how hard it is to find a matched set of horses," he said, "and almost as difficult to locate a competent driver."

Indians Studying Outside Country

NEW DELHI (AP) — Nearly 20,000 Indians are abroad engaged in study, research or training in science. More than half of them are in the United States.

An official survey showed 90 per cent of the Indians studying abroad are concentrated in three countries — the United States, Britain and West Germany.

Synthetic Sugar

TUCUMAN, Argentina (UPI) —The Tucuman Sugar Association has asked for a high tax on synthetic sugar, calling it "possibly injurious to health" and "harmful to national sugar production." Tucuman Province, a subtropical zone of the Argentine northwest, is the biggest sugar producing area of the nation.

NEW TECHNIQUE — A new cutting and waving technique called No Set (left), developed by Helene Curtis, is a permanent wave for short, softly-curled hair featured at the Emporium's Northgate Beauty Salon.
